NEW NEIGHBOR IN TOWN

The slender, traditional tower of St. Raphael's Church, whose longtime neighbor was the equally traditional century-old courthouse in downtown San Rafael, finds a new neighbor growing tall and strong on the courthouse site. The eight-story office building, which will have a companion garage, relies for ornamentation on none of the curved arches of the church nor on such embellishments as the fluted columns and carved cornices that adorned the courthouse, which burned down in 1971. The $6 million project of McKeon Development relies on a starkly contemporary pattern created by metal uprights intersecting the parallel planes of flooring.

Portuguese Rebels Oust The Premier

General Takes Over Government Reins

LISBON (UPI) — The army overthrew Portuguese Premier Marcelo Caetano today in protest against the colonial wars that Portugal has waged in Africa for the past 13 years.

Caetano handed over his job to Gen. Antonio de Spinola, the liberal-minded African war hero whom Caetano fired for saying Portugal could not win the seemingly endless African wars, the rebel armed forces announced.

The announcement was made over loudspeakers outside the Carmo convent, headquarters of the para-military Republican National Guards where Caetano and some of his ministers had made a last-ditch stand against the snowballing movement of army protest.

"Right now, Premier Caetano is handing over the reins of office to his successor, General Spinola," the rebel announcement said. It said the handing over was taking place inside the building, following a cannon and tank assault on the building by the rebels.

Some of those inside the building started surrendering at 4:20 p.m. (11:20 a.m. EDT) but Caetano was not among the first group, witnesses said.

"The problem is how to get Caetano out," the rebel radio said.

It told the population to stay in their homes because pockets of resistance inside the city were going to be cleaned out.

Witnesses reported shooting from various points of the city. In the downtown Chiado district, security police fired machinegun salvoes into a group of youths demonstrating their support for the rebels.

Many were hit and carried into a nearby security police station, witnesses reported.

The situation was described as "very confused" by a senior diplomat contacted by telephone.

A government spokesman, Pedro Eytor Pinto, director of the Information Service, said "the legal government is still in power and we are trying to control the situation." He did not comment on the rebel claim that Admiral Thomaz had been detained.

The rebels, who broadcast a promise of democratic reform and free elections, let a 2:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m. EDT) deadline for government troops to surrender elapse.

When it passed, they simply repeated the appeals without mentioning a deadline, saying they wanted to avoid bloodshed.

But 40 minutes after the deadline had passed, the rebel radio asked the population to evacuate three small sections of town, including the one where the machinegunning of the demonstrators had occurred.

The rebels said "dangerous" police and republican guards elements were holding out in the Camos, Rossio square and Largo do Garbo sections. The announcement appeared to imply that the rebels planned to take action.

The bloodshed at Largo do Garbo occurred just as three rebel tanks passed a security police station, witnesses said. A group of youths lustily cheered them on and jeered the policemen peering at them from the station.

At this moment, police opened fire.

It was the second military rebellion in Portugal since March 17 when troops protesting the involvement in Mozambique, Angola and Guinea in Africa tried to move into Lisbon with tanks only to be halted without bloodshed by loyal troops.

Patricia's Bitter Tape Will Not Change Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The head of the FBI's Patricia Hearst investigation said today her latest tape recording bitterly denouncing her father and fiance and swearing allegiance to her kidnapers would not change the status of the investigation.

In the tape received yesterday, Miss Hearst branded her father and fiance as "pigs" and "clowns" and reaffirmed her allegiance to the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army which kidnaped her nearly three months ago.

"It certainly doesn't change our investigation," said FBI special agent Charles W. Bates. "It adds another bit of information."

U.S. Attorney James Browning had no immediate comment on the effect of the tape on Miss Hearst's status of being sought only as a material witness in the April 15 robbery of a San Francisco bank. However, he was presenting evidence this morning to a federal grand jury investigating the bank robbery and the sensational kidnaping case in general.

Miss Hearst, 20, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, also said it was "ridiculous to the point of being beyond belief" for her family to think she was brainwashed into participating in the $10,000 bank robbery.

Her comments were contained in an 18-minute tape recording given to a San Francisco community relations policeman by intermediaries Wednesday. The upper right hand corner of her driver's license was sent along with the tape to authenticate it.

But Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, maintained his complete trust in his daughter despite her vituperative remarks about him.

"Regarding her personal attacks on me, if she has been brainwashed and I certainly believe she has, it's not surprising she would say something like this," he said in a statement released at his Hillsbor-

Evidence Of Fuel Price Overcharges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Evidence has been found of more than $100 million in possible overcharges in fuel prices during the energy crisis, federal energy chief John C. Sawhill said today.

Sawhill described at a congressional hearing the joint investigations by the Federal Energy Office (FEO) and Internal Revenue Service (IRS) of illegal speculation in energy markets, and of violations of the regulations on prices and pass-through costs.

"This program has already challenged or has under investigation some $100 million of cost pass-throughs, a portion of which are allocated to propane," Sawhill said.

Sawhill testified at a hearing by the Legal and Monetary Affairs subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. William J. Randall, D-Mo., had asked why energy prices reached the "gouge level" during the shortages of the past several months.

"We have heard witnesses say that energy prices must be high in order to encourage the production of fuels and exploration for new sources of crude oil," Randall said.

"We can find no other American industry in which prices at the gouge level are necessary to encourage maximum production of goods, whatever those goods may be."

Sawhill said the FEO and IRS had made more than 47,000 investigations of pricing practices since Jan. 1.

More Mixing Of Children In County Facilities Recommended

There should be more interaction between youths at juvenile hall and those at the children's treatment center, according to the Marin County Grand Jury.

In an interim report on the schools at juvenile hall, the jury's committee on education said the interaction should be considered "whenever feasible."

It suggested allowing juvenile hall students to participate in the children's treatment center's arts and crafts program as well as in intramural sports.

"Permitting juvenile hall students to participate in the treatment center's activities could be a protective first step in preparation for community life," it said.

Currently, the two groups are separated by the county probation department "because juvenile hall is primarily a custodial institution for minors while the treatment center is for students unable to function satisfactorily in public schools," it continued.

The committee also recommended closer coordination between the probation department and public schools, once a youth is released from juvenile hall.

When a youth is released, he is instructed to carry his transcript to his school counselor "but he rarely does so," the committee reported. "He may or may not return to regular classes, and usually neither his (school) counselor nor his teachers know where he has been or what (school) work he has completed during his absence."

The report noted that last year's grand jury had recommended that youths at the treatment center be allowed to use the juvenile hall school (Loma Alta) library.

Currently, however, the library is "off limits" to treatment center youths because hall superintendent Erick F. Yarchin maintains the library was "often used as an exchange center for cigarettes, marijuana and other contraband," the committee added.

It recommended all students be allowed to use the library and "when transgressions occur, privileges can be withheld and or other behavioral modification techniques employed."

The committee also said the morale among teachers has improved during the last year since Sidney Smith replaced Nyal D. Worsham as principal of Loma Alta School, operated by the county schools office.

College Work Contract Is Given Despite Higher Cost

Marin Community College District directors last night awarded a contract for site preparation and utility work at Indian Valley Colleges campus that was $126,156 higher than estimated.

Trustees awarded the contract to E. R. Fedrick Inc., of Novato, low bidder, at a cost of $776,000, according to Earlene Jones, publications director.

The board said the advantages would be having the work begin immediately and a minimum of interference with other work on the campus.

Architect Joseph Thomas of Neptune and Thomas, Pasadena, said the costs of wiring and drainage work are rising every month.

New Orders Governing 'Zebra' Hunt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police Chief Donald Scott said today his men would carefully respect the "personal rights and privacy" of citizens in their search for the "Zebra" killers who have shot 18 victims at random.

New orders have been issued to police forbidding them from questioning anyone against their will unless the officer has "more than a hunch or mere suspicion."

Scott detailed new guidelines in the widespread manhunt at a federal court hearing on two civil rights suits challenging the methods of the police in trying to find the mysterious black killer or killers who have struck 18 times in the past five months, killing 12 white persons.

In the dragnet for the "Zebra," officers will "hold invasions of personal rights and privacy to a justifiable minimum," Scott said.

Marriage Is Ended For Taylor, Burton

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, who kissed and made up only last December, announced today that their 10- year marriage is finished.

The couple, who frequently exchanged expensive baubles as an expression of their love, made the announcement through a representative shortly after Miss Taylor returned from a vacation in Hawaii.. Burton has been hospitalized here for 12 days.

In their joint statement, the couple said:

"Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton have requested that their long-time friend and attorney Aaron R. Frosch proceed to legally terminate their 10-year marriage on the grounds of irreconcilable differences.

"Frosch has indicated that the divorce will be obtained in Bern, Switzerland, where the Burtons have been residents for many years."

Miss Taylor arrived in Hollywood Tuesday after several weeks vacation with her mother and some of her children at her brother's home in Hawaii. Burton has been hospitalized for the past 12 days at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica with bronchial problems.

The couple, estranged last summer after a spat, were reconciled a few days before Christmas when Burton flew from a movie location in Rome to Los Angeles where his wife was hospitalized.

Burton whisked his wife, still in a wheelchair after undergoing surgery for removal of an ovarian cyst, back to Europe in an attempt to save their marriage. He gave her a heart shaped diamond necklace, adding to her collections of expensive jewels.

The couple returned in March to Oroville, where Burton starred in a new movie, "The Klansmen." He made news by giving baubles to local girls and appearing in public with other women.

Three More Girls Seek Play Action

Three young girls in West Marin, recently bounced from the junior baseball team on which they were playing, announced today they will go to court to sue for reinstatement.

After last week's game, the girls — Marie Norman, 9; Mariah Beebe, 12, and Lisa Divito, 10 — were told they could not play again because their participation jeopardized the Inverness Merchants' team's National Little League charter.

So two Point Reyes Station attorneys — John D. Burroughs and Martha Howard — will seek a court order tomorrow to force the team to let the girls play in the second game Saturday.

Meanwhile Jenny Fulle, 11, of Tamalpais Valley, who has had the lion's share of publicity for her efforts to gain a spot in the all-male Mill Valley American Little League, was to go into Marin Superior Court this afternoon for a permanent order preventing the National Little League organization from punishing the Mill Valley league for letting her play.

According to Burroughs, the three West Marin girls have been practicing for the Inverness team in all preseason games.

Then a boy team member, Parker Gillespie, 9, took off his uniform and gave it to Marie, and the game went on.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Progress In Postal Strike

OTTAWA (UPI) — Government mediator Eric Taylor said today there has been some progress toward settling the Canadian mail strike after three days of talks but there are "many things" to be resolved before the nationwide dispute is ended.

Taylor

The Treasury Board, the Post Office, the Canadian Union of Postal Workers and the Letter Carriers Union agreed to meet again today to continue negotiations.

Mail delivery in Canada has been halted by the 18,000- member postal workers union, which is demanding negotiation of salaries and job classifications resulting from the introduction of automated mail sorting equipment.

"There were high hopes the dispute could be settled but there are still too many things to be resolved," Taylor said.

Spring Upturn

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors' decision to step up output of full and intermediate-size cars in the face of sales reports that show the industry trailing its record year-ago pace is a further indication of a spring upturn.

The addition of 24,000 cars to its 1974-model production schedule was announced yesterday by GM just minutes after the industry reported mid-April sales were off 28.7 per cent from April 11-20 last year. So far this year, sales of new cars are down 26.5 per cent from a year ago.

The higher GM production schedules mean the recall of about 2,300 workers from indefinite layoffs, some of them dating back to January.

Raid Pledge

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel says it will continue to raid southern Lebanon in retaliation for guerrilla attacks from there despite the United Nations Security Council's seventh condemnation of such action.

The council yesterday night adopted a resolution condemning Israel for its April 12 raid on six Lebanese villages in retaliation for the guerrilla massacre of 18 Israelis the day before the in the village of Qiryat Shmona. Lebanon said the Israelis killed three civilians and kidnaped 13 others.

The vote was 13-0, with China and Iraq not participating and the Soviet Union and Byelorussia abstaining.

Trial Ordered

STOCKTON (UPI) — A San Joaquin County Superior Court judge has ruled that one of two suspects in the slaying of nine persons in nearby Victor was sane and capable of standing trial.

Judge Chris Papas made the ruling yesterday on Willie L. Steelman, 29, Lodi. Papas at the same time granted a motion for a change of venue for Steelman and the other suspect, Douglas Gretzler, 22, the Bronx, N.Y. The location for the trial will be announced later.

A motion to separate the trials was also denied by the judge.

Hits Any Advice

PARIS (UPI) — Presidential hopeful Valery Giscard d'Estaing said today he is against any suggestion that Europe should consult with the United States before taking major policy decisions.

"Information through normal channels, certainly. An advance consultation having an obligatory character, certainly not", Giscard d'Estaing told the newspaper France-Soir in an interview.

An Early Lead

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — Prime Minister John Vorster's ruling National party took an early lead today in a whites only election expected to endorse South Africa's apartheid policy of racial separation.

Early returns from South Africa's 2.2 million white voters indicated a six per cent increase in Nationalist strength, giving Vorster's party about a two-thirds majority in the 171-member assembly.

A Spy Charge

BONN (UPI) — One of Chancellor Willy Brandt's top aides was arrested today on charges of spying for East Germany.

The Interior Ministry said Guenther Guillaume, who served in the Bonn Chancellory, was charged with working for the security organs of East Germany and being a commissioned officer in the East German Army.

In his chancellory post, which he held since 1970, he was in charge of party correspondence and the setting up of government appointments, a Chancellory spokesman said.

Israel's Independence Day Somber

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israelis observed a somber independence day today with muted ceremonies overshadowed by the 45-day war of attrition along the rocky hills of the Golan Heights.

An army spokesman in Tel Aviv said Syrian and Israeli artillery dueled during the morning on Mount Herman and the southern Golan Heights. There were no reported casualties.

A military communique in Damascus reported fighting throughout the night for the strategic, 9,232-foot peak and said the clashes spread to other sections of the northern front.

The Beirut newspaper Al Hayat said Syrian troops captured Kasr Shebib, described in the report as the highest point on the mountain. But a Tel Aviv military spokesman said he hadn't even heard of the position.

"There are many vantage points on Hermon with all kinds of names and it may be on their side of the truce line," he said.

Israel, which observed independence ceremonies last year with a military parade and dancing in the streets, toned down today's ceremonies of the nation's 26th anniversary.

In the only organized celebration, about 2,500 young marchers hiked across Jerusalem from the Valley of the Cross to the center of the modern Jewish section of the Holy City.

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, in a somber mood, said yesterday on television, "I will never again be the same as I was before the Yom Kippur war."

She said the war left Israel with "a profound and severe shock" on the 26th anniversary of independence in 1948.

"I really and truly believe that the time will come when our neighbors will live with us in peace," Mrs. Meir, 75, said. "I doubt that I will still be there to see it, but I am sure it will happen."

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismael Fahmi said yesterday in a radio broadcast the Golan Heights fighting could topple plans for a Syrian-Israeli troop separation agreement.

"This escalation will have far-reaching (adverse) effects on the chances of peace in the region and the prospects of realizing a peace settlement," Fahmi said. He blamed Israel for the fighting.

Egyptian government sources said War Minister Ahmed Ismail flew to Damascus yesterday to confer with Syrian President Hafez Assad on Kissinger's upcoming disengagement talks.

Israeli President Ephraim Katzir was on an inspection tour at the Golan Heights front yesterday when Syrian planes strafed the area, Israel's national radio said.

Israeli planes also flew into action, pounding Syrian positions on Mount Hermon, the Israel military command said.

Damascus military communiques said air, tank, and artillery battles raged all day in the battle for strategic Mount Hermon and two Israeli planes were shot down, bringing to 28 the number of planes Syrian claims to have destroyed.

Israel said its attacking planes returned safely.

UPI photographer Hugh Alexander witnessed Syrian missiles fired at patroling Israeli planes and said soldiers on Mount Hermon "called it a beautiful sight to see as the planes just split away and the missiles burst in the air."

Oil Industry Energy Attack Called Failure

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The oil industry appears to have failed in its campaign to blame environmentalists for the energy crisis, a top official of the federal Environmental Protection Agency says.

John Quarles, who became deputy administrator of the EPA a year ago, told a news conference yesterday some large oil companies tried to blame the energy crisis—which produced gasoline shortages and long lines at service stations—on environmental restrictions.

"I believe it has been a failure—at least when it is judged by the major tests," Quarles said of the antienvironmentalist campaign.

Elected Blacks Still A Handful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although there are more blacks holding political office than ever before, most are at the town or city level and account for about one half of 1 per cent of all elective posts, according to a survey.

The Joint Center for Political Studies said Tuesday.

the number of blacks elected to office has increased by 152 per cent since 1969, with the largest increase in the South.

But many of them, 45 per cent, are small town mayors or city council members. Only four blacks in the country have been elected to office by a statewide population.

Overtime Work Rule Reaffirmed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Industrial Welfare Commission yesterday reaffirmed its revised regulations which include men workers and for the first time permit a 10-hour day without overtime pay.

At a noisy meeting attended by about 200 protestors, who picketed the state building and marched into the meeting room, the commission denied 28 petitions for rehearing on its March 14 regulations and set June 1 as the date the new rules become effective.

Most controversial of the new rules is one allowing a workday of 10 hours before overtime is paid. In such cases overtime must be paid after 50 hours per week. Previously, when the IWC rules applied only to women and minors, overtime pay was required after eight hours work in a single day.

The protestors forced the commission out of the hearing room for a short period and took over the podium. Later the commissioners returned and issued their rehearing denial, which in effect finalized the March orders.

The protestors carried such signs as "Women Need Protective Rights And So Do Men." and chanted slogans, such as "IWC. It's Not For You And Me."

The new orders keep the eight-hour day in the canning, freezing and preserving industry and in the motion picture industry except under emergencies and other special conditions.

About five million California workers are affected by the regulations.

U.S. Allows Discount Rate Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Underscoring a tougher antiinflation stance by the government's money managers, the Federal Reserve Board today is allowing a one-half per cent rise in its discount rate to a record 8 per cent.

The action is further evidence of the central bank's attempts to slow the rate of bank loans to corporations by making credit more expensive, even if it means prolonging the current slump in the overall economy, and especially the home building industry.

The discount rate is the price the Federal Reserve charges its member banks for loans. Other interest rates are scaled upward from it.

Earlier this week, board chairman Arthur Burns warned of a "veritable explosion of business loans," predicting, "We aren't going to get inflation under control if that continues."

One result of the tight money policy will be an even greater shortage of mortgage money. But Burns indicated that is the price for progress in fighting inflation.

RETELLS THE 'GREAT ESCAPE'

With his long bill open, the pelican on the right appears to be telling the other a story — probably about their "great escape" from the St. Louis Zoo. Both pelicans successfully escaped from the zoo to freedom in adjacent Forest Park. Zoo authorities say they will let the birds enjoy their freedom for the summer, but will recapture them in the fall.

Segregation By Funeral Homes Hit

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — The federal government charged two funeral homes yesterday with plotting to keep their business segregated.

According to charges filed in U.S. District Court, the Good Samaritan Funeral Home in Shreveport, operated by a black, and Boone's Funeral Home of Bossier City, La., a white-owned business, had agreed to recommend each other to prospective customers of the opposite race.

Johnnie Davis, funeral director at the Good Samaritan, reacted to the suit with surprise and said he thought it was accepted practice to segregate the dead by race.

"I have never seen a white funeral home bury a black or a black funeral home bury a white in Shreveport," he said.

Charles Boone, owner of Boone's, refused to comment on the suit, saying he was unfamiliar with its details.

Their agreement to make referrals reportedly dated to November, 1972.

Flournoy Charges Oil 'Ripoff' On Prices Paid To The State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Controller Houston Flournoy has accused the president of Union Oil Co. of a "blatant ripoff of revenues" belonging to the state by seeking to hold down the price paid for state tidelands oil.

Flournoy, a Republican candidate for governor, yesterday also said the action by Union President Fred Hartley shows his "callous disregard for the needs of Californians."

"It is a blatant ripoff of revenues rightly belonging to the people of California," Flournoy said.

Hartley testified before the Joint Legislative Committee on Public Domain Tuesday that Flournoy's efforts to raise the price paid to the state for tidelands oil by $230 million a year would only result in increased prices being passed on to California motorists in higher gasoline prices.

Hartley also said he would try to make the issue a major campaign topic between Flournoy and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, who backs Hartley's position, in the GOP gubernatorial race.

"What I have been fighting for —and what I intend to keep fighting for—is California's right to sell its state-owned oil to Union, and all other oil companies, at fair market value," Flournoy told newsmen. He noted the higher revenue would go to the state treasury.

If Hartley's goal was to help Californians, Flournoy said, Union could have passed on the benefit of low state oil costs in lower gas prices instead of claiming huge profits.

The state currently is suing the federal government in an attempt to reverse federal regulations preventing the state from raising its prices for state tidelands oil. Hartley has acknowledged he played a major role in securing the regulation.

"Since Mr. Hartley also testified that the first-quarter profits for Union this year— although still unreleased — would be 'ridiculously high,' I think it is apparent that the boon and benefit in rising prices has been to the oil companies — not to the people of California."

"I don't know what Fred Hartley does with his profits— or his company's profits—but I do know that any profit this state makes out of its tidelands oil resources goes directly to the use of our citizens and not to any shareholder or company president."

Reinecke Turns Down Resignation Demand

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke has rejected a demand of a Democratic candidate for his office that he resign immediately because of his indictment on perjury charges by a Watergate grand jury.

Reinecke yesterday also denounced the demand by Sen. Lawrence Walsh of Downey, one of eight Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor, as a "desperate" campaign tactic designed to get "headlines at my expense."

"I have no intention of resigning," the Republican gubernatorial candidate told a news conference. He predicted he would defeat his GOP rival state Controller Houston Flournoy by a 60-40 margin June 4 "after I am cleared of the flimsy charges."

At news conferences in Los Angeles and Sacramento, Walsh distributed a letter he sent to Reinecke asserting that "your personal legal calamity" left resignation as the only "respectable alternative open."

Walsh was the first state elected official to call for Reinecke's resignation.

Reinecke told newsmen the indictment had not impaired his ability to carry out the duties of his office, insisting, "I find myself functioning better now. I guess I'm madder and I work harder and faster."

Mental Health Chief Selection Is Advised

The Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board last night recommended that the board of supervisors name one person to head the county's mental health services — the latest move in a continuing dispute over administration of the department.

The board, with Chairman Catherine Pike abstaining, made the recommendation unanimously, she said, and said such a person "should be named promptly."

The mental health service is now under the consolidated Health and Human Services Department, headed by Betty L. Presley.

Dr. Robert L. Taylor, a psychiatrist, is mental health program director.

Miss Presley told the supervisors on Tuesday that correcting shortcomings in the mental health services "is hard enough if everyone is pulling together, and this has not been the case for the last couple of months." She apparently aimed her comment at Dr. Taylor.

The supervisors decided on Tuesday, however, to leave the current set up as it is.

The board last night postponed discussion of a state review of Marin's mental health programs which was highly critical. The discussion was scheduled for the board's next meeting, May 22, and it was planned to have a state representative who worked on the report and one from another section of the Department of Health present. The second person, from the "outcome measurement section" of the department presumably would discuss a second report which Dr. Taylor has said will be favorable to his programs.

Such a report, if it exists, has not been made public.

Dixie Board Asked For Pay Boosts

Three Dixie School District employee groups last night asked trustees for pay boosts of up to 12.3 per cent.

The Dixie School District board made no comment on the proposals, but set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Wednesday at Don Timoteo School to discuss the matter, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

Campbell said the Dixie Teachers Association asked for a 12.3 per cent boost as well as a $60 hike in annual insurance fringe benefits. About 180 teachers are represented by the group.

The California School Employees Association, which represents about 60 clerks and custodians, asked for a 12 per cent boost and increases in fringe benefits and vacation time for senior staff members.

The educationally handicapped teachers asked for a boost in hourly wages from $7.50 to $8.50 as well as sick leave benefits, he said.

The Dixie School District board also:

THOMASON — Told representatives of Silveira School community there will be no major teacher transfers, a move some feared might come in the wake of the demotion of Silveira principal Earl Thomason.

PRINCIPALS — Heard Campbell announce that John King, principal of Nova Albion School, will also assume the principalship of Don Timoteo School. Don Timoteo principal Budd Van Winkle will be principal of Silveira School.

RETIREMENT — Gave a round of praise and applause to reading specialist Mary Bernadine Reilly, who will retire this June after 19 years with the district.

MILLER CREEK — Approved courses of study at Miller Creek School for next year.

FEDERAL FUNDS — Said the district will receive $20,036 in federal funding for early childhood education, and may receive another federal early childhood grant of $18,186.

MUSIC — Said the Dixie Choral Music Festival will be held at the Marin County Civic Center on May 7.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Student Intern Jobs Available

The County of Marin is accepting applications for summer jobs from high school and college students interested in the county's internship program.

Applications may be picked up at the human relations department at Civic Center or from high school work experience directors. They must be returned to the county personnel office by May 6.

The internship program offers jobs to 30 students who will be paid $2 per hour for up to 25 hours per week. They will be placed in various county departments.

Watergate Said Reinecke Key

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti says Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke's nomination depends on the outcome of the Watergate trial.

Moretti is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, and Reinecke is seeking the Republican nomination.

Moretti told a news conference: "I think if Ed Reinecke is vindicated, he may well win the primary because he is the conservative candidate and the conservatives control the Republican primary.

"If he's convicted, there is no question that Houston Flournoy will win."

A Watergate Type Scandal Predictable

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Tom Wicker, an associate editor of the New York Times, says a political scandal like Watergate "would have occurred sooner or later" because of the unchecked power of the federal executive.

Wicker told an Empire State College gathering yesterday that the growth of executive power, at the expense of the courts and Congress, was a natural response to the rapid changes of this century. "I don't think bad men have come along and usurped the power," he said.

Prisoner Takes Small Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man serving a prison sentence in the shooting and robbery of Sen. John C. Stennis had a little vacation from prison life until officials realized he'd been freed accidentally.

John S. Marshall, 24, was in court Monday and had three other charges dismissed in connection with the shooting of the Mississippi Democrat in January 1973. After his court appearance Marshall went free, and one official said the dismissal of the charges apparently was misinterpreted.

FBI agents picked up Marshall at his home about 24 hours later. The circumstances leading to his freedom are under investigation.

FCC Member Is Confirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Quello, a veteran radio station manager, is the newest member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Quello, whose nomination was confirmed by the Senate in a voice vote without dissent Tuesday, succeeds Nicholas Johnson. Johnson resigned to seek the Democratic nomination for the seat of Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa.

Quello was general manager of a Detroit radio station for 25 years before resigning two years ago. His nomination met strong opposition during congressional hearings from various consumer and minority groups who felt his background would bias his actions as a commissioner.

Tuxedos For Royalty Visit

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — City-county policemen will wear tuxedos when on guard duty with British Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowden, during the Royal couple's stay here.

Police liaison officer Joe Catt says the officers also will be given protocol instructions for the visit here before the couple goes to Louisville for the May 4 Kentucky Derby. "They will have to learn when to stand, when to be seated and how to act," Catt said.

"We don't want anyone saying, 'How ya doin', Maggie?" he explained.

Dietary Planning Workshop Slated

Workshops in dietary planning and ethnic food habits will be held Tuesday at La Familia de Marin in San Rafael and May 3 at the Novato Human Needs Center. Both will be from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Sponsored by the Marin Community College District, the workshops are planned as a cooking labortory and people attending should bring a food from their ethnic background. Participants will then exchange ideas and be able to try different foods.

Admission is free and babysitting will be provided.

HEARST

ough mansion. "No matter what she says, we still love her."

Miss Hearst called her father "pig Hearst" and her fiance, Steven Weed, 26, a "sexist, racist pig." She added she never wanted to see Weed again. And she announced: "I'm a soldier of the people's army."

She said her father and Weed were "clowns" to think she had been forced into enlisting in the SLA.

FBI agents —just hours before the tape was released — found two cars used by the nine-member team which held up the Hibernia Bank branch in the quiet Sunset District. They were located in a public parking garage in the Japanese Cultural Center near the downtown section. They had been left there a couple of days after the holdup during which two bystanders were wounded.

There was speculation Miss Hearst was forced to participate in the robbery. But she said in the tape it was her choice to be an active member of the team. "Our action of April 15 forced the corporate state to help finance the revolution," she said.

Miss Hearst added: "I was in a position so I could hold bank personnel and customers who were on the floor. My gun was loaded and, at no time, did any of my comrades intentionally point their guns at me."

Warning About Laetrile Given

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A top state health official has warned cancer victims against seeking treatment with the illegal drug "Laetrile."

Dr. Sherwood Lawrence, executive director of the state Health Department's advisory council, Tuesday said: "Exhaustive studies have shown Laetrile has no value in the treatment of cancer."

"Many cancer victims have been induced to seek treatment with Laetrile or other unproven remedies," he said. "Often their cancers advance to the terminal stage before they try chemotherapy, radiation or surgery —treatment that has proven successful in treating many cancers."

Death Payment Plan Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill to pay a one-time $50,000 gratuity to survivors of policemen, firemen and other "public safety officers" killed in the line of duty was approved by the House, 320 to 54, yesterday and sent to the Senate .

The measure would cover all local, county and state law enforcement officers, professional and volunteer firemen, correctional officers, prison guards, and probation and parole authorities.

Cost of the bill was estimated at $17.5 million a year, plus $26.2 million to pay for retroactivity from Oct. 11, 1972, to date of being signed into law.

Rail Service Funds Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate transportation appropriations subcommittee yesterday approved $4 million to restore Amtrak rail service between Norfolk and Cincinnati.

The amendment was added to the appropriations bill by subcommittee chairman Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

If finally approved by Congress, the stops between the two terminals would depend on which of two possible routes the train would take.

Jail Time On Bad Checks

A landscape gardener and florist drew a one-year county jail sentence yesterday on his guilty plea to three bad check counts.

Peter Baptiste Maggi Jr., 43, of Belmont, was sentenced by Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best.

Maggi admitted passing two bad checks for a total of $278 in 1971 and 1972, and attempting to pass a third check.

Council Vacancy

Sausalito city councilmen, unable thus far to resolve the dilemma of replacing resigned councilman Leonard F. Rappa with someone acceptable to all of them, will meet tomorrow to see if they can reach agreement and head off the necessity of a special election. The closed door session will take place at 4 p.m.

Washington Post Pay Now Highest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 800 editorial and commercial employes of the Washington Post returned to work today with a new contract calling for the highest top scale pay of any newspaper in the country, ending a walkout that began April 8.

Included in the pact was a $448.25 top minimum for reporters and others in top pay categories, representing a $48.25 raise during a two-year contract.

The Guild voted 327-229 yesterday afternoon against establishment of the pickets and against a rejection of the latest offer.

The art market is being sponsored by the Co-Op Center council and education department.

Mayor To Launch Walking Tours

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Abe Beame plans to return to Manhattan's Lower East Side where he was reared to begin a series of walking tours intended to prove that the city's streets are safe.

The mayor, in beginning the "Walk and Talk" program, said he hoped his example "would encourage New Yorkers to help make their streets safer at night by coming down from their apartments and out of their homes to use those streets.

"The point is that busy streets are safe streets, at any hour," Beame said.

Kennedy's Pledge To Soviet Jews

MOSCOW (UPI) — U. S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy promised a group of Soviet Jews during a one-hour meeting early today that he would do everything he could to help them emigrate, the Jews said.

The 11 Jews told Western correspondents about the one hour, 10-minute meeting shortly after Kennedy flew to Amsterdam en route back to Washington after a week-long, factfinding tour. All the Jews have been denied emigration permission.

Kennedy told newsmen his talks with Soviet leaders have not changed his view that the Soviet Union should allow free emigration if it wants U.S. trade credits.

The meeting, which was held at the apartment of Alexander Lerner, an internationally known cyberneticist who applied more than two years ago for a visa.

The Jews said the session was held at Kennedy's initiative and that he told them he had informed Soviet officials that he would be seeing them. He arrived in his official limousine accompanied by two aides, a photographer and a member of the KGB Secret Police.

Kennedy asked the Jews if they minded the presence of the KGB man and they said they did not.

"He (the KGB agent) did not take any notes but I am sure they have a record of what went on," Lerner said, gesturing toward his ceiling to indicate it contained a microphone.

The Jews presented Kennedy with a letter outlining their views on the emigration problem, thanking him and the U.S. Congress for support and warning of dangers in any compromise with the Soviets on the Jackson amendment.

The Jackson amendment to the Nixon administrations trade bill, now before the Senate, would bar trade benefits to the Soviet Union unless it allows free emigration of its citizens. Kennedy is a co-sponsor of the amendment.

The Jews, who had a recording of the meeting, quoted Kennedy as saying he wished he had come with emigration visas. He said he was concerned about human rights and violations everywhere and "will do everything I can to help because the issue is of great importance to the U.S. people and Congress."

At the news conference, Kennedy said, in response to a question, " I haven't changed my views on the Jackson amendment."

The Massachussetts Democrat said he had met in Russia some Soviet Jews seeking to emigrate to Israel, "But I won't talk about it here," he said. "I want to wait until I get back to the United States."

Kennedy left Russians with memories of hims plowing through clapping crowds as though he were running for office back in the United States.

Kennedy returned to Moscow last night after a one-day Leningrad tour with many of the trappings of an American political campaign. It was the same as his hectic visit the day before to Tbilisi, the capital of Soviet Georgia.

The senator plunged into crowds of applauding, clapping people to grab hands as women clawed at his raincoat.

"This is just like Fitchburg (Mass.) during the last week of the campaign," his wife, Joan, said, referring to Kennedy's last senatorial race.

In addition to the handshaking, Leningraders got a glimpse of another vital element in an American political race — speechwriting.

Stumped for something to write in the visitors' book at the Hermitage Museum, a gum-chewing Kennedy summoned an aide to dictate a message.

"Does this always happen?" an English-speaking Soviet guide at the museum asked Mrs. Kennedy.

"American politicians rely a lot on speech writers," she answered.

The aide also dictated a message for Kennedy to write in the visitors' book at the Piskarevskoye Cemetery, where Leningrad's 470,000 war dead are buried.

Russian Cellist Out Of Festival

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cellist Matislav Rostropovich has been dropped from Moscow's Spring Arts Festival in apparent retaliation for his friendship with banished author Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

The cellist's name was not on the program issued yesterday at a news conference to announce the festival.

Ford Predicts Tough GOP Road

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans are in for "a tough time in 1974," says Vice President Gerald R. Ford, and part of the trouble is that they are worrying about the 1976 presidential election instead of their chances this year.

"Republicans in 1974 are facing a tough election and we should not sweep under the rug, the fact we've lost some special elections this year," Ford said yesterday at a meeting of the Republican Women on Capitol Hill, an association of congressional secretaries and aides.

"I find too much concentration among Republicans on 1976 and not enough concern about 1974," he said. "The fact we have to recognize is that the Republican party is having a tough time in 1974."

Stenographer To Catch Up In City Jail

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A court stenographer who fell behind in his work has been jailed along with his notes and dictating machine to complete a backlog of trial transcripts.

Dominic Roselli, 27, has been in Montgomery County prison since Monday. Roselli, who lost his job three months ago for not getting his work done, was arrested on a civil contempt charge and is sentenced to jail until he catches up.

"He's been kept in a cell away from the other prisoners so he can work without being disturbed," a county spokesman said.

Kiss Contest Champs Celebrate Victory By Smooching Losers

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — The great kissing marathon ended yesterday in its fifth day, and, to celebrate, the winners kissed the losers.

After four days of marathon kissing, yoga and health food buffs Vinnie Toro and Louise Heath claimed a record that few would envy —the world's longest kissers. They immediately swapped partners with runners-up Bill Campbell and Donna Weise for a kiss to celebrate the end of the ordeal.

The winners will receive a free trip to Canada. The runners-up got $50, which comes to little more than 25 cents an hour for the time they put in.

Then all went off to what the sponsors described as a wild victory party.

After 96 hours and 32 minutes, Toro and Miss Heath outlasted 41 other couples of dedicated osculaters and said they hope to gain a line in the Guiness Book of Records. However, their record may be obsolete before it gets into the record books.

Since the contest began last Saturday afternoon, sponsored by a radio station and a record company to promote a rock group called "The Kiss," more than a dozen challenges have been received for a "kiss-off."

Bob Criswell, news director of the sponsoring radio station (WSHE) said, "For the first few hours I thought it would be really romantic. But after awhile it really takes the romance out of it."

Contest judges said Toro and Miss Heath appeared to be in good shape and "they could have kept going indefinitely." Which may be the reason the sponsors decided to end the affair yesterday with a series of three-hour "kissing sprints," without the five-minute break every hour which had been a fixture of the contest.

After two such "kiss sprints," Campbell and Miss Weise "just gave up" 32 minutes into the third sprint.

Bears Out For Their Stomachs

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The most audible growl a Nevada black bear may generate during summer months is likely to come from his stomach, a state game official said yesterday.

George Tsukamoto, a big game specialist with the Nevada Fish and Game Department, made the comment following reports of bears visiting Genoa, Nev., and El Dorado County in California, in recent weeks.

In Genoa, a small Douglas County community, residents said they spooted a bear rattling and banging around late one night. They scared it off by rapping on a window.

Early this week, El Dorado sheriff's deputies said a resident told them he shot at a bear as it rummaged through trash cans.

Fishermen Put In Farming Category

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A fisherman is a farmer in the eyes of federal government officials making fuel allocatons.

The regional Federal Energy Office announced yesterday that commercial fishing falls within the definition of agricultural production. And so, said the announcement, commercial fishermen "are entitled to obtain all the fuel necessary for operations."

Mayors Divided On TV Proposal

By MARY LEYDECKER

Reactions last night ranged from "it would shape up a lot of people" to "the audience would all fall asleep" as the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen listened to a proposal to televise local governmental meetings.

In the meantime, the officials, who last month voted against letting their own monthly drinking-and-dinner sessions be televised, seemed undisturbed by having some Fairfax representatives tape and film parts of last night's discussion at the Blue Rock Inn.

Many of the mayors and councilmen, however, were lukewarm or skeptical on the plans for local governmental television shows described by Gerald Pearlman, a representative of Marin Community Video.

"Is there any indication people will watch" television productions featuring local city council meetings? one man asked.

Pearlman replied that it was "a matter of faith" but later he said similar experiments have not met with great success in other parts of the country.

Sausalito Councilman Sally Stanford said, though, she thought filming of city meetings as well as trials "is coming" and that "it would shape up a lot of people."

Larkspur Mayor Joan L. Sestak commented that four hours of a city council meeting would put listeners to sleep and other officials said they feared that whoever edited films of meetings to make them shorter would wield political control.

"Just who are you and what do you want?" San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini asked Pearlman.

Pearlman said that his group had been formed about two years ago with some local people, although some have dropped out. It is presently financed with a small grant, he said.

He said that "eventually" six hours of television time a month of cable television time would be alloted to local programs by Tele-Vue Systems Inc.

(The city of San Rafael long has opposed the setup on grounds that the video company is a special interest group.)

Meanwhile, during the sometimes confusing and sometimes noisy discussion, Fairfax Councilman Albert E. Gately, proceeded to film parts of the session. Fairfax officials said they are trying out such filming in hopes of getting their own city council meetings and other local activities run on a channel for upper Ross Valley residents.

He had been given permission to do so, after some objections and a comment by Bettini that "it's not that important" whether the filming took place or not.

In other discussion, the group was asked by Ben Farlatti of the county animal health and control committee to work toward a common ordinance throughout the county for dog control.

"It's hard to warn a dog if he moves two feet he'll be out of Fairfax," Farlatti said, referring to the various dog rules now on the books in Marin cities and the county.

No Horsepower

NORWICH, England (AP) — A high court judge on circuit in Norfolk was denied his traditional ride to court in a horse-drawn carriage because of the gasoline shortage. It would have used too much precious gas to bring the horses 200 miles by truck.

Sonoma Law Will Save Old Buildings

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A building preservation ordinance similar to one now under consideration in Petaluma has been approved by Sonoma County supervisors.

It will provide protection for old structures which are deemed historically valuable.

As approved by the supervisors Tuesday, it would allow the county planning commission to examine claims for preservation and to recommend action by the supervisors.

Board chairman Ignazio A. Vella said the ordinance was approved even though the state is expected to impose a similar law later this year.

The Sonoma law requires consent from at least 60 per cent of the property owners in a proposed preservation district before it can be created.

Requests for such protection can be initiated by owners, the board of supervisors or the planning commission.

A Most Unusual Street Crossing

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Karl Wallenda crossed the street in a most unusual fashion — 80 feet above the ground.

The 69-year-old aerialist made the 500-foot walk on a wire stretched from the roof of the Onondaga County War Memorial to a construction crane, crossing over a city street and a museum.

Marin City Tenant Wins Power Refund

A heating system in a public housing apartment in Marin City is deficient and its tenant has consistently been overcharged for electricity by the Marin County Housing Authority, according to a decision by a grievance panel formed to mediate differences between the authority and its tenants.

A housing authority request for a rehearing of the matter was to be considered by the three-member panel this morning.

The decision calls for correction of the heating deficiency and orders the authority to repay $631 in overcharges for electricity to Essie Mae Hardy, a tenant in the low-rise family units for the past 14 years, according to attorney John E. Dearman, the panel's legal advisor.

(An allowance for electricity is included in rent payments. Electrical power used over the allowance must be paid by the tenant.)

If the panel is upheld, the ruling could open the doors for tenants in the remaining 101 low-rise apartments to file similar complaints.

The panel, consisting of three public housing tenants, was established last year by order of U.S. District Court Judge Spencer Williams in response to a class action lawsuit charging the housing authority with deceit and trickery in handling evictions.

Family Food Bill Increases By $15

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher prices charged by middlemen resulted in a $15 increase in the typical family's food bill in March, according to new government figures.

The increase, which offset declining farm prices, sent the annual market basket rate to a record $1,747. Agriculture Department calculations showed middlemen's share rose to an annual rate of $985.

Water Ban Candidates Endorsed

By PAT ANGLE

Four persons who support the Marin Municipal Water District's moratorium on new connections last night won Marin Alternative's endorsement for their candidacies for the water district board.

The approximately 20 members of the political organization present voted to support Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, Dorothy Gibson of Sausalito, Pamela W. Lloyd of Mill Valley and Joan Seminario of Kentfield. Mrs. Seminario, Mrs. Lloyd and Boylan received unanimous endorsements, while Mrs. Gibson captured 15 votes.

Boylan, 34, a clinical social worker, is seeking the Division I seat of Jack R. Felson which includes Marinwood, Terra Linda, Santa Venetia, Sleepy Hollow, most of Fairfax and the San Geronimo Valley. Other contenders in the division are Betty M. Forry of Marinwood, Winifred S. Frederick of Lagunitas and Graham H. McPhail Jr. McPhail did not attend the session.

Mrs. Seminario, 35, who worked on two successful campaigns to block Marin Municipal water supply projects, is a candidate for the seat of Jordan L. Marteinelli Jr. in Division III which takes in San Anselmo, Ross, Larkspur, Greenbrae and part of Fairfax. She is opposed by William J. Filante of Kentfield and Margaret Neese of Ross (who was not present).

Mrs. Lloyd, 40, who has been active in conservationist and civic affairs, is running against Robert C. Walker of Mill Valley for the Division IV post of L. Martin Griffin. The division includes Mill Valley, Kentfield and part of Corte Madera.

Mrs. Gibson, 52, a psychiatric social worker and Sausalito planning commissioner, is seeking the Division V seat of Ronald T. Stafford. Her opponents for the board seat which represents Sausalito, Marin City, Tamalpais Valley, Belvedere, Tiburon, Alto, Strawberry and part of Corte Madera, are Polly Smith, Ben A. Farlatti and Robert Lee Grant, all of Tiburon. Farlatti did not attend the session.

All four of those endorsed voiced firm support for the connection ban. Boylan called it "the only responsible thing the water board could do," while Mrs. Lloyd said the ban was "legal and moral."

Mrs. Gibson said the moratorium must continue until the voters decide that district water supply should be increased. And Mrs. Seminario stressed the ban was needed to protect the water supply of the district's current customers.

There was enough diversity of views among candidates in each division race to give voters a choice when they go to the polls in the June 4 election.

In Division I, Boylan and Mrs. Frederick said they oppose construction of the North Marin intertie which would bring 4,000 acre-feet of water to Marin Municipal annually. Mrs. Forry, on the other hand, said she would like to see the intertie built and added that she had supported the district's Russian River water supply project which voters turned down last November. "My great concern is that we're going to play around with this whole water situation until people who live here don't have enough," she said.

Mrs. Frederick and Mrs. Forry said they would not vote to appeal a Marin judge's recent ruling striking down the moratorium on legal grounds, while Boylan said he favors an appeal. "A decision of this magnitude should be reviewed by the highest judicial minds," he said.

In Division III, Filante favors the intertie and Mrs. Seminario is opposed to it. "It (the pipeline) is not an open sesame for development, but an insurance policy," Filante said. He said the moratorium was "not an equitable solution" to the district's water problems and said he would not vote for the appeal.

Mrs. Seminario countered that the intertie was "a threat to any growth control in Marin because it can be expanded endlessly. The only people screaming to bring in other people's water are the developers," she added.

In Division IV, both Walker and Mrs. Lloyd support the intertie. She believes the water district must be involved in some kinds of planning to prevent outside agencies "like the Sonoma County Water Agency and Army Corps of Engineers from doing our planning." He, on the other hand, wants to see the water board "get out of politics and into the water business, and called the moratorium "an exercise in growth control better left to the planners. It is outrageous to give five people sitting in Corte Madera the power to decide who will get water," Walker said.

Mrs. Lloyd would appeal the judge's moratorium decision. "If it is allowed to stand, the community will lose its right to protect its own life-support systems," she said. Walker would not appeal, saying Marin Municipal "shouldn't spend the money and time" on a long court battle.

In Division V, Mrs. Gibson, Grant and Mrs. Smith all support the moratorium and believe the judge's ruling should be appealed. Grant and Mrs. Smith think the intertie should be built, although Grant believes the pipeline should not be hooked up until Marin finds some way to halt pollution of the bay from sewage.

Mrs. Gibson is against the intertie, saying she is "not convinced that we can't use our own water resources in Southern Marin" for additional future supply.

She also said the County General Plan to limit growth in Marin is "just a piece of paper" and may even permit too much growth in the county. "They propose to add 55,000 people to Marin by 1990. Where would you put 55,000 more people — about as many people as live in San Rafael and Corte Madera together?" she asked.

Mrs. Smith said the intertie would "not do away with the reason" for the moratorium but only bring in water which existing customers need.

Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Smith said they would be willing to put the intertie before the electorate before moving ahead with the pipeline. Grant said he would not put the question on the ballot again, since the intertie already was approved by district voters as part of a 1970 bond issue.

Delay Looms In Building Sewer Plant

Hope for speedy completion of the Bolinas sewage disposal project was dashed last night as directors of the community public utility district learned the job will take twice as long as set forth in bid specifications.

Delivery of some materials, such as pipes and pumping equipment, cannot be expected by contractors for up to eight months after they are ordered, the consulting engineering firm of Kirker, Chapman and Associates warned the board by letter.

The engineers proposed extending the contract completion time from 180 to 365 working days. Board members voted to change the completion time to 450 calendar days, deciding that the second terminology provided the simpler cutoff date of Sept. 1, 1975.

Directors earlier had hoped the work would be finished by fall of this year. They will accept bids on the project at their May 1 meeting.

In other business, the board turned down a proposal by the Marin County Board of Supervisors that the utility district assume responsibility for maintenance costs of Bolinas Park, now approximately $3,000 per year.

Directors opposed turning the small park back to private ownership, one of the options suggested by the supervisors. The board agreed to ask the county to hire local labor for park maintenance, arguing that the savings in transportation costs and time for county workers sent out from Civic Center would thus be cut substantially.

Director Paul D. Kayfetz was absent.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District board also:

WATER — Learned that a proposed reservoir site on lands owned by Radio Corporation of America (RCA) is six feet higher than the upper Arroyo Honda Dam, making pumping a necessity if that location is used.

DAMS — Voted to hire Donald Pepper to clean out both Arroyo Honda dams. The work will take two days.

CLIVUS — Heard that the county health department has denied a request by Jack Blackwell to build a house using a Clivus toilet and has ruled the house must connect to a sewer. The Clivus is a waterless toilet which composts sewage and organic waste.

Man Leaps To Death From Span

An unidentified man, described as white and about 24 years old, jumped from the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday at about 5 p.m.

California Highway Patrol officers were seeking to identify him today from the license of the car abandoned on the bridge. They said the car, a 1972 Mercury Capri, was registered to a Sonoma resident.

A witness said she had to brake to a sudden stop behind the car which stopped on the midspan of the bridge. She said, "It happened so fast. I thought he had car trouble."

She told officers the driver of the Capri rushed out of the car, jumped up on the railing on the east side of the bridge and then plunged over.

She described the man as five feet, 11 inches tall and wearing brown pants and a blue windbreaker.

The Coast Guard searched unsuccessfully under the bridge for about an hour and a half.

Foe Attacks Legislation By Karabian

Cathy O'Neill, candidate for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, yesterday charged that a fellow contender in the race fattened his campaign treasure chest by promoting special legislation benefitting clients of his law firm.

Assemblyman Walter J. Karabian, D-Monterey Park, pushed the special legislation to benefit his law firm's clients in the health care field, she declared. As a result, she added, contributions from such grateful clients of the firm have helped swell Karabian's treasury to some $400,000.

Mrs. O'Neill said her own primary campaign will cost about $100,000.

The 31-year-old Los Angeles university teacher made the charges during a visit to the Independent-Journal. Others seeking the nomination are Assemblyman March K. Fong, D-Oakland; Herman Sillas, Los Angeles attorney and educator; Robert Jordan, a Saratoga engineer, businessman and planner, and Bruce Brant, a Hollywood "human relations worker."

Mrs. O'Neill strongly endorsed Proposition 9 on the June ballot, an initiative to require strict reporting of campaign funds and regulate lobbyists' spending. As secretary of state, she would appoint one of the five commissioners to police elections under the proposition.

Noting that legislative consultants last month cited Karabian as one of the "least principled" members of the Assembly, she said she wanted "to alert the public to the question of whether overnight he can become the patron saint of election reform."

As the state's chief elections officer, she said, the secretary of state should support election reform, yet Karabian opposes Proposition 9.

Six Marinites Win Merit Scholarships

Six Marin County high school seniors are among the winners of $1,000 awards this year in the National Merit Scholarship competition, it was announced yesterday.

One of the winners, Joan M. Larkins of 222 Evergreen Drive, Kentfield (San Domenico School) yesterday also won the $4,000 Pacific Gas and Electric Co. scholarship for the North Bay Division.

Also winning a $4,000 PG&E grant, in the children of employees division, was Caitlin Gerhardt Hurt, of 65 Mirabel Avenue, Mill Valley (Tamalpais High School).

Criteria for judging PG&E winners were test scores, extracurricular activities, and personal interview.

The selection process for the National Merit winners began in October, 1972.

Other National Merit Winners were:

Mary P. Hiatt, 327 Miller Creek Road, San Rafael; Terra Linda High School.

Kenne C. Kassenbrock, 35 Eames Court, Novato; San Marin High School.

Nancy G. Kirkner, 1045 Calle Paseo, Novato; Novato High School.

Elizabeth S. Stong, 404 Hilary Drive, Tiburon; Redwood High School.

Ingu Yun, 217 Bungalow Avenue, San Rafael; San Rafael High School.

'The Drunkard' Will Continue

Five additional performances of "The Drunkard," an updated version of the old melodrama, have been scheduled for this week and next at the Inside/Out Cafe at the Great Store in San Rafael.

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday and also on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The "Silly Putty Review," previously scheduled for this weekend will be presented only today at 8:30 p.m.

Policy Restricting Uses Of Open Space Endorsed

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday endorsed a proposed policy statement restricting future use of county open space lands.

Public use will be "restricted to those uses having no impact or a minimal impact on the natural environment," it says. "The use of existing fire roads for horseback riding and hiking is considered a primary use of the open space areas."

It says there should be "several minor access points" to open space areas rather than "a few large concentrated or developed" access points.

"The intent is to serve the people in the adjacent communities but not attract large numbers of visitors by automobile from other areas to utilize the open space."

Besides hiking and riding, other permitted uses outlined in the document are: nature study, photography, painting, sketching and the like.

Prohibited uses include hunting, camping, use of motorized vehicles (except when authorized), collecting plants, animals or minerals and commercial exploitation of resources.

Parks director Pierre W. Joske, who is also general manager of the open space district, said cost of patrolling and overseeing the areas should not fall on the open space district.

He said he will urge that the cost be paid out of the county general fund.

The document will eventually go to the board of directors of the county open space district. The board is composed of the five county supervisors.

Hill Would Revamp Makeup Of Golden Gate Bridge Board

A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, today said one of his "highest legislative priorities" if elected will be to overhaul the composition of the Golden Gate Bridge District board of directors.

He also called for public hearings by the board on any further transit fare or bridge toll increases.

Hill said Marin and Sonoma counties should have a majority of the 18 members on the board (they now have three each). San Francisco's current delegation of nine should be cut to five, he said, with the four seats split between Marin and Sonoma. Napa, Mendocino and Del Norte counties would retain one each.

The candidate also proposed that the four new directors from Marin and Sonoma be commuters. (Director Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley currently is the only commuter on the board.)

Hill criticized the board for limiting its hearings on toll and fare hikes to daytime sessions which the public cannot attend conveniently.

CAYLOR — Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Fifth Congressional District, has urged the House of Representatives to accept without debate whatever impeachment recommendation is made by the House Judiciary Committee. If the committee recommends impeachment, he said, "the house should immediately vote for impeachment and allow the Senate to get on with its constitutional responsibility of conducting a trial. Bitter, partisan debate in the House can only serve to obstruct justice," he said. Caylor said he has not decided himself whether the President should be impeached, but that Nixon should turn over the tapes and documents requested by the committee.

SILVESTRI — George J. Silvestri Jr. of Novato, candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Ninth Assembly District, will hold a fund-raising dinner at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Whistle Stop, San Rafael. Cocktails will be at 7 p.m. Reservations are being handled by his campaign headquarters at 1011 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

THEILLER — Sonoma County Supervisor Robert Theiller, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Second Senatorial District, has named Petalumans Blanch Helgren, Robert Daly, Donald Petro and LeRoy Lounibos as cochairmen of his campaign in Southern Sonoma.

KORTUM — William M. Kortum of Petaluma, candidate for Sonoma County Supervisors in the Second District, has urged candidates for the seat to limit their campaign advertising to lawn signs rather than "cluttering the landscape with garish billboards."

BAGLEY — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has named Assemblyman Robert G. Beverly, R-Manhattan Beach, as chairman of his campaign for the Republican nomination for controller.

Warden Looks Close At Family Visitation

San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson is "taking a very close look" at the prison's family visiting program, an official said today, in the wake of another walkaway from the visiting center yesterday.

"It's a shame if a few ruin it for everybody, but unfortunately that's often the case in such prison programs," said prison Information Officer William S. Nyberg.

He said that since San Quentin opened the family visiting center (two big old houses just inside prison gates) three years ago there have been seven walk-aways. In that time there have been 5,000 "visits" by convicts with their wives and other members of their families.

From the two houses, prisoners can walk over a hill and get to Greenbrae or San Rafael. Yesterday the clothing of George R. Pettit, 38, was found near the Greenbrae interchange of Highway 101.

Pettit, a convicted robber, was reported missing from the visiting center by his mother at 5 a.m. yesterday.

Students Will Be Honored

Outstanding high school students will be honored at a community achievement award banquet at 6:30 p.m. May 7 at Casa Grande High School in Petaluma.

The students, who have achieved high academic status, will receive certificates and cash awards donated by local citizens and businesses.

A spokesman said Stanford Cazier, president of California State University at Chico, will speak at the event.

Democrats Favor Extended Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democrats went on record yesterday in favor of legislation to provide standby authority to resume wage-price controls if needed after they expire next week.

Controls go off everything but petroleum products at midnight Tuesday and the Democratic senators unanimously approved a resolution to try to pass a bill to continue control authority on a standby basis and to monitor wage-price rises.

Stinson Beach Fire Panel Sets Funds For Tanker

The Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board last night approved buying a $20,000 tanker truck, according to board vice president Otto Reutinger.

Reutinger said that the 2,000-gallon water truck is needed because of low water pressure in Stinson Beach. The board has been reserving money for several years for the purchase, Reutinger said.

Also last night, the board heard a report on its ambulance service and learned that in the first quarter of 1974, the district had twice as many ambulance calls as in the first quarter of 1973. Reutinger said that most of the calls were from visitors to state park property.

Prisoner Is Indicted For Escape And Kidnap

A San Quentin convict who allegedly escaped from the prison April 12, then kidnapped a young San Rafael couple on Easter Sunday, was indicted yesterday by the Marin County Grand Jury.

Robert Carl Hohenberger, 29, is to appear Monday in superior court for arraignment on kidnap and escape charges.

The jury also indicted inmate Carlos Diaz Jr., 22, on a charge of possessing a knife at the prison March 21. He, too, was ordered to appear Monday in superior court.

Testifying at the secret proceeding were James and Victoria DuBois, kidnapped at knifepoint while hiking near the Meadow Club above Fairfax on Easter.

In earlier statements, the pair said Hohenberger forced them to return to their car, then took them on a terror-filled nine-hour drive that ended in Merced County when they locked the inmate out of their car and yelled for help.

The grand jury also handed down a third indictment, but it was sealed — a routine practice when an indictment involves an escaped convict who has yet to be found.

Man Faces Trial In Drug Case

A San Rafael man whose undoing was an open door was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on two drug charges, possessing cocaine and possessing marijuana for sale.

Following a preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge David R. Baty, Gerald Clark Sorm, 37, was ordered to appear May 8 in the higher court.

A San Rafael policeman testified he was on routine patrol the morning of April 6 when he spotted an open door at 101 Joseph Court, an auto repair shop.

When he investigated, he said he saw Storm asleep on the floor, surrounded by marijauan and drug paraphernalia.

Seized were four large suitcases, some containing marijuana, four 25-gallon drums, also with marijuana, equipment for weighing and packaging cocaine, and other drug paraphernalia, according to police. About 30 pounds of marijuana ws recovered, officers said.

DON'T PANIC — ONLY A MOVIE SCALE MODEL

Actors Charlton Heston and Ava Gardner (right) grimace in panic as they duck under an automobile to avoid falling debris during a scene in the filming of "Earthquake" at Universal Studios in Hollywood. The movie depicts a massive temblor measuring over 10 on the Richter scale hitting Los Angeles (scale model left), bringing the greatest natural disaster to strike the United States. In the film much of the Los Angeles area, which has a history of quakes due to the San Andreas Fault, is destroyed. (UPI Telephoto)

CBS Leads Networks In Emmy Nominations

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS led the other two major networks in Emmy nominations released today with 13 programs and 93 individuals, more than the combined total of NBC and ABC.

Among the CBS series nominated were "M-A-S-H," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and "All in the Family" (comedy); "Kojak," and "The Waltons" (drama); "The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour" and "The Carol Burnett Show" (music-variety).

Of the total 295 nominations voted by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, CBS garnered 106. NBC had 45 and ABC, 40.

The primetime awards presented will be telecast May 28.

Among individuals nominated for television's highest award for excellence were Barbra Streisand, John Denver, Dick Van Dyke, Hal Holbrook, Elizabeth Montgomery, Cicely Tyson, Katharine Hepburn, Laurence Olivier and Cloris Leachman in special programs.

Nominated in the most poopular category, best performers in comedy series, were actors Alan Alda (M-A-S-H), Redd Foxx (Sanford and Son), Jack Klugman (The Odd Couple), Carroll O'Connor (All in the Family) and Tony Randall (The Odd Couple).

Actresses nominated in the comedy series category were Bea Arthur (Maude), Mary Tyler Moore (The Mary Tyler Moore Show), Jean Stapleton (All in the Family).

With few exceptions all of the nominees are past winners or have been nominated previously.

NBA swept the nominations for best shows among outstanding limited series with "Columbo," "McCloud" and "The Blue Knight."

The most prestigious award annually goes to the outstanding special program, comedy or drama. Nominated for the 1973-74 season were "The Migrants" (CBS), "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" (CBS), "The Execution of Private Slovik" (CBS), "Steambath" (PBS), and "6 Rms Riv Vu" (CBS).

The television academy voted this year to reduce the number of Emmy awards to only one actor and actress, comedy or dramatic, with winners in individual categories being awarded lesser recognition.

Most honored show of the year on the basis of number of nominations was "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman," starring Cicely Tyson in the title role, with 12.

Second favorite among the blue ribbon panels which made the nominations was "The Carol Burnett Show" with 10.

Others rating high in popularity were "The Waltons" (9), "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" (9) and "the Execution of Private Slovik" (7).

Man Waits Years For Paint Job

NEWLYN, England (AP) — School teacher Bobby Waters wanted his car resprayed and a friend recommended Harold Thomas's garge in Cambourne, Cornwall, as "slow but thorough."

True enough — that was back in 1969 and Waters is still waiting for his car. Meanwhile, Thomas lends him cars, "calls me Bobby and invites me in for tea," said the frustrated Waters. "But each time all he does is tell me the car is nearly ready."

'An Open Mind' On Arthritis Prevention

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Arthritis Foundation had "an open mind but considerable doubt" Wednesday about the claim of a biochemist in London that he has discovered a way to prevent arthritis.

The biochemist, Dr. E.C. Barton-Wright, said in London that he has found arthritis is caused by deficiency of pantothenic acid, a component of Vitamin B which is easily destroyed in food processing. He said arthritis is becoming worldwide because people are eating more of this highly-processed food.

An Arthritis Foundation spokesman said its medical advisers "know of no valid scientific evidence for this."

Nice Job, But Phone Pole Left

BISHOPS ITCHINGTON, England (UPI) — When highway crews leveled, widened, resurfaced and generally facelifted a street they did a fine job — except for one thing. They forgot to remove a 15-foot telephone pole from the center of the street.

"Obviously the lane cannot be opened until its removed," a spokesman from the Bishops Itchington Surveyors Office said.

"We hope to take it down later this week," a post office spokesman said.

Mitchell-Stans Jury Instructions Next

NEW YORK (UPI) — The government today wound up its attempt to send two former Nixon cabinet officers to prison by asking the jurors to go into deliberations and "ask yourself —why did they lie?"

Assistant U.S. Attorney John R. Wing ended his summation with the words: "Ask it. Keep it in your mind. What reason is there?"

There remained only the charge to the jury on the law by Federal Judge Lee P. Gagliardi before the nine men and three women got the case. The charge was to last several hours, into late afternoon.

Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans were in the 12th week of the trial in which they are accused of trying to sidetrack a federal investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco in return for his secret $200,000 cash contribution to the 1972 Nixon campaign —and of lying to the grand jury about it.

"This case is about something as simple as the truth — as simple as the Eighth Commandment, thou shalt not lie," Wing said.

"No matter who you are, no matter how big or how small, you can't do it.

"The oath is the cornerstone of the judicial system. Without the expectation that people will tell the truth this system breaks down, it doesn't work, it's no good."

Raising his voice, Wing said: "People are required to tell the truth, that they be held to that no matter who they are, that they be required to tell the truth when they get on the witness stand.

"John Mitchell and Maurice Stans testified falsely to the grand jury, not just once, not just twice, but many times.

"The evidence has shown that Mitchell and Stans lied to the grand jury, that they lied to you, and I ask you to consider what has gone before —all the events relating to Vesco.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — Hungary today raised the minimum marrying age from 12 to 16 years for females and from 14 to 18 years for males, the Hungarian news agency, MTI, said.

Home Slowdown Action Is Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has directed his chief economic advisers to make recommendations to reverse a slowdown in homebuilding, according to a White House spokesman.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, said Nixon asked the group to "look into this particular problem as well as others to see if additional steps can be taken to strengthen housing policy."

Among those asked to look at the problem was Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns who favors continued tight money policies due to inflation in spite of the negative impact on homebuilding.

Novato Mayor Is Silent About Planner Rumors

A report circulating in Novato that the majority of the Novato City Council wants Planning Director Brian W. Mattson fired drew no comment today from Mayor David Price Jones.

Jones said it would be improper to verify or deny that the majority at a closed session last week urged ordering acting City Mgr. Rodney Brown to fire Mattson.

(Under a city ordinance, only the city manager can fire a department head.)

Councilmen Fred F. Ruegg, Dorothy P. Young and David E. Milano reportedly wanted Mattson removed, but they would not confirm that.

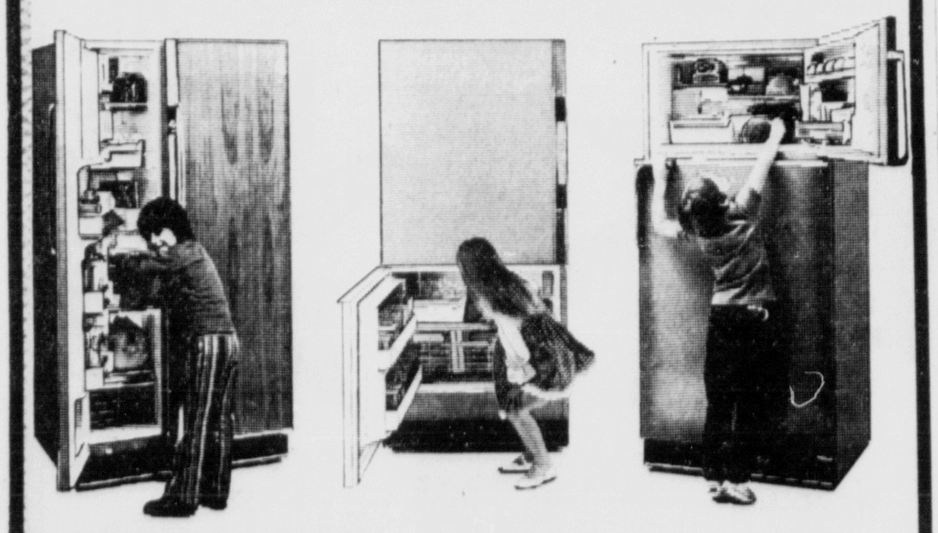
Brown said he had "no comment" on the reports.

Mattson has been under fire from developers who have complained of delay in the planning process and of what they believe to be undue restrictions.

Mattson said, "I really can't comment beyond that I have been aware of the council's concerns about the planning process."

He is the only veteran department head since Police Chief Allen V. Klemme, Public Works Director Clifford E. Temps and Parks and Recreation Director Edward W. Adams have been replaced in the past year.

Where do you want the freezer in your new Amana refrigerator...



on the side? on the bottom? on the top?

Amana gives you a choice

If you want your zero degree freezer on the side, there's the Amana Side-by-Side. Or you can have it on the top or the bottom. They're all Free-O-Frost in both the refrigerator and freezer.

And every Amana has two independent temperature controls, one for the freezer, one for the refrigerator. There's a "refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" that keeps meat fresh up to twice as long as an ordinary meat keeper. And a high-humidity compartment that keeps vegetables fresh up to three weeks.

Come and look at the choices Amana has for you. Then choose the one you want from gold, avocado, coppertone or white.

MUST SEE HIM — Kent W. Shelby, holding his claim, says he has no intention to give up his small South Seas island which he won in a contest 17 years ago. Shelby, of Richmond, told newsmen yesterday if Fiji Island officials want to build a resort on his small island they'll have to deal through him. (UPI Telephoto)

Domestic Energy Is A Must, Simon Says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Treasury secretary-designate William E. Simon today warned Americans that they will have to accept a sharply lower standard of living and a position of dependency in international affairs unless they develop domestic energy resources.

In a major policy speech before the American Newspapers Publishers Association (ANPA) convention, the outgoing administrator of the Federal Energy Office said the economic impact of the energy crisis could have been worse if had not been for "the underlying strength of our economic system both before and after the oil embargo—and today.

"Evidence points clearly to the fact that the economy seems to have passed through the energy crisis with the minimum amount of disruption to real (economic) activity," Eimon said.

"The economic weakness we are now experiencing or are likely to experience in the months ahead, does not appear to be severe enough or widespread enough to call for additional fiscal stimulus.

"The belief that we can safely depend on foreign energy supplies is now glaringly exposed. So, too, is our national propensity to waste...the alternatives are starkly clear. We as a nation can develop our own resources or we can drift from crisis to crisis until inevitably we will have to accept both a sharply lower standard of living and a position of dependency on international affairs."

Simon told reporters after his speech that the American economy is at or near a low and the rest of the year will show improvement.

"The major problem is inflation, and I'll do my best to get the dragon back in the cave," he said.

Simon's speech closed the 88th annual ANPA convention. Harold W. Andersen, president of the Omaha World-Herald, was elected chairman of the organization to succeed Davis Taylor, publisher of the Boston Globe. Joe D. Smith Jr., publisher of the Alexandria (La.) Daily Town Talk, was elected vice chairman; M.W. Armistead III, of Landmark Communications, Norfolk, Va., was re-elected secretary and Len H. Small of the Kankakee (Ill.) Journal, was re-elected treasurer.

Stanford Smith will continue as president of ANPA at the pleasure of the board.

Credit Card Suit Seeks Discounts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal court suit was filed yesterday that would allow retailers honoring Master Charge credit cards to offer discounts for cash.

American Express Co. signed an agreement last week in Washington as a result of a similar suit.

The Master Charge suit was filed by a retailer, Jack's Shoe Service, against Security Pacific National Bank, one of the banks involved in the Master Charge agreement.

The suit was an antitrust class action. It said that the agreement between the shoe service and the bank for Master Charge participation included a clause prohibiting the shoe service from allowing cash discounts.

Under credit card agreements merchants usually pay a percentage to the bank for credit card transactions. The suit alleged that antitrust laws were violated because merchants were not allowed to pass along this percentage savings to cash customers.

Gary J. Near, attorney for the shoe service, said he had no estimate of the treble damages asked in the suit.

Black Muslims Are Held In Sacramento Shootings

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Four Black Muslims were in custody today in connection with the shotgun shootings of three white persons, including the slaying of an unemployed Vietnam veteran.

Sheriff Duane Lowe said the shootings appeared to be indiscriminate attacks by blacks against whites, and the San Francisco "Zebra" killings "may have fostered" the Sacramento killings.

Booked on murder charges yesterday in the killing of Joseph F. Belmore, 25, were Russell Lang, 19, Emery L. Hanson, 25, and Larry Pratt, 19, all members of the local Black Muslim sect, police said.

In a separate arrest, police took into custody a fourth Black Muslim, Dale McKinney, 24, and charged him with attempted murder in the shotgun shooting of an off-duty policeman last Saturday night. The officer, Gerry Bakarich, remains hospitalized with a wound in the lower body.

Belmore, a Vietnam veteran, was shot early yesterday as he sat in front of a picture window in the home where he lived with his parents. The shotgun blast came through the window.

On Monday, Lloyd Revell, 44, was wounded by a shotgun volley.

Police Capt. Tom Stark said there "seems to be a pattern" in the shootings of Bakarich, Revell and Belmore.

Officers said the shootings are not connected to the shotgun killing of Raymond Silva, 53, a private detective, who was ambushed in an alley behind his apartment Tuesday morning.

Lowe told a news conference he had no reason to believe there was any connection between the killing and the "Zebra" murders in San Francisco.

Lowe said authorities began tailing a small compact car after the shootings of Revell and Bakarich. He said officers quit following the automobile Tuesday night, and the Belmore killing occurred minutes later. Police arrested Lang, Hansen and Pratt in apparently the same car a half an hour after the Belmore slaying.

Following identification of the three suspects as members of the Black Muslims, officers obtained a search warrant and searched a Black Muslim Mosque in the Oak Park district of the city. McKinney was arrested at the mosque.

Dream Island Owner Plans To Keep Plot

RICHMOND (UPI) — An engineer who won a South Seas island in a limerick contest 17 years ago is trying to contact Fiji authorities to assure them he hasn't abandoned the 4 ½ acres with 28 palm trees, a hut, outhouse and beach.

"I always figured that if things got real bad, that would be the place to live," said Kent W. Shelby.

Shelby won the secluded isle in 1957 when he won a contest for the best limerick for the movie "The Grass Hut," starring Ava Gardner and David Niven.

He even tried living on the dream island for four months with a friend, but soon got bored with eating coconuts.

"There were mosquitoes, hornets and mynah birds," said Shelby. "They imported the mynah birds to eat the hornets."

Shelby left the island disillusioned, since he had hoped to get financial backing for making it a tourist attraction. He has never returned, but he discovered yesterday Fiji officials have been looking for the owner of the speck of Coral which Shelby won a 99-year lease to, and if he doesn't contact the government the land will be considered abandoned.

Shelby says he has tried unsuccessfully to contact authorities who can help him retain the property because resorts are springing up on nearby atolls in the Fiji chain and his island may be an eventual resort site.

"I don't know where to go from here," said Shelby, who has contacted the movie company, MGM, and various travel associations. He said phone service to Fiji itself is practically nonexistent.

Whatever happens, Shelby says, he still considers himself the owner of the Island, Yawalu, for another 73 years.

He can't even remember the limerick he wrote when he won the island, but said it went something like this:

"On an island with nothing else but
A coconut tree and a hut
Two men and a woman
Played a triangle game
Till at last the swains met with rebut."

"That is bad when you look back at it," he said. "It wasn't much of a limerick, but then it wasn't much of an island."

YOUNG SKATER SETS GOALS

Life Of Eights, Loops, Serpentines

By BARBARA HOSMER

Up at 5 a.m. and on the ice by 6 every morning, Patti Maley lives in a world of compulsory figures — eights, loops, serpentines, counters, rockers and brackets.

Her hope is to make the U.S. nationals and to take a gold medal in figure skating. This year the 15-year-old Terra Lindan will compete in the Junior Ladies and try to qualify for national competition and titles. And she is on the seventh of eight tests for a gold medal in her division.

"I want to get a gold medal in the U.S. and then go to Canada and do it all over there, and try to get titles," she explained during practice at Raydine Ice Rink in Corte Madera Tuesday.

Last year Patti moved from intermediate level to junior, skipping the novice division, and as an intermediate she won the initial and final competition and placed second in the Central Pacific championships. She placed "fifth or sixth —I don't remember" last January, her first time, in the Pacific Coast championships in Culver City. She skates for the Marin Figure Skating Club.

MAINLY, PATTI wants to compete as much as possible to gain experience in competition and shoot for regional and national titles. Most of a skater's points come via performance of school figures —the eights, loops, serpentines, and "you have to place in the figures to qualify to do freestyle," the Marin Catholic High School sophomore explained.

If a skater wins junior or senior titles, he or she may be chosen for international competition. They pick the top two or three — sometimes only one, she said.

"The competition is tough. It's hard. It takes blood, sweat and tears. Each time the competition is harder. You really have to work for it," Patti said earnestly. "It takes a pro and a coach and a Mom and a Dad," she emphasized, smiling.

"We drive," put in her mother, Mrs. William Maley, a former Shipstad and Johnson Ice Follies member. Twice a week her parents drive Patti to Hayward for morning lessons and sometimes to the larger ice rink, St. Moritz, in Berkeley.

"And Dad won't let me skate if I don't eat," added Patti. "Sometimes I can get him to polish my skates when I'm tired," she said with a grin.

Patti is on the ice early seven days a week, before school and again after school for a total of three to four hours a day, and weekends. Schoolwork is done "in the car" or at night. Patti needs to keep a B average so she can be excused from school for competitions.

BUT IN the summer it all changes. Most of the competitions to qualify are held in August and the skaters work up toward the big competitions with titles in the fall and winter. The whole Maley family "except Dad" goes to Sun Valley, Ida., for two months where Patti trains. That includes her brothers Mike, 17, who likes golf, and Sean, 10, "who likes to clown around on the ice," Patti said.

Patti mentions Sun Valley often and her eyes light with excitement. There is more ice time, the surface is bigger, and Patti trains daily with other good skaters from throughout the country. There are weekly exhibitions before an audience and she can measure her progress against others.

When asked to decide on a favorite skater, she deliberated and then chose the U. S. Senior Ladies champion and international medalist Dorothy Hammill, whom she met at Sun Valley last summer. "She was a really nice person, not snobby or anything, and I like the way she moves."

"In the summer I get one day off — I get really tired," Patti said.

Patti started skating nearly five years ago when she had nothing to do one summer day and her mother was going ice skating. "She loved it," said her mother. "Yeah, I did," agreed Patti.

She joined the Marin Figure Skating Club that October and soon started the tests.

RIGHT NOW Patti and the others in the Marin Figure Skating Club are practicing for the annual ice show they will present May 4, 5 and 6 at the Raydine Ice Rink in Corte Madera. Patti is working on a solo number and is in three group numbers. The solo takes about half an hour a day away from her training program, "but I like the chance to appear before an audience," she remarked. The shows will be held at 2 and 7:30 p.m. May 4 and 5, and at 7:30 p.m. May 6, with part of the proceeds set for the club's competition fund to help skaters become championship performers.

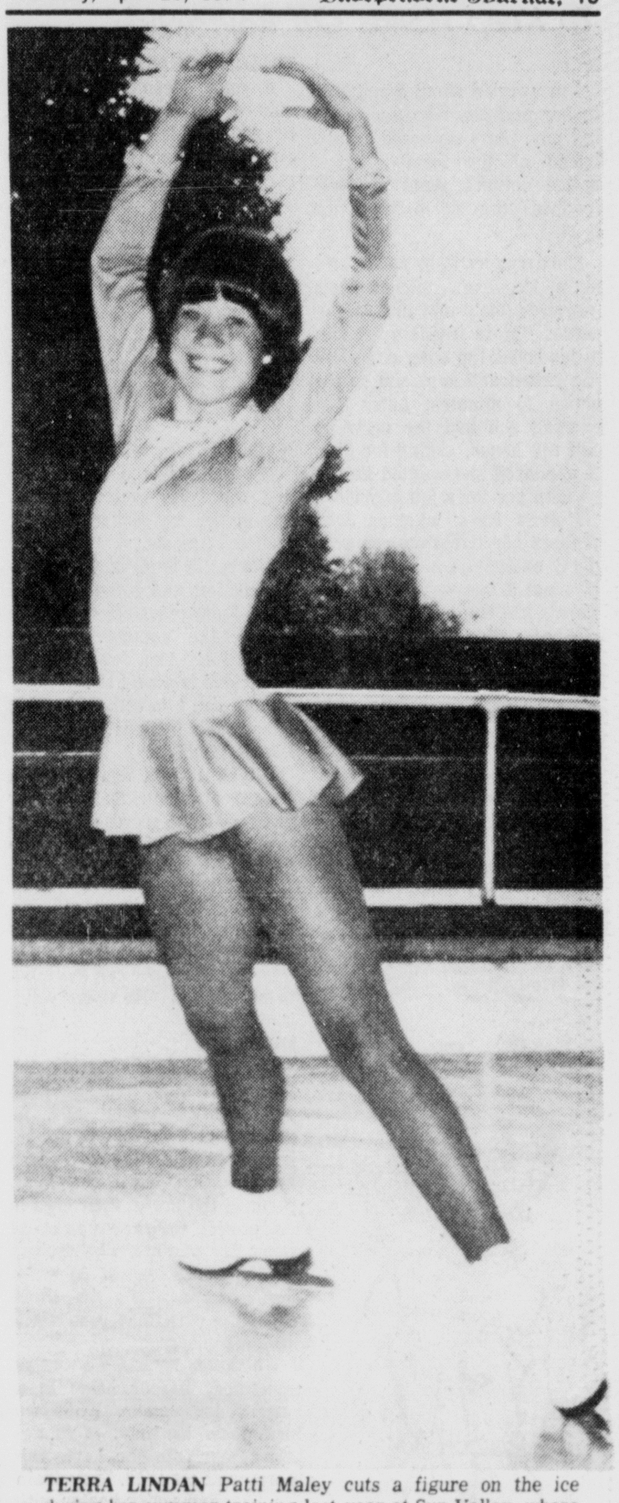
Theme is "San Francisco, The Enchanted City," but Patti's solo is called "Tropical Heat Wave." The show should have great family appeal, Jo Maley said, with "animal" skaters and Ice Follies guest stars.

Mrs. Maley has made Patti's costumes for the show, as have mothers of the other young skaters, and she makes them for all of Patti's competition work.

"We agree on a color, but Patti can't visualize how a costume will look," she said as Patti laughed agreement. The young skater doesn't rule out joining an ice show someday, but "not in the line; I'd want a solo," she says.

But it is really important to get some titles first, she said. Patti is critical of her own performances. "Even when I skate well, when I come off the ice, I know I can do better. I think how I can be better," she explained.

WELL AWARE of the increasing competition, the hard work, the need never to be satisfied, Patti looks forward to testing herself in the toughest figure skating arenas. There is a point at which you either go ahead and compete or stop, she said, and Patti hopes to compete. Besides, she loves the travel.



TERRA LINDAN Patti Maley cuts a figure on the ice during her summer training last year at Sun Valley, where she and her family go for two months each year. The Marin Catholic High School sophomore hopes to become a titlist in U.S. figure skating. Skating for the Marin Figure Skating Club, she will appear in the club's annual show May 4, 5 and 6 in Corte Madera.

The Story Of Top-Grain Leather . . .

Q. Is genuine leather hard to care for or does it need special cleaners!

A. Definitely not! Of all upholstery materials, it's the longest lasting and needs the least care. Mild soap on a damp cloth is all you ever need for any normal stain.

Q. How often must I polish or saddle soap genuine leather upholstery?

A. Never!

Q. Will the feet of children scratch leather?

A. No. As a matter of fact, normal every-day scuffing actually polishes the surface of leather to a brighter patina, like fine sterling.

Q. Imitation leather tears easily along stitching. Will genuine upholstery leather do this?

A. No, indeed. Impartial tests prove that genuine leather is 151% stronger along stitching than the next-best substitute.

Q. Will leather soften under hot sun, as imitations do?

A. No, it won't. Beneath the finish, the porous surface of genuine leather "breathes", keeping it cool and firm.

Q. Will leather grow dingy and dull, the way imitations do?

A. Never. That dullness is caused by surface-softening. Dust, grime and lint get stuck on that soft surface and never come out again. Because its surface doesn't soften, this can't happen with genuine leather upholstery.

Q. Why should I pay more for leather?

A. Because genuine leather gives you so much more satisfaction - in terms of beauty, and long wear. You never need slip covers, and you never need to pay for dry-cleaning, so you save all the extra cost and then some in a very short time.

Q. What about normal household stains?

A. They don't bother leather! Ink, ketchup, ice cream, food fats and gravy, coffee and coke, pet accidents - all come off easily and quickly with mild soap and water. Alcohol stains need nothing more than a dry cloth.

Q. What are those faint marks on the surface of the leather?

A. They are your proof that this leather is top-grain - the best grade available. Those little marks, which can't be imitated, are traces of the steer's life on the open range. They are Nature's own signature!

Q. Will leather crack with age?

A. Not at all. You may be thinking of the leather upholstery your grandfather had. The new upholstery leather has a wonderful miracle finish that stays soft, gleaming, and flexible.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Just Tell The Family Friend To Keep Hands Off Boyfriend

RAP:

I'm worried about a neighbor in her mid-20s, who lives near my guy. She's supposed to be a friend of the family, but I notice distinct signs of overfondness directed to John, who is 18.

She manages to be where he's at a lot, even though she's married. She's told him he deserves "more freedom." I was at his house the other day when she called and kept him on the phone 15 minutes. Later that evening she had the nerve to call my house, asking for him. It appeared she wanted him to go with her for a job interview.

I don't know whether John realizes her intentions, or even if my evaluation is correct, but let's put it this way — she sure sounds like trouble.

What should I do? — THREATENED BY AN OLDER WOMAN

DEAR TBAOW:

Yes, she does sound like trouble.

Maybe you could let your boyfriend know it would be smart to ease up on this friendship (without actually accusing anyone). If he doesn't discourage his overeager neighbor, she may keep on until her husband notices —and that could mean a big family brawl. — SUE

DEAR THREATENED:

A man doesn't like to feel chased, so if you can get it across in a laughing way that an older woman is after him, he may start side-stepping a bit.

On the other hand, there's always the danger that an 18-year-old might be flattered and intrigued by the attentions of a married woman. So don't lay your suspicions on too thick. Just keep the two separated as much as possible, and hope her husband does likewise. — HELEN

RAP:

My mother is a great cook and she loves to feed people. She invites my girl friend over for lots of meals.

The result is my girl friend is getting fat, and I don't like fat girls. Mom takes offense if you don't take second helpings (which I can turn down, but my girl friend is afraid to).

What can I do without hurting either one's feelings? — TONY

DEAR TONY:

I take it you don't have a weight problem. So tell your girl friend the secret of "eating thin" in spite of a mother who "cooks fat." — HELEN

TONY:

. . .And then have a talk with your mother. If she won't "cook thin," at least she can learn not to argue with "No thank you." — SUE

DEAR SUE:

I get tired of hearing the younger generation knocking people my parents' age, as several have in your column. I have noticed it's the elders who have turned down the heat, planned the use of their cars in carpools, forgone vacation trips. My parents, who drive a medium-sized car at 50 miles per hour, say it's the small economy cars that pass them on the highway.

We are in our 30s. We rent an apartment in our home to a very young couple. While we turn down the heat to 68 degrees, our renters have the thermostat set at 78. They drain the 40-gallon water heater with one shower, and leave the lights on day and night.

We're disappointed that the younger generation is so full of talk and so slow to act when it comes to conserving. — DISTURBED MINNESOTAN D.M.:

I can't see a valid argument in your letter — only a comparison between your parents and your tenants. Come on now. This doesn't describe two generations. I could yell about the 50ish man who was doing 75 mph while I was practically standing still at 50 — but what does it prove: only that every age has its lawbreakers.

So let's don't generalize. Conservation and shortages are tough enough without turning them into a generation war. — SUE

Job Bias, Career Planning Forum For Women Slated

A day-long forum exploring job discrimination and career planning for women will be held at Sonoma State College Wednesday, beginning at 10 a.m. in Quiet Lounge, off the commons.

The program, "Women in the Work Force," will include speakers, films, and a free expression session in which women can question the myths and actualities of the employment world, according to Priscilla Ewing, placement associate, Career Planning and Placement Center, and coordinator of the forum.

The forum will also discuss the realities of hiring discrimination and feature women from the community who are employed in what were once traditionally male-dominated fields, said Mrs. Ewing.

Speakers during the morning session will be Dr. Yvette Fallady, vice president for academic affairs at the college; Mary Samis, head of the Santa Rosa-based Committee to Advance the Recognition of Equal Employment Rights (CAREER); Mary Noel, personnel specialist with the federal government in San Francisco; Mary Longland, an attorney and veterans' affairs administrator at Solano College; Ann Hattum, manager of the Employment Development Office in Sonoma, and Pat Neitling, a student and instructor of the "Out of the Frying Plan" course at Sonoma State.

Women from the community who will take part in an afternoon "rap session" include Gloria Bragg, burglary prevention specialists with the Petaluma Police Department; JoAnn Johnson, a federal revenue agent; Mary Ann Graff, head winemaker at Simi winery; Shirley Stevens, manager of an auto repair shop; veterinarian Ruth Daniels; Ann Byrd, owner of a printing shop, and a representative of the Santa Rosa Bar and Culinary Workers Union.

Also invited to participate are campus women's organizations, the Women's Union, Women's Survival Center, Women's Studies and the Women's Studies Board.

Mrs. Ewing, who is also the college's career counselor, said that there was a need for a special program on career choices especially with the influx of women over 22 returning to college.

Mrs. Ewing at the placement office is enrolling persons for the forum.

Single Parents Have Hard Role

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Parenthood is serious business. Single parenthood is doubly so, because of the additional financial burden it often imposes on the mother or father.

Statisticians estimate that there are 8 million such parents —divorced, separated, or with partner deceased —who have the dual assignment of holding a job and making ends meet, plus planning for the children's future.

Most of the single parents are women and about 9.3 million children reside only with their mothers compared with approximately 810,000 with their fathers. And the numbers are increasing —3 per cent more with single parents today than in 1970.

SINGLE MOTHERS, not already jobholders, start off with many disadvantages in the working world. Only about 15 per cent have some college education. The comparable portion for fathers is 30 per cent.

Even with a college background, the median income for women falls about 40 per cent behind that of college-educated men.

This is part of the discouraging picture drawn by W. Scane Bowler, chairman and chief executive officer of Pioneer Western Corp., a national financial services organization.

There are other problems for women reentering the employment market, Bowler continued.

First, a woman's skills often are obsolete and many have never worked.

Many women have left family financial management to their husbands and now find themselves solely in charge. The family also may have a large debt burden.

GOING TO work costs more in clothes, lunches, transportation.

Employers often are reluctant to hire a mother with young children —how many days, for instance, will she have to stay home with a sick child instead of coming to the office?

Well-paid jobs often mean more time at work, and accordingly, less time with the children.

Many need refresher courses, but are hard put to afford to go back to school.

Women who once worked at executive level find that their time out at home meant someone else moving into their jobs.

They find they've lost many of their contacts; people have moved, changed jobs.

But Bowler says the problems can be solved and the family put on a firm financial basis. It does take some doing.

HE RECOMMENDS that women get into some educational program to brush up on old skills or develop the new ones needed in this technological world. Almost every community has civic groups, community colleges, high school and college adult education coarses to help a woman get into such fields as operating computers, automatic typewriters, calculators and learning sophisticated bookkeeping techniques.

The single parent must stand on her own two feet, not try to gain sympathy from others. Everyone has problems. Keep yours to yourself. Some employers say one reason they don't like to hire single mothers is that they come to work with a hang-dog look.

Keep legal and financial problems also out of the office. Don't, for instance, have a lawyer calling at the office regarding alimony, visitation rights, and other matters relating to separation or divorce.

ACCEPT RESPONSIBILITY. Don't pull the old army game of not volunteering for anything. Do volunteer.

Absolutely no flirting, said Bowler. "You'd be amazed at how many companies bring this subject up."

Employers also feel, in many instances, that the single mother is looking for a husband rather than a job and that she will leave for another job where there are more men or where the pay is slightly higher.

The woman has to convince the employer that she is serious about the job, that she wants opportunity, and that she has the emotional stability to be loyal to her employer and also bring up her children properly.

COYOTE was founded by Margo St. James in San Francisco last year.

The series will be held at the Marin YWCA, co-sponsored by the Marin Women's Center, at 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Little Change In Shopping, Cooking View

NEW YORK (UPI) — When it comes to those traditional home chores of shopping and cooking, the Women's Liberation Movement doesn't seem to have changed things much, according to the findings of a new survey.

In interviews with 1,000 young married women aged 18 to 30, the Newspaper Bureau of Advertising said it found that more than seven out of 10, or 71 per cent, believe that food shopping and cooking play the same, or perhaps even bigger, part in their lives as it did in their mothers' lives at the same age.

A lot of husbands help in these duties, the survey found. For example more than half the husbands, 56 per cent, help with the cooking and preparation of food.

The bureau in reporting its survey noted that there are 40 million Americans in the 18-30 age group, making up 29 per cent of the population.

Reunion Slated By Two Classes

The Tamalpais High School classes of 1949 and 1950 will hold a joint reunion on May 4 at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael.

Quilt Classes Begin Tuesday

Joyce Gross of Mill Valley will conduct a series of quilt classes, beginning Tuesday at 10 a.m., at the Marin Young Women's Christian Association, 1618 Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

The course will include the history, care and appreciation of the quilting art, production methods, selection and preparation of fabrics, pieced work and applique, selection and preparation of fabrics, tie quilts, lap quilting, working on a frame and other techniques.

Youthful Evangelists Are Jailed

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Smiling and carrying their Bibles, 107 youthful evangelists have trooped off to jail, refusing to accept freedom if it means giving up their preaching even for a few days.

County Judge Raymond L. Simpson offered the defendants, all charged with loitering, released on their own recognizance yesterday if they would promise to quit bothering people in area shopping centers.

Their attorney, Louis Hardin Jr., contended that such conditions would violate the constitutional rights of the defendants.

"All right, I will strike the conditions and deny any release on recognizance," the judge replied. He set $26 bond for each defendant and set arraignment for Monday.

Smiling as they went, the 35 young women and 72 young men marched to separate jails. Another 30 persons paid the bond and were freed.

"We don't try to get arrested," said Jerry Romprey, 32, a leader who was not jailed. He said the group, known as "Christ is the Answer," was founded two years ago in Milwaukee and has grown from 60 members to 240. All travel in a 44-vehicle caravan, usually staying in a city for about eight weeks.

He said the group frequents shopping centers because that's where they find people.

"The Lord told us to go into the world and preach the gospel wherever people are," he explained.

Police said the group arrived from Fort Lauderdale this week and, after getting permission to conduct missionary work in a shopping center, began grabbing people to get them to listen. Customers complained and merchants called police. The arrests were made Tuesday.

"We don't harass anybody," Romprey said. "The merchants are just very uptight about us talking about Jesus."

Today is Thursday, April 25, the 115th day of 1974 with 250 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

The Italian inventor of wireless telegraphy, Guglielmo Marconi, was born April 15, 1874.

On this day in history:

In 1846, the first shots of the Mexican War were fired at La Rosa, Mexico.

In 1898, Congress formally declared war on Spain in the battle over Cuba.

In 1945, delegates of 46 countries gathered in San Francisco to organize a permanent United Nations.

A thought for the day: American poet Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Every sweet has its sour, every evil its good."

Expert's Alertness Paves Way To Difficult No-Trump Slam

How successful are you when your contract depends on guessing which opponent has a key card? The average player is right about half the time. Some experts are right about nine times out of ten.

How do they do it? Do they peek, read minds or stroke a rabbit's foot? Let's examine a guess hand to see how the expert makes up his mind.

QUEEN IS KEY

West opens the jack of clubs, and dummy's ace wins. Declarer can make 12 tricks if he guesses which opponent has the queen of diamonds.

There is one other chance: one of the opponents may have the doubleton queen-jack of spades. Declarer therfore led out the ace of spades, but only small spades fall on this trick.

Our expert friend continues with a low spade from dummy. West wins with the queen and leads another club.

GATHERS EVIDENCE

South wins the club return with the queen, leads a spade to the king and cashes dummy's last spade when the suit breaks favorably.

Declarer next takes three top hearts and the king of clubs, ending with three diamonds in each hand.

South has seen East discard on the third club. This means that West started with six clubs. West has followed to three rounds of spades and three rounds of hearts. This accounts for 12 cards of West's original hand.

ONE DIAMOND

West can have only one diamond at most.

Hence South leads a diamond to dummy's king, taking the singleton diamond out of the West hand. Declarer then leads a diamond from dummy and finesses through East for the queen of diamonds. This finesse cannot lose, since East is known to have all of the missing diamonds.

So now we have the answer. The experts don't peek, read minds or stroke a rabbit's foot. They just count.

Festival Campers To Be Watched

Overnight camping at this weekend's bluegrass music festival at the county fairgrounds will be watched closely by Marin officials to determine if on-site sleeping will be allowed again in the future.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who spent most of yesterday thrashing out controls over this weekend's camping, said he may ask his colleagues on the board to restrict it in the future if anything goes awry.

The festival, titled the Golden State Country and Bluegrass Festival, is slated to begin tomorrow night and run through Sunday with a host of western music stars.

County officials were generally unaware that overnight camping was to be a part of the festival for those who purchased three-day tickets.

The festival contract speaks of "campers" in vague terms but sets no limits or controls.

It was apparently authorized by auditorium manager Leon G. Kalimos, who sought no policy direction from county supervisors before authorizing festival promoters to advertise "limited free camping" at the fairgrounds.

Following a conference yesterday with representatives of Jewell Productions, a Portola Valley-based firm promoting the event, Roumiguiere said about 200 camper trucks will be permitted in the auditorium parking lot and about 100 persons will be allowed to rough it on the fairgrounds turf.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, meanwhile, said the sheriff's department will provide backup support for the 60 or 70 private guards hired to provide security.

Judy Lammers, 37-year-old president of Jewell Productions, said yesterday that "every precaution possible" has been taken to ensure the festival runs smoothly.

Logistics of the festival include erection of 30 portable toilets, 20 water coolers and eight portable telephones, she said. In addition, promoters have arranged for a stand by ambulance and medical facilities staffed by members of the Haight-Ashbury Free Clinic, she said.

The event, perhaps the largest bluegrass festival ever held on the West Coast, will feature more than 20 top bluegrass artists and is expected to draw a crowd of up to 10,000 persons daily. Advance ticket sales totalled about 4,000 at 3 p.m. yesterday, according to Mrs. Lammers.

In addition to performances by musicians, the festival will feature folk art displays and demonstrations. Square-dancing, clogging and buck dancing exhibitions will be held in the Veterans' Memorial Building.

The concert will be from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. tomorrow, from noon to midnight Saturday and noon to 11 p.m. Sunday.

Performing tomorrow are: The Greenbriar Boys, Mac Wiseman, Merle Travis, Maria Mulduar, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys, Doc Watson and Merle Watson, and the Great American String Band with Vassar Clements.

Performing Saturday are: High Country, Homestead Act, Emmy Lou Harris, Merle Travis, Norman Blake and Tut Taylor with Doug Dillard, Mac Wiseman, Ralph Stanley, Skunk Cabbage, Buck White and the Downhome Folks, the Kentucky Colonels, The Greenbriar Boys, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, Doc Watson and the Great American String Band with Vassar Clements.

Performing Sunday are: Bear Creek Boys, Donna Washburn and Doug Dillard, Buck White and the Downhome Folks, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, The Greenbriar Boys, Mac Wiseman, Jimmy Martin and the Sunny Mountain Boys, Doc Watson, Skunk Cabbage, Ramblin' Jack Elliott, John Hartford, Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys and The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band with Vassar Clements.

Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by a guardian, she said.

The festival is envisioned as a tribute to Nashville fiddler Vassar Clements, a musician who has done much to promote bluegrass music on the West Coast, she said.

Eight Win Certification For Special Congressional Election

Four Democrats and four Republicans have been certified by the Secretary of State's office to appear on the June 4 ballot in the special election to fill the unexpired term of former Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

The Democrats are Assemblyman John L. Burton and Alan F. Reeves, a management consultant, both of San Francisco; Leslie A. Grant, retired accountant, and Terence V. McGuire, owner of a real estate business, both of San Rafael.

The Republicans are Sean McCarthy of San Rafael, a Vietnam veteran; Wesley Wilkes of Tiburon, city planner; Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, a businessman, and Jean Margaret Wall of San Francisco, teacher and lawyer.

Election officials had said there was a possibility that McCarthy might be disqualified because he filed as a pauper in the special election, but paid the filing fee for the regular primary election, but he was not.

If no one wins a majority of the votes in June, a run-off election will be held July 2. The winner will then appear as the incumbent on the November ballot.

Lon Chaney In Silent Film Series

Mill Valley's classic silent movie series will feature "The Phantom of the Opera" with Lon Chaney at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Port, 393 Miller Avenue.

There also will be a special midnight show starting at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

On May 4 and 5 Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus", plus Chaplin's two-reel comedy, "The Champion," will be featured.

"The Black Pirate," starring Douglas Fairbanks will be shown on May 11 and 12, and D.W. Griffith's 1916 hit, "Intolerance," will be the May 18 and 19 attraction.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" with Lon Chaney as Quasimodo will be the May 25 and 26 attraction.

All performances will be at 8 p.m., and will feature live organ music by Bob Vaughn.

Dempsey Wages A Lease Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lawyers for Jack Dempsey and for his landlord failed yesterday to reach an out-of-court settlement on the disputed lease for the ex-heavyweight champion's Broadway restaurant.

The lawyers were to meet again today with Civil Court Judge Harry W. Davis to try to reach an agreement in Dempsey's fight to avoid eviction from the restaurant that he has operated on Broadway between 49th and 50th Streets for 37 years.

If no agreement is reached, the case is tentatively scheduled to go to trial before Davis in Landlord and Tenant Court on Friday.

The 78-year-old Dempsey now suffers from arthritis and walks with a cane but still appears at the restaurant daily to sign autographs and greet wellwishers.

Chrysler Signs Cuban Sales Pact

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Chrysler of Argentina Tuesday signed a $24 million automobile sales contract with Cuba and became the first of three American-owned companies to do so under authorization granted in Washington last week.

The contract calls for the shipment of 9,000 Dodge model 1500 sedans over the next three years. The sales and maintenance service which Chrysler has agreed to establish in Cuba come to a total of $24,156,900.

Municipal Yacht Harbor Is Studied

The San Rafael Canal Advisory Committee is studying the possibility of a municipal yacht harbor at the mouth of the waterway in East San Rafael.

The harbor, which might include boat launching and parking facilities, would be located at the easterly end and on the south side of the canal, according to committee chairman Fred F. Enemark.

"State funds are available for this type of thing," he said, saying the proposal "is the most exciting source of revenue I've heard of in a long time."

He said committee members yesterday decided to invite San Leandro officials to San Rafael to review the history of the San Leandro municipal yacht harbor.

The Marin Motion Picture & Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and Parents' Magazine unless otherwise noted. FAMILY

"Alice in Wonderland" — Reissue of Lewis Carroll's sensitive fantasy touched with the magic Walt Disney wand. Its charm is not a whit diminished by the passage of time.

"Chariots of the Gods" — Beautiful photographic exploration of Von Daniken's theory — that extraterrestrial beings have visited earth. Documentary.

"Charley and the Angel" — A depression-era comedy about a man so preoccupied with his business he neglects his family until he learns his time on earth is limited.

"Twelve Chairs" — A hilarious examination of greed done in slapstick style. Jewels sewn into one of 12 chairs creates havoc among those trying to trace them.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Conversation" — A professional eavesdropper who guards his own privacy against everyone finds himself a pawn when he attempts to prevent murder.

"Day of the Dolphin" — Behavioral scientist learns to communicate with a dolphin. Government agents take over the trained animal and try to use it to assassinate the president. Some strong language.

"Great Gatsby" — Love story that is curiously phlegmatic and uninvolving about life and people back in the jazz, prohibition and big racketeer age. (Movie Report)

"Summer Wishes, Winter Dreams" — A well-acted, serious drama about a woman forced to cope with her mother's death, her son's homosexuality and a decaying relationship with her husband.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Billy Jack" — An unusually clear-eyed drama about prejudice and hypocrisy at an Indian reservation school. Nudity, graphic rape scenes, bloody murders and other violence.

"Cinderella Liberty" — Romantic comedy about a kindhearted sailor who falls in love with a bar-hustler who has a mulatto son. Their affair is a rocky one. Profanity and nudity.

"Shamus" — Violent detective tale with stolen diamonds, export companies and army surplus and code books liberally mixed with Burt Reynolds' sex life. Cursing.

"Sting" — Comedy-drama set in the 1930s in Chicago is about fleecers, fleecing fleecers. Fast moving, filled with surprises, well acted but violent.

"Thief Who Came to Dinner" — A disillusioned man turns jewel thief, a likeable rogue. Even the insurance investigator is conned into letting him escape. Another dose of crime-does-pay tale, the last thing we need.

"T. R. Baskin" — Semi-comedy about the frustration of a small town girl in a big city facing the loneliness and disappointments of arranged blind dates. Sex, nudity.

"The Way We Were" — Stormy love story of a left-wing Jewish girl and a college man strictly social register over a 20 year period. Slow moving.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blazing Saddles" — Wild western spoof, undisciplined, vulgar, childish but hilarious. Nothing is sacred. Tone is bawdy.

"Exorcist" — Film offers no valid information about demonology. It sinks to a new low of sensationalism and creates appalling shock effects. Details are nauseating.

"Last Detail" — Two career sailors escorting a young man to prison provide him with a treat of a visit to a brothel, pot party and drinking spree. Film starts grimly, becomes comedy with a poignant ending. Nudity, raw language, bawdiness.

"Papillon" — A long, grim movie based on bestseller book on the evils of the old French penal system. Very brutal, nudity, cursing and one homosexual scene. Well acted.

COLLEGE LECTURER — Political experiences of women and blacks will be discussed May 3 at 8 p.m. in the College of Marin gymnasium by Shirley Chisholm, second-term congressman from New York who sought the Democratic nomination for president in 1972.

Youthful Evangelists Are Jailed

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Smiling and carrying their Bibles, 107 youthful evangelists have trooped off to jail, refusing to accept freedom if it means giving up their preaching even for a few days.

County Judge Raymond L. Simpson offered the defendants, all charged with loitering, released on their own recognizance yesterday if they would promise to quit bothering people in area shopping centers.

Their attorney, Louis Hardin Jr., contended that such conditions would violate the constitutional rights of the defendants.

"All right, I will strike the conditions and deny any release on recognizance," the judge replied. He set $26 bond for each defendant and set arraignment for Monday.

Smiling as they went, the 35 young women and 72 young men marched to separate jails. Another 30 persons paid the bond and were freed.

"We don't try to get arrested," said Jerry Romprey, 32, a leader who was not jailed. He said the group, known as "Christ is the Answer," was founded two years ago in Milwaukee and has grown from 60 members to 240. All travel in a 44-vehicle caravan, usually staying in a city for about eight weeks.

He said the group frequents shopping centers because that's where they find people.

"The Lord told us to go into the world and preach the gospel wherever people are," he explained.

Police said the group arrived from Fort Lauderdale this week and, after getting permission to conduct missionary work in a shopping center, began grabbing people to get them to listen. Customers complained and merchants called police. The arrests were made Tuesday.

"We don't harass anybody," Romprey said. "The merchants are just very uptight about us talking about Jesus."

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Thursday, April 25, the 115th day of 1974 with 250 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

The Italian inventor of wireless telegraphy, Guglielmo Marconi, was born April 15, 1874.

On this day in history:

In 1846, the first shots of the Mexican War were fired at La Rosa, Mexico.

In 1898, Congress formally declared war on Spain in the battle over Cuba.

In 1945, delegates of 46 countries gathered in San Francisco to organize a permanent United Nations.

A thought for the day: American poet Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Every sweet has its sour, every evil its good."

Expert's Alertness Paves Way To Difficult No-Trump Slam

How successful are you when your contract depends on guessing which opponent has a key card? The average player is right about half the time. Some experts are right about nine times out of ten.

How do they do it? Do they peek, read minds or stroke a rabbit's foot? Let's examine a guess hand to see how the expert makes up his mind.

Opening lead — ♣ J

QUEEN IS KEY

West opens the jack of clubs, and dummy's ace wins. Declarer can make 12 tricks if he guesses which opponent has the queen of diamonds.

There is one other chance: one of the opponents may have the doubleton queen-jack of spades. Declarer therfore led out the ace of spades, but only small spades fall on this trick.

Our expert friend continues with a low spade from dummy. West wins with the queen and leads another club.

GATHERS EVIDENCE

South wins the club return with the queen, leads a spade to the king and cashes dummy's last spade when the suit breaks favorably.

Declarer next takes three top hearts and the king of clubs, ending with three diamonds in each hand.

South has seen East discard on the third club. This means that West started with six clubs. West has followed to three rounds of spades and three rounds of hearts. This accounts for 12 cards of West's original hand.

ONE DIAMOND

West can have only one diamond at most.

Hence South leads a diamond to dummy's king, taking the singleton diamond out of the West hand. Declarer then leads a diamond from dummy and finesses through East for the queen of diamonds. This finesse cannot lose, since East is known to have all of the missing diamonds.

So now we have the answer. The experts don't peek, read minds or stroke a rabbit's foot. They just count.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You haven't the distribution for a takeout double, you have no suit to bid, and you cannot bid no-trump without a spade stopper.

Festival Campers To Be Watched

Overnight camping at this weekend's bluegrass music festival at the county fairgrounds will be watched closely by Marin officials to determine if on-site sleeping will be allowed again in the future.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who spent most of yesterday thrashing out controls over this weekend's camping, said he may ask his colleagues on the board to restrict it in the future if anything goes awry.

The festival, titled the Golden State Country and Bluegrass Festival, is slated to begin tomorrow night and run through Sunday with a host of western music stars.

County officials were generally unaware that overnight camping was to be a part of the festival for those who purchased three-day tickets.

The festival contract speaks of "campers" in vague terms but sets no limits or controls.

It was apparently authorized by auditorium manager Leon G. Kalimos, who sought no policy direction from county supervisors before authorizing festival promoters to advertise "limited free camping" at the fairgrounds.

Following a conference yesterday with representatives of Jewell Productions, a Portola Valley-based firm promoting the event, Roumiguiere said about 200 camper trucks will be permitted in the auditorium parking lot and about 100 persons will be allowed to rough it on the fairgrounds turf.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, meanwhile, said the sheriff's department will provide backup support for the 60 or 70 private guards hired to provide security.

Judy Lammers, 37-year-old president of Jewell Productions, said yesterday that "every precaution possible" has been taken to ensure the festival runs smoothly.

Logistics of the festival include erection of 30 portable toilets, 20 water coolers and eight portable telephones, she said. In addition, promoters have arranged for a stand by ambulance and medical facilities staffed by members of the Haight-Ashbury Free Clinic, she said.

The event, perhaps the largest bluegrass festival ever held on the West Coast, will feature more than 20 top bluegrass artists and is expected to draw a crowd of up to 10,000 persons daily. Advance ticket sales totalled about 4,000 at 3 p.m. yesterday, according to Mrs. Lammers.

In addition to performances by musicians, the festival will feature folk art displays and demonstrations. Square-dancing, clogging and buck dancing exhibitions will be held in the Veterans' Memorial Building.

The concert will be from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. tomorrow, from noon to midnight Saturday and noon to 11 p.m. Sunday.

Performing tomorrow are: The Greenbriar Boys, Mac Wiseman, Merle Travis, Maria Mulduar, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys, Doc Watson and Merle Watson, and the Great American String Band with Vassar Clements.

Performing Saturday are: High Country, Homestead Act, Emmy Lou Harris, Merle Travis, Norman Blake and Tut Taylor with Doug Dillard, Mac Wiseman, Ralph Stanley, Skunk Cabbage, Buck White and the Downhome Folks, the Kentucky Colonels, The Greenbriar Boys, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, Doc Watson and the Great American String Band with Vassar Clements.

Performing Sunday are: Bear Creek Boys, Donna Washburn and Doug Dillard, Buck White and the Downhome Folks, Jim and Jesse and the Virginia Boys, The Greenbriar Boys, Mac Wiseman, Jimmy Martin and the Sunny Mountain Boys, Doc Watson, Skunk Cabbage, Ramblin' Jack Elliott, John Hartford, Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys and The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band with Vassar Clements.

Children under 12 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by a guardian, she said.

The festival is envisioned as a tribute to Nashville fiddler Vassar Clements, a musician who has done much to promote bluegrass music on the West Coast, she said.

Eight Win Certification For Special Congressional Election

Four Democrats and four Republicans have been certified by the Secretary of State's office to appear on the June 4 ballot in the special election to fill the unexpired term of former Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

The Democrats are Assemblyman John L. Burton and Alan F. Reeves, a management consultant, both of San Francisco; Leslie A. Grant, retired accountant, and Terence V. McGuire, owner of a real estate business, both of San Rafael.

The Republicans are Sean McCarthy of San Rafael, a Vietnam veteran; Wesley Wilkes of Tiburon, city planner; Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, a businessman, and Jean Margaret Wall of San Francisco, teacher and lawyer.

Election officials had said there was a possibility that McCarthy might be disqualified because he filed as a pauper in the special election, but paid the filing fee for the regular primary election, but he was not.

If no one wins a majority of the votes in June, a run-off election will be held July 2. The winner will then appear as the incumbent on the November ballot.

Lon Chaney In Silent Film Series

Mill Valley's classic silent movie series will feature "The Phantom of the Opera" with Lon Chaney at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Port, 393 Miller Avenue.

There also will be a special midnight show starting at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

On May 4 and 5 Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus", plus Chaplin's two-reel comedy, "The Champion," will be featured.

"The Black Pirate," starring Douglas Fairbanks will be shown on May 11 and 12, and D.W. Griffith's 1916 hit, "Intolerance," will be the May 18 and 19 attraction.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" with Lon Chaney as Quasimodo will be the May 25 and 26 attraction.

All performances will be at 8 p.m., and will feature live organ music by Bob Vaughn.

Dempsey Wages A Lease Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lawyers for Jack Dempsey and for his landlord failed yesterday to reach an out-of-court settlement on the disputed lease for the ex-heavyweight champion's Broadway restaurant.

The lawyers were to meet again today with Civil Court Judge Harry W. Davis to try to reach an agreement in Dempsey's fight to avoid eviction from the restaurant that he has operated on Broadway between 49th and 50th Streets for 37 years.

If no agreement is reached, the case is tentatively scheduled to go to trial before Davis in Landlord and Tenant Court on Friday.

The 78-year-old Dempsey now suffers from arthritis and walks with a cane but still appears at the restaurant daily to sign autographs and greet wellwishers.

Chrysler Signs Cuban Sales Pact

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Chrysler of Argentina Tuesday signed a $24 million automobile sales contract with Cuba and became the first of three American-owned companies to do so under authorization granted in Washington last week.

The contract calls for the shipment of 9,000 Dodge model 1500 sedans over the next three years. The sales and maintenance service which Chrysler has agreed to establish in Cuba come to a total of $24,156,900.

Municipal Yacht Harbor Is Studied

The San Rafael Canal Advisory Committee is studying the possibility of a municipal yacht harbor at the mouth of the waterway in East San Rafael.

The harbor, which might include boat launching and parking facilities, would be located at the easterly end and on the south side of the canal, according to committee chairman Fred F. Enemark.

"State funds are available for this type of thing," he said, saying the proposal "is the most exciting source of revenue I've heard of in a long time."

He said committee members yesterday decided to invite San Leandro officials to San Rafael to review the history of the San Leandro municipal yacht harbor.

FAMILY

"Alice in Wonderland" — Reissue of Lewis Carroll's sensitive fantasy touched with the magic Walt Disney wand. Its charm is not a whit diminished by the passage of time.

"Chariots of the Gods" — Beautiful photographic exploration of Von Daniken's theory — that extraterrestrial beings have visited earth. Documentary.

"Charley and the Angel" — A depression-era comedy about a man so preoccupied with his business he neglects his family until he learns his time on earth is limited.

"Twelve Chairs" — A hilarious examination of greed done in slapstick style. Jewels sewn into one of 12 chairs creates havoc among those trying to trace them.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Conversation" — A professional eavesdropper who guards his own privacy against everyone finds himself a pawn when he attempts to prevent murder.

"Day of the Dolphin" — Behavioral scientist learns to communicate with a dolphin. Government agents take over the trained animal and try to use it to assassinate the president. Some strong language.

"Great Gatsby" — Love story that is curiously phlegmatic and uninvolving about life and people back in the jazz, prohibition and big racketeer age. (Movie Report)

"Summer Wishes, Winter Dreams" — A well-acted, serious drama about a woman forced to cope with her mother's death, her son's homosexuality and a decaying relationship with her husband.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Billy Jack" — An unusually clear-eyed drama about prejudice and hypocrisy at an Indian reservation school. Nudity, graphic rape scenes, bloody murders and other violence.

"Cinderella Liberty" — Romantic comedy about a kindhearted sailor who falls in love with a bar-hustler who has a mulatto son. Their affair is a rocky one. Profanity and nudity.

"Shamus" — Violent detective tale with stolen diamonds, export companies and army surplus and code books liberally mixed with Burt Reynolds' sex life. Cursing.

"Sting" — Comedy-drama set in the 1930s in Chicago is about fleecers, fleecing fleecers. Fast moving, filled with surprises, well acted but violent.

"Thief Who Came to Dinner" — A disillusioned man turns jewel thief, a likeable rogue. Even the insurance investigator is conned into letting him escape. Another dose of crime-does-pay tale, the last thing we need.

"T. R. Baskin" — Semi-comedy about the frustration of a small town girl in a big city facing the loneliness and disappointments of arranged blind dates. Sex, nudity.

"The Way We Were" — Stormy love story of a left-wing Jewish girl and a college man strictly social register over a 20 year period. Slow moving.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blazing Saddles" — Wild western spoof, undisciplined, vulgar, childish but hilarious. Nothing is sacred. Tone is bawdy.

"Exorcist" — Film offers no valid information about demonology. It sinks to a new low of sensationalism and creates appalling shock effects. Details are nauseating.

"Last Detail" — Two career sailors escorting a young man to prison provide him with a treat of a visit to a brothel, pot party and drinking spree. Film starts grimly, becomes comedy with a poignant ending. Nudity, raw language, bawdiness.

"Papillon" — A long, grim movie based on bestseller book on the evils of the old French penal system. Very brutal, nudity, cursing and one homosexual scene. Well acted.

'Pie Card' Holders Back Carpetbagger Law

The California State Federation of Labor has come out in favor of the Carpetbagger Amendment.

The Carpetbagger Amendment is Assembly Constitutional Amendment 103, proposed by Assemblyman Howard L. Berman, D-Sherman Oaks, for submission to the electorate — perhaps next November.

It would prohibit any city, county, or other local agency from imposing a residency requirement for employment. It would not only preclude any requirement for residency before hiring, but would forbid requiring the employee to live in the city, county or district after being hired.

Assemblyman Berman first proposed to do this by statute, his vehicle being Assembly Bill 2223, which says the same thing as ACA 103. Apparently deciding the bill had little chance of passage, he introduced the proposed constitutional amendment in hope of persuading the legislature to submit it to the people.

NOW, WHY WOULD the California State Federation of Labor endorse such a measure?

Offhand, it would seem that labor union leaders would favor residency requirement for public employees. Such requirements help protect the local job market.

However, it must be remembered that the AFL-CIO is very actively engaged in organizing public employees. It wants to make union members of all of them. It is to this end that it is agitating at both national and state levels for laws to permit exclusive bargaining by unions in behalf of all those on the public payroll.

Residency requirements for public employees do not help such organization. The local resident, paying local taxes to support his local government, is less likely to want to turn that government over to control of the "pie card" holders in union headquarters.

(For the benefit of those who may not know it, a "pie card" is a union card held by someone who does not work at the trade but instead draws his pay from the union itself).

ASSEMBLYMAN BERMAN has a bent for introducing legislation favored by the "pie card" holders.

Last year he pushed through a bill (AB 2272) to authorize check-off deduction of union dues from non-teaching employees in the public schools. Governor Reagan vetoed it. But Berman has re-introduced it this year, with the number now AB 2969.

Now in committee is his AB 2107, which would set up collective bargaining machinery for all those in California not covered by the National Labor Relations Act — including, and principally, farm workers. Several other farm worker unionization bills he introduced have mercifully been buried.

COURT DECISIONS recently have reaffirmed the right of local governments to employ only residents. But this home rule prerogative is inimical to the AFL-CIO "Pie card" holders — and to Assemblyman Berman.

His ACA 103 is now in the hands of the Assembly Employment and Public Employees Committee. It is headed by Assemblyman March Fong, D-Oakland. Its other members are Assemblymen Julian C. Dixon, D-Los Angeles; Douglas F. Carter, R-Stockton; Lawrence Kapiloff, D-San Diego; Robert P. Nimmo, R-Bakersfield; Newton R. Russell, R-Burbank, and Edwin L. Z'Berg, D-Sacramento.

Loyal Republicans Silent On Nixon's Record Budget

By DONALD LAMBRO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Sen. Barry Goldwater put a "dime store New Deal" label on President Eisenhower's 1957 budget, his reputation as both a party warrior and the fastest critic in the West was launched.

Goldwater's angry remark — which, it is said, Ike never forgot — comes immediately to mind in light of the deathly silence which President Nixon's record $304.4 billion budget for the 1975 fiscal year has received from Republicans on Capitol Hill.

GOLDWATER'S 1957 characterization of a far smaller budget burned the White House but earned Goldwater private kudos from his colleagues who thought as he did but didn't want to risk offending the administration.

Today, that attitude of "party loyalty first and foremost" on fiscal matters, if not on impeachment, is still strong in Republican ranks in Congress, particularly among so-called fiscal conservatives.

Goldwater and a handful of other conservatives have made known their disdain for the record spending requests. But from the vast majority of GOP members, there has been only silence.

"THE BATTLE of the budget is over," the American Conservative Union said last month in mourning the big budget rise. "The budget won. President Nixon has unconditionally surrendered."

The Watergate-beleagured Nixon, the ACU concluded, "has taken a dive in the fight for fiscal responsibility."

Incensed that so few congressional conservatives have spoken out against the Nixon budget, ACU compiled statements from anyone they could find in Congress who had criticized the increased spending requests. In many cases the political organization had to solicit opinions. Only 25 members responded.

"I CANNOT LIVE with the budget my President has presented to the Congress," Goldwater said in a Senate speech that received much less attention than his 1957 statement.

"If I felt Ike's budget was a 'dime store New Deal' you can imagine what I think of the budget recently sent to Capitol Hill. ...It is a political mistake with the gravest kind of overtones for the welfare of my country."

Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., who recently called for Nixon to resign, said the president had abandoned his avowed intention to eliminate wasteful federal programs and was continuing to "throw dollars at problems."

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., called the Nixon fiscal requests reckless, while Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., said the budget "has to be the worst conceived of any on record —at least of any Republican president on record."

Sighed Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., "I never thought I'd live to see the day when a Republican administration was consistently and continuously operated at a deficit."

And so it went, all 35 of them, while the majority of Republicans — self-proclaimed "fiscal conservatives" all — remained tongue-tied.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Problem Is: Government Has Too Many On Payroll

By RUS WALTON

Awhile back I wrote a column on that strike by city employees in San Francisco by the sewer. Watch out for the impact of those $500-a-year wage hikes on state and other government employees wage demands; that's what I warned.

I also pointed out that in my job categories, state and San Francisco employees were already paid more than employees in comparable private sector jobs.

Well, that really put Mrs. Penelope Rueb of San Rafael into orbit. I mean, I lit her fuse!

MRS. RUEB WROTE that I was looking mainly at the paper-pushers in government. And, that I was; the paper-pushers, pencil-peelers and red-tape winders.

She scolded me for not taking into consideration high-risk jobs such as highway patrolmen, prison guards, and maintenance men in perilous places.

She has a valid point.

Long ago, and not once but several times, I called for higher salaries and increased benefits for the men of the California Highway Patrol. Those guys are the best in the nation, yet their pay scale is below the salary scale of the police in many of our larger cities.

As for the prison guards (correctional officers), no amount of money could get me to trade jobs with them. Not the way the prisons are going these days. Who wants to walk into a den of revolutionaries armed with a whistle? And, at least two years ago I screamed (via this column and my radio program) that those guards should be given a hefty pay hike to compensate for the fact they daily walk in harm's way.

Mrs. Ruebb's hubby is a construction worker at San Quentin. She makes the point that he is in as much danger as the prison guards, or more. Yet, he receives no "danger pay," just a flat $6.08 per hour. If I were Mr. Ruebb, I'd look for another job.

BUT, ALL OF THAT is prologue. Let's get to the meat of the coconut. The problem in government is not that the workers are goof-offs (most of them are not), or that some of them are overpaid (many of them are not). The problem is that there are so many government employees. If a private industry had a manpower-to-production ratio equal to that in government, the company would go broke. As it is, the taxpayers are going broke.

It is not the fault of the individual government worker, many of whom are good and faithful servants, that much of the work in government is a waste. Those paper-shufflers and pencil-peelers again — they contribute nothing to the safety and well-being and wealth of the citizenry.

LOOK WHAT HAS happened in California during the past 10 years. The number of government employees (at all levels) has increased by more than 520,000. That's an average of 52,000 more government employees a year; 208 additional government workers every working day; 26 more every working hour. One out of every five in California's work force is on a government payroll. That means every four persons in the private sector are supporting a government employee.

During those ten years, the number of government employees in California grew (51 per cent) more than twice as rapidly as the increase in the number of employees in the private sector (22 per cent). Government is our fastest growing non-industry.

The proper way to cut, squeeze and trim here in Babylon is not to be niggardly about paying competent and necessary workers; it is to cut back on the hordes of paper-shufflers, squeeze out the waste work, and trim away the deadwood.

Then, maybe, Mr. Rueb could get a fair wage.

ERWIN D. CANHAM: Crisis Not Ended

There is quite a lot of gasoline at the filling stations of America. Spring is here, and we don't worry any longer about the thermostats at home. We are edging up in speed on the highways, almost back to the pre-crisis norms. Thus there is terrible danger that the real lessons of the energy crisis will be forgotten until an emergency strikes once more.

We must realize, throughout the industrialized world, that the energy challenge for us is far from over. In other places, like India, where the grim spectre of famine is very visible, there is little need of reminder but great difficulty in divising remedial action.

THE PROBLEMS we face have been accelerating sharply since the end of World War II, but their beginnings go back to the start of the industrial revolution and before. Only in our time have they taken on a scale of visible danger.

The industrial world, led by the United States, has become immensely wasteful in the use of energy, recklessly pollutive of the atmosphere, heedless in what we are doing to cities and open spaces, unmindful of the quality standards which we should have been applying across the whole range of our lives.

We have too little agreed knowledge of what is taking place on the planet and what is threatened. Perhaps it is this confusion and uncertainty which lulls public opinion into apathy. We have only inklings, not yet coordinated, of what is happening to climate, to food resources, to basic natural elements like water and air (and the chain of material life), and to the total ecosphere.

The relation of population explosion, through higher birth rates and great extension of the life span, to the overall problem is manifest enough to the industrialized nations, but deeply mistrusted in much of the "third world." Indeed, efforts to promote birth control or develop environmental concerns have been regarded all too widely in the less developed societies as some kind of conspiracy to hold them back. But the challenge of population growth remains crucial, as food supplies lag, and the problem becomes increasingly apparent.

WE HAVE the intelligence and technological skills with which to face up to the dangers. Whether we have the wisdom and the resolution is yet to be shown. The first need is for accurate knowledge, drawn together and wisely analyzed and shaped into programs. Investigative efforts are so far only fragmentary and miniscule in comparison to the threats. Study and action on the scale of NASA or the Manhattan Project are called for.

An initial step would be to reach workable consensus on the knowledge that is scattered around in universities, in industry, in national and international governmental agencies. It needs to be pulled together and its meaning conveyed to the wider public.

Then only can people begin to visualize the decisions which may determine their future. The danger right now is that people will think that the problems have been exaggerated, that the crunch is behind, and that we are back to normal — at a higher and rising price level, but still normal.

THE DANGER and the need have been well summarized by Margaret Mead:

"What we need is a transformed life style which will be as different from our present wasteful, short-sighted, reckless use of the earth's treasures as the present 20th Century world is from the agrarian world out of the past. This new life style can flow directly from the efforts of science and the capabilities of technology, but its acceptance depends on an overriding citizen commitment to a higher quality of life for the world's children and future generations on our planet."

If we miss today's opportunity to begin reconstruction, it will be unfortunate. Next time is almost sure to be more difficult. There are also dangers of excess, such as the overproduction of oil and other sources in energy reaction, leading to a longer period of dissipation. Now is the time to prepare for the future.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Reader Offended By Word In News Story

I must protest the appalling insensitivity and bad taste shown by Betty Frost in "The Last Word" of 20 April, in which she describes the ladies who attend the A.M. lectures. The "inevitable walker maneuvered by an elderly accident victim" is nearly always propelled by a gallant woman who has broken a hip, courageously endured the necessary surgery, and made up her mind to stay out of a wheel chair. I have known some of these indomitable women and I have great respect for them and for their intense effort not to miss any of the fun and not to be a burden. Perhaps it is Miss Frost's use of the word "inevitable" in this connotation that offends me, but I find her disturbingly lacking in empathy.

Superintendent Says Story Misquoted Him

Susan Leipsic is correct in her letter to the editor published Tuesday. The superintendent of the Kentfield School District was misquoted in your article of April 18 regarding the conversion of the Adaline E. Kent Elementary School. The statement should have read "the audience was in support of the 6-7-8 middle school concept, but opposed the closing of the Kent Elementary School to facilitate it."

I appreciate the opportunity Mrs. Leipsic has given me to make this correction.

Let Voters Decide, Urges MMWD Candidate

I would urge the directors of the Marin Municipal Water District not to fill the seat left vacated by the resignation of Mr. Martinelli.

The voters in Division 3, as well as in the other divisions, have clear choices in this election, they can elect a conservationist slate or they can decide that they want a more balanced board. Making an appointment now would only serve to confuse a situation that is already confused enough.

The time has come to let the voters decide what role they want the water district to play.

Families Take Risks With Untrained Nurses

In answer to L.V.N. Dorothy Biondo about nursing, it's a dirty shame the way private families are taking aid, to work in other homes to care for the ill, and these aids work for $15-$16 a day. These families think they are saving money. And doctors in Marin do not even ask what type of nurse they have at home. I'm a practical nurse since 1939, best of references, etc. Yet I have seen families leave L.V.N. and practical nurse go as they could get aid or so-called nurse's aid cheaper. They do not realize danger their lives are in.

Don't Take Hospital Services For Granted

We in Marin County have many excellent aids to our lives, but we often accept them without considering their unique and important value. Because of this, I would like to draw your attention to a service we might take for granted but for which we should be more appreciative.

Recently I was required to spend two weeks in Marin General Hospital. My needs were very demanding and my life depended on the availability and skill of many facets of the medical profession. The excellence of the hospital service and the warm consideration of the entire staff was a support to my recovery that I shall be ever grateful for.

It is my hope you will not be called upon to test this service, but how secure we can all feel knowing we have constantly available to us the finest and most personable hospital.

Elective 'Phys Ed' Bill Finally Making Progress

You wrote an editorial supporting the San Rafael Board of Education's resolution asking for elective physical education in the 11th and 12th grades three or four years ago. A bill has finally (third or fourth) passed the Senate Education Committee and is in its third hearing on the floor of the Senate. Needs full Senate vote.

Partisan Appearance By District Attorney

When it came to my attention that a forum for candidates, open to the public, was being held by Marin County's Republican Central Committee on April 23, I was immediately interested. Since the incumbent district attorney was scheduled to participate, my election committee suggested that my lack of an invitation was perhaps an oversight, to be instantly rectified by a phone call to the sponsors of the program. However, as explained by the sponsors, the forum is traditionally a partisan program.

My concern is that the incumbent, who holds a non-partisan office, has chosen to take advantage of a partisan public forum, whose doors were closed to opposing views. The district attorney is a non-partisan elected public servant who is not supposed to be involved in partisan politics . . .

How Defense Department Found $266 Million For Vietnam

WASHINGTON — It received hardly a mention in the newspapers, but the Pentagon last week just happened to "find" $266 million it didn't know it had.

It seems that the Defense Department had asked for $1.6 billion for aid to South Vietnam, but Congress had voted only $1.2 billion. Instead of the Pentagon getting upset by the cut in funds, it announced that it had "found" $266 million which could make up the difference.

HOW DID the Pentagon find the money? It's a very interesting story.

Two weeks ago two cleaning women in the Pentagon were working late at night in the basement of the building. One of the ladies was a new employee and she opened what she thought was a broom closet. Instead of brooms and mops she saw neatly piled stacks of brand new $100 bills.

"Henrietta," she said to the lady she was working with, "there ain't no brooms or mops in that closet. How am I supposed to get my work done when all they keep in there is money?"

Henrietta came over and looked in. "Heavens to Betsy, you're right. They expect us to clean the floors, mop the halls and dust the furniture and they don't even give us the tools to do it with. Let's find the supervisor."

THEY BROUGHT the supervisor back. He peered into the closet and became angry. "If I told them once I told them 100 times the only thing I want to see in broom closets is brooms. I'm going to get the duty officer."

The duty officer, a colonel, was asked to come to the basement. When he showed up he couldn't believe his eyes. "How much money do you think there is in that closet?"

"'Bout $266 million," Henrietta said. "Now what about our mops?"

The colonel rushed off to call his superior at home. "General, the cleaning women just found $266 million in a broom closet in the basement."

THE GENERAL was furious. "Why are you bothering me at home at this hour about $266 million? Turn it over to Lost-and-Found."

"Yes, sir," the colonel said.

The next day the Lost-and-Found officer put out notices on all the bulletin boards in the Pentagon which read: "If anyone has lost $266 million in new $100 bills, kindly pick it up as soon as possible at Lost-and-Found. If the money is not claimed within the week, it will be turned over to the South Vietnamese government."

Although there are thousands of people working in the Pentagon, no one admitted to owning the money. This caused some wild speculation. The Army said the Navy had hidden the cash in the broom closet so they could buy an extra submarine when no one was looking. The Navy said the Air Force had stashed it away for the next overrun on a new Lockheed cargo plane.

IN ANY CASE, no one claimed the cash and it was turned over to six cadets of the South Vietnamese Marine Corps who were returning to Saigon after a visit to Parris Island.

But the discovery of the money caused a storm at the Pentagon. The secretary of defense, in a very tough memo to all personnel, said, "There will be no more storing of unaccounted funds in broom closets.

"These closets will be used in the future solely for cleaning utensils. If there is one thing I will not stand for as long as I am secretary it's a dirty Pentagon."

Withdrawals Please Laotian Leader

By DANIEL SOUTHERLAND
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

VIENTIANE, Laos — China has withdrawn more than half of the men and all of the heavy antiaircraft guns which it had moved in recent years into northwestern Laos, according to a leading Laotian Government official.

Sisouk na Champassak, defense minister in the newly formed coalition government in Laos, said in an interview he viewed the withdrawal of the Chinese as an encouraging response to the Laotian peace agreement.

American-trained Thai forces and North Vietnamese troops are also in the process of being withdrawn under terms of the agreement.

Two years ago U.S. officials estimated that China had from 14,000 to 20,000 men in northwestern Laos — all of them associated with road-building under a 1961 pact with Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma and the Communist-led Pathet Lao.

The all-weather road stretches southward from China's Yunnan province for 100 miles into Laos, farther than originally envisaged. Western diplomats describe it as a kind of "insurance policy" for China in one of its vulnerable border areas.

Meanwhile, although North Vietnam has reduced its forces in Laos in recent months, it still maintains a large number of troops here.

Mr. Sisouk said that Hanoi has withdrawn more than 15,000 troops from the country since the beginning of this year.

That still leaves nearly 50,000 North Vietnamese stationed in Laos, Sisouk said.

Under the terms of the Laos peace agreement all foreign troops are to be withdrawn within 60 days of the installation of a new coalition government.

The new government was installed April 5; foreign troops are supposed to be out by June 4.

"We will be watching that date," said Sisouk. "To me, the important thing for the success or failure of the peace agreement is the withdrawal of the North Vietnamese."

Sisouk has long been associated with the right wing in Laos. He served as acting defense minister of the Royal Laotian Government until the new Provisional Government of National Union was formed.

Ministries in this new government have been divided equally between members of the old rightist-dominated administration and the Communist-led Pathet Lao. One of the most important positions to go to the rightists in the new coalition is the one Sisouk holds.

Sisouk said that one division of North Vietnamese troops had withdrawn from northern Laos in recent months and that three regiments had left the southern part of the country. He said that some of these troops have gone to South Vietnam but that most of them had been pulled back inside North Vietna's own borders, leaving behind a well-stocked "infrastructure" of base and supply depots.

He declined to predict what Hanoi would do with the troops it still has in Laos.

Like Sisouk, Western diplomats in Laos are assuming a wait-and-see attitude. They say that the North Vietnamese withdrawals that have occurred so far relate more to practical considerations than to the terms of the Laos peace agreement.

Since the halt in American bombing, Hanoi has been able to improve its lines of communication in Laos. It operates with greater mobility and does not need to station as many troops and military engineers there as it did in the past.

Since the signing of the Vietnam peace pact in 1973, little significant fighting has occurred in Laos.

But Western diplomats say that it would be unrealistic to expect North Vietnam to withdraw all of its troops within 60 days, as called for in the Laos peace agreement.

Sisouk said that if the North Vietnamese withdraw from Laos, the anti-Communist factions in Laos will find way) to get along with the Communist-led Pathet Lao.

Starting in June, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) will begin enforcing a rule designed to help consumers who buy merchandise costing more than $25 from traveling salesmen.

The rule will require all door-to-door contracts exceeding that amount to carry a notice that the buyer may cancel out within three days from the date of the agreement.

Purpose of the three-day "cooling-off" period is to provide the consumer with an opportunity to discuss his purchase with others, to reflect upon the provisions of the contract — including the price — and perhaps to do a little comparative shopping.

(The commission adopted this rule in October 1972, but did not establish an effective date at that time because the District of Columbia Circuit Court was considering the question of the commission's authority to promulgate concrete rules. The court recently decided favorably on that question).

The reason for the three-day rule, according to the FTC, is the substantial "frequency and number of complaints arising out of door-to-door sales. Those involved in legal-aid programs and consumer-protection activities were particularly vociferous in their condemnation of the practices of some door-to-door sellers."

Regional FTC offices reported the complaints were widespread, involving everything from vacuum cleaners to pots and pans. And the practices objected to across the nation included:

Deceptions by salesmen in getting inside the house. Consumer testimony indicated salesmen sometimes say they are conducting a survey or engaged in a brand identification or promotional programs to gain access to a home. Once inside, they begin the sales pitch.

High-pressure sales tactics and the nuisance created by the visit to the home by the uninvited salesman.

Misrepresentation of the quality, price, or characteristics of the product. In some cases the consumer does not even see the product before he is convinced to buy it, and therefore must take the word of the salesman as to its quality.

High prices for low-quality merchandise. Because the sale is made in the home, the consumer does not have the opportunity to shop comparatively before he makes the decision to buy.

Failure to include the three-day provision in door-to-door contracts after June could leave violators subject to a cease-and-desist order brought by the FTC, which would carry civil penalties.

A 'Hot' Railway Car Sidetracked

CHICAGO (UPI) — A special rail car built for hauling radioactive waste materials has been sidetracked for about a month in Fort Madison, Iowa, by the Santa Fe Railway in a controversy over how the material should be handled.

Santa Fe officials said the chief problem is that the railroad has never hauled radioactive burned out uranium fuel from nuclear power plants for recycling before "and we don't have the technical data to know how to handle it safely."

A spokesman for General Electric, which built the car for its nuclear fuelrecovery plant near Morris, Ill., said yesterday the issue is "a tempest in a teapot."

School Will Get Willkie Papers

RUSHVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Personal papers pertaining to Wendell L. Willkie's unsuccessful 1940 presidential try and several scrapbooks have been bequeathed to Indiana University in the will of Willkie's son, Philip H. Willkie, a Rushville banker and attorney who died last week.

Willkie's will, admitted to probate in Rush Circuit Court, left his father's papers to the state school. Willkie's mother, Mrs. Edith Wilk Willkie of New York, and his widow, Virginia, were named as co-executors of the will.

Trouble Is Down The Turnpike If Bad Driving Habits Return

By DAVID ANABLE
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK, N. Y. — As Americans return to their familiar highway haunts after the rigors of a gas-short winter, some highway experts warn that:

Too complete a resumption of old driving habits may lead to renewed gas lines.

The old habits also risk reversing immense gains made over the winter in traffic safety, as a result of lower speed limits. (January's highway fatality rate was the lowest in 10 years).

But, these sources emphasize, the exercise of only a little caution and common sense can easily avoid both these dangers.

Spokesmen for the American Automobile Association point out that there was a gas pinch last summer which reached a peak in June, even before the Arab embargo was thought about.

And already this year there have been warning signs. The director of New York State's Emergency Fuel Office has appealed to the public to continue its gas conservation measures after he handed over to throughway gas stations just under a million gallons of his emergency supplies because of increased car usage over the Easter weekend. "This bulk request has jeopardized the gasoline availability for the rest of the month for the entire state," he warned.

"If people will be concerned enough to think about taking it easy on the accelerator, it will help everyone take a vacation without (gas shortage) disruptions," the spokesman concludes.

One AAA spokesman says he "wouldn't be surprised" to see last year's shortages repeated this summer. But, he goes on, AAA experiments show that the average American motorist can make a simple 25 per cent gas saving by (1) keeping his engine well tuned; (2) driving steadily rather than aggressively.

A tune-up, according to the AAA tests, results in roughly a 10 per cent inprovement in gas use.

In addition, over a typical commuter route, an AAA test driver found that steady driving (no sudden starts or stops, no traffic weaving, no rushed acceleration, etc). actually used 44 per cent less gas than very aggressive driving over exactly the same route.

Conclusion: A modest improvement in driving habits could save at least 15 per cent of an average motorist's gas.

Add that 15 per cent to the earlier 10, and the result is the 25 per cent gain.

The same attitude saves lives.

Police and AAA spokesmen agree that Americans have, for the most part, observed the 55 mile an hour speed limit.

The National Safety Council (NSC) is convinced, from its research, that it is this speed limit rather than simply the reduced traffic volume which has dramatically cut road fatalities.

During the first two months of this year, highway fatalities were down from 7,560 to 5,680.

Taking a sample of 31 turnpikes across the country, the NSC discovered that while traffic volume was down by 13 per cent, fatalities dropped by a massive 67 per cent.

Conclusion: Accident severity is closely related to speed.

Sacramento Opts For Pedal Power

By BETTY WISHAM

SACRAMENTO — The City of Sacramento has decided to combat the energy crunch by adding five new vehicles to the motor pool.

How can that help?

The new additions are bicycles for city employees to use for errands and short business trips.

Since 1972, Sacramento has boasted an inner-city bikeway to encourage citizens to take to two-wheelers, but the city government's new bike fleet was not formed until recently.

City management analyst Greg Hatfield is credited with the idea after he had to make a rush trip over to the state Capitol from city hall. The distance is four blocks, and Hatfield says that by the time he checked out a car and found a parking place three blocks from the Capitol, he was late anyway. He would have made better time on a bicycle.

"I kept the bike idea to myself awhile," he says, "because I thought I might be laughed out of town." But his fears proved groundless. When he finally broached it, City Mgr. Richard Rathfon liked the idea.

Rathfon in his five years as city manager has gained a reputation for his enthusiastic support of ecology projects. During his administration, extensive new park lands and miniparks have been developed, bikeways and trails formed, and there has been renewed citizen interest in restoring the city's old Victorian homes and Old City Sacramento.

Of the bike fleet, he says: "I would think the bikes are a great idea, even if we didn't have an energy crisis. Why take a car three or four blocks to deliver something? We're lucky to have the city, county, and state buildings in a concentrated area. Our business district is 10-by-20 blocks and the bicycles just make good sense for short trips."

The three men's and two women's bicycles in the fleet are not new. They are reconditioned ones from the police department's unclaimed property division.

Howard Lark, the city's motor pool supervisior, who acquired responsibility for them says, "The bicycles are numbered, and I check them out with locks and chains. The time out and in is recorded, just as with the automobiles. They are stored in a room in back of city hall.

"The liability for those riding the bicycles is the same as for those driving a car. They must follow the state vehicle code — stop for stop signs, grant right-of-way to automobiles and pedestrians, stop for stoplights, and ride on the right side of the street.

Other cities which might decide to incorporate such a fleet should have no particular insurance problems, says city attorney Jim Jackson. "Most towns and cities have adequate coverage. Our workman's compensation pays expenses for the employee or someone he might cause injury to up to $100,000."

The bicycle fleet is an idea being checked by other public and private business. What better way to come to grips with the energy crisis? The spin-off benefits of fresh air, exercise, and a new view of the city cannot be overlooked, either.

REPORTER'S EXPERIENCE

Baring Thoughts Not Easy In First Encounter Group

By REBECCA LARSEN

The session was advertised in a weekly newspaper as a 12-hour workshop on sex, love and dreams — subjects that would probably appeal to almost anyone from ages 15 to 90.

I dialed the phone number in the ad and Paul Broadman, one of the workshop leaders, said he would be happy to have a reporter attend provided any story written was based on personal experience and not on questioning other participants about theirs.

So last weekend, with the same kind of feelings that envelop the patient sitting down in the dentist's chair, I dropped into my first and probably last encounter group.

On the surface, the encounter group business might seem out-of-date and almost dead, but apparently it's still booming in Marin County.

Broadman, a husky bearded Tamalpais Valley resident, makes his living by running several continuing weekly encounter groups, special weekend marathons like last Saturday's and by teaching his methods at several bay area colleges.

Joyce Gregg, teacher, homemaker and coleader of last Saturday's session at a San Rafael church, is hoping to carve out the same kind of career for herself.

One by one participants filtered into Saturday's session until they numbered seven men and six women.

Everyone plopped down on large cushions in a circle on the floor. Broadman told everyone to take off his shoes. We were to stick to first names and to try to refrain from finding out occupations, places of residence, or other identifying information.

Then each group member introduced himself and described his feelings at the start.

"I'm Leroy, and I'm feeling comfortable and expecting to have a good time."

"I'm Leah, and I'm scared, but I have an open head."

"I'm Evelyn, and I haven't tried encounter in a year, and I want to see what happens again."

It was a mixed bag, but most were in their late 30s. One or two had hip-type beads or hair, but there were conventional businessmen and homemakers too. Almost everyone was single or divorced.

Then Broadman started what he called the "games." Each one seemed designed to make group members say out loud the things they won't tell husbands, wives, best friends, mothers or fathers.

For example, six people sat far apart from one another in chairs scattered around the room. The six were asked to close their eyes. Each was told that another anonymous person would come up behind him and touch him lightly on the shoulder. The person in the chair was then to start talking out loud to this person about "whatever concerns you sexually."

Later we repeated the same exercise with the original six listeners getting their chance to talk out loud to an anonymous partner.

Back in the circle when the game was over, Broadman asked, "How many people would like to know who was listening to them?"

Leah and I said we didn't want to and were asked to tell why. I said it was because I would feel uncomfortable the rest of the day when in the company of my listening partner.

Leah argued that Broadman said in the beginning that no one would know their partners. Now he was changing the rules.

"But that's life, the rules are always changing," he replied with almost everyone else agreeing.

Finally he decided that listeners could reveal their identity to their talking partners if the partners wanted to know. But confidences were to be exchanged privately during coffee breaks so that Leah and I would not feel out of place.

The games got a little more hostile. Everyone was next asked to name whom he would like to see exiled from the group and why. It was like setting up a pecking order for chickens.

Joyce wanted Ralph and Paul thrown out.

Leroy wanted Rhonda thrown out.

Rhonda wanted Paul thrown out.

I wanted Harold thrown out, and he wanted me thrown out.

Evelyn wanted me thrown out.

A couple other people wanted Harold thrown out.

Then a few of us apologized to Harold.

There were also relaxation sessions. In one, the group with closed eyes listened to an ancient recording of Aldous Huxley's widow trying to get us to experience a beautiful vision in which we floated on the petals of our favorite flowers.

Everything seemed to peak with what Broadman called "instant encounter." He called out a name and that person stepped to the center of the room. Then someone else, whoever wished, called out another name. That person joined the one named by Broadman. The two were to communicate nonverbally which ranged from hugging to Indian wrestling.

Then Broadman urged all of us to throw ourselves into an embracing mass standing in the center of the room.

A few of us hung on the outside of the tangle of people. "Get in the center. Break in there," he yelled.

Some group members were hugging and kissing with extra enthusiasm.

Suddenly the encounter seemed to be taking a frightening direction which I had not expected. The door at the other end of the room seemed inviting but far away. Should I run or walk? Where were my shoes?

At that moment Broadman yelled, "Cut everybody, break it up, we don't want this to become an orgy."

Back on our cushions, Broadman lectured on keeping cool.

Some way or another, five more hours of games and discussions crawled by, the time occasionally seeming to pass in slow motion with something of the remoteness of watching a delicate operation performed on myself while under local anesthesia.

ENCOUNTER LEADERS — Joyce Gregg and Paul Broadman relax for a moment during last minute preparations for a workshop on sex, love and dreams. The two led the encounter group type session at a Marin County church last weekend.

There was something called "high school dance." The men lined up on one side of the room, and the women on the other. Everyone took a turn at walking to the other line and picking a partner. If the chosen one turned down the one who picked him, the chooser had to go back to his place.

This game demonstrated the kinds of competition going on among men and women, according to Broadman.

Then there was a session of lying on the floor and imagining with eyes closed what it would be like to be a woman if one were a man, and what it would be like to be a man if one were a woman.

At evening's end, 11 p.m., we were to personally say goodbye to each group member. I felt that I liked some of the people I was saying farewell to, but I hoped that I wouldn't see any of them again.

"I'm glad you had the courage to stay to the end," Broadman told me. "I think it was worth your while."

But in the parking lot, getting into my car as fast as I could, I wondered.

A Sausalito Council Flap On Flag Salute

By PAUL LIBERATORE

A Sausalito city councilman's refusal to salute the American flag has ignited indignant reaction from a fellow council member and other citizens.

The confrontation erupted Tuesday night after the Pledge of Allegiance, a custom that has opened council meetings in Sausalito for the past two years.

As she had done at each meeting since she was elected last month, councilman Violeta Autumn stood silently with her hands clasped at her waist while her four colleagues and members of the audience recited the pledge.

With the conclusion of the final phrase, "With liberty and justice for all," councilman Sally Stanford turned and demanded that Mrs. Autumn explain why she chose not to participate in the flag salute. "There is a moral issue here," Miss Stanford declared and was supported by a handful of vocal citizens sitting in a back row.

Mrs. Autumn, a native of Peru and a naturalized U.S. citizen, responded by saying that while she respects the rights of others to pledge their flag, she prefers not to participate in public rituals.

"I am by nature not a ritualistic person," she repeated yesterday, explaining that her decision contained no disrespect for the nation.

"When you become a citizen, you salute the flag," said Miss Stanford, owner of the Valhalla restaurant. "If you can't support that, then what in hell are you doing?"

Three citizens agreeing with Miss Stanford's viewpoint have fired off a sharply worded letter critical of Mrs. Autumn to city hall, local civic organizations and the news media.

"You have elected a person who supposedly has adopted this country as her own, but has no respect for what she calls a public ritual, of which she wants no part," it says. "We have enough disrespect in this country without an elected official flaunting hers in front of the city. If she does not believe in the ideals of America then she should resign from public service and return to her homeland," the missive concludes.

The letter is signed by Phyllis Robertson, Inez Hiscock and Robert Herr.

According to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, there is no legal provision for opening council sessions with the pledge. Whether a councilman or anyone else participates in the flag salute is entirely up to them, he said.

Mayor Evert H. Heynneman said he deplores Miss Stanford bringing the matter up in public, but that he has no intention of abandoning the flag salute unless a majority of the council wants the practice ended.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Balanced Diet Can Be Achieved Without High Cost Food Items

Mrs. M. M. R., a 72-year-old Maryland woman, writes: "My only activity is keeping my very small house in order. The price of beef is beyond my means as I live on Social Security. What foods should I eat each day to maintain a balanced diet and what are good substitutes for the meats I cannot afford?"

Beef, pork, and lamb are expensive because these animals grow slowly. Chicken and fish also contain considerable animal protein and are less expensive. But the real protein bargains are milk and eggs. Our reader need not worry about a balanced diet if she obtains the cheaper kinds of meat along with fish, milk, cheese, and eggs. Cerals and beans are also good sources of proteins.

QUANTITY ALSO plans a role. Most of us could eat smaller amounts of meat and still be within the limitations of good nutrition. Cheaper cuts of beef and lamb make tasty and nutritious stews. Many inexpensive soups contain pieces of meet or beef stock. This is mentioned because it is not necessary to eat large amounts of beef, lamb, or pork daily. Actually, Seventh-Day Adventists, who eat mainly milk products and vegetables, are as healthy as any group of Americans.

Most of us can obtain all the nutrients we need by eating a varied diet. There is a wide selection of foods in the so-called list of "basic four" categories of food: 1. fruits and vegetables, 2. bread and cereals, 3. meats as mentioned in this article, and 4. dairy products. Theoretically, a person should eat an item from each of these groups every day. No harm will come if one group is missed once or twice a week.

TRY, IF POSSIBLE, to limit the amount of carbohydrates and sugars. Examples include snacks, candy, sugar-coated cereals, soft drinks, jams, pastries, cookies, and cakes, etc. Many people find that when they cut down on carbohydrates, they automatically and unconsciously limit their protein and fat intake. But they still receive an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals.

This aspect is mentioned because many carbohydrates and sugars are expensive and most of them represent items of little nutritional value.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

BRAIN ARTERIES

B. L. writes: Is cerebral arteriosclerosis the same as a stroke?

REPLY

Not exactly. Many individuals who have a stroke also have cerebral arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries of the brain). When one of these vessels becomes plugged (thrombosis) or ruptures (hemorrhage) the individual is said to have a stroke. Thirty per cent of strokes originate in the arteries leading to the brain, usually outside the skull.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Help For Energy Crisis Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee has removed a major roadblock to legislative passage of an energy crisis bill supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, yesterday endorsed the measure (AB1575) which has languished in the Finance Committee since late February without coming to a vote.

The bill by Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, is aimed at curbing wasteful use of energy and streamlining power plant siting procedures. It would create a five-member state commission to deal with energy problems and impose an estimated $16 million-a-year tax on electricity users to finance energy research and development.

Collier had voiced strong criticism of the measure. As late as Tuesday evening, he told a newsman it was a "no progress" bill.

But Collier said in an interview yesterday he would vote for the bill and expected it to clear his committee and go to the Senate floor Monday.

Collier's endorsement of the bill came after a meeting with Warren and Donald G. Livingston, a Reagan aide.

Collier said they agreed to "improve" the bill by amending it before it goes to a vote in his committee.

An aide to Warren said the changes were "generally very technical fiscal amendments."

During the lengthy period the bill was in the finance committee, Warren put off action on it to work out a compromise with Reagan.

BIKE BILLS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate President pro tem James R. Mills has proposed three measures designed to end what he called the "patchwork" development of statewide bicycle facilities.

Mills, D-San Diego, yesterday said the bills would amend current bicycling programs he originally authored.

The bills would:

"Require projects funded by transportation sales tax monies to meet design standards developed by the California Department of Transportation."

"Allow gas tax monies earmarked for cibycle facilities to be allocated to cities and counties by a formula other than that based on population."

"Require local transportation agencies to determine bicycle facility priorities before allocating earmarked transportation sales tax monies for them."

DRUG PLANS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A measure to establish a "comprehensive" three-year drug prevention program at a selected California school district was defeated yesterday by the Senate.

The bill (AB2600) by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, would have provided $282,000 for the pilot program in grades kindergarten through 12.

Opponents of the measure charged the bill was written to give an advantage to a San Jose district in applying for the pilot program funds. The Senate granted permission to have the measure reconsidered again at a later date.

DEAF FUNDS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to increase funding of school programs for the deaf was proposed yesterday by Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Westminster.

Cory pointed out deaf programs are switching from lip reading to a combination of sign language and lip reading, necessitating use of new equipment and interpreters.

HOUSING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A "truth in housing" bill designed to assure potential home buyers of receiving more information about prospective property was introduced yesterday in the Senate.

Among the things brokers would have to provide would be information about zoning, assessed value, date of construction and limits on the liability of a seller in the event of substantial defects in the home.

The bill (SB2221) was submitted by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Housing and Urban Affairs.

PARKING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill permitting counties to charge local businessmen a $50 surcharge on each employe parking space to produce extra revenue for local mass transit systems was introduced yesterday in the Senate.

The measure (SB2223) by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, also would provide tax breaks for persons using car pools and allow car pools free access across toll bridges.

RESERVATIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill making hotels and motels financially liable if they do not honor guaranteed reservations was introduced yesterday by Sen. Alred H. Song, D-Monterey Park.

The measure also would require hotels and motels to tape record all telephone room reservations and turn over such records to persons whose reservations were not honored.

KNEE DEEP — In unfamiliar snow and far from the winter rains of Marin, these Tamalpais High School students paused to observe their snowy surroundings on a recent field trip to the Canadian Rockies. Cheral Crockett, Seth Ellner and Steve Jawetz (left to right), were among 13 students who took to the snowy slopes in search of flora and fauna for field research.

CONTEMPLATIVE MOMENT — Taking pause from gathering field notes and photographs, 13 Tamalpais High School students and their two teachers who recently traveled to the Canadian Rockies pause to observe the majestic beauty of the mountain range. The fog shrouded mountain's rocky face stands exposed above snowy slopes where the threat of avalanche looms as an ever-present danger.

A Look At Life In Canada's Wilds

By BILL ROBERTS

Observing many forms of wildlife, investigating kills by wolves and coyotes, viewing thousands of animal tracks, taking bacteria samplings, watching an avalanche, gathering specimens and recording many pages of field notes.

These and other activities combined to provide seven busy days for 13 Tamalpais High School biology students and two teachers who recently returned from a field trip to the Northern Canadian Rockies.

Tam Hi science teacher Frederick W. Hawkes organized the trip for students from his classes who are planning careers in biological sciences. Cost to each student was about $250. The only cost to the Tam district was to hire substitute teachers to replace Hawkes and his wife Eileen, a Redwood High School teacher, who accompanied the students.

The group flew to Calgary, Canada, where they rented station wagons and snow shoes in preparation for their week in the field. They spent three nights in a remote lodge and four nights in a government youth hostel.

They took more than 1,200 photographs, 15 reels of motion pictures, 500 pages of filed notes, 2½ hours of tape recordings and a variety of specimens including plants, animal skins, skeletal parts and eight plates of bacteria samplings, Hawkes said.

Because of heavy snows which made flight from predators difficult, the winter in the Northern Canadian Rockies was a good one for wolves, acording to Hawkes. As a result, his students were able to examine the evidence of five kills by wolf packs and another by coyotes.

Students and instructors snowshoed over beaver lakes and observed beaver lodges. They stalked Rocky Mountain sheep and moose, followed wolf trails and studied the animals' territorial markings. They also climbed to the snout of a glacier.

Although some of their observations were from great distances, the students learned wilderness techniques which allowed them to view and photograph animals from within a few feet, Hawkes said.

"The effort far exceeded my expectations, due in large part to the serious enthusiasm of the students whose only complaint was the limitation of time," Hawkes said.

UNSHAKEN MODEL — Exhibiting no uneasiness as a student photographer snaps pictures from a few feet away, this elk stands tall with his regal antlers reaching skyward. Although barely visible, telegraph wire is wrapped solidly around the animal's antlers. Snagged while running under sagging telegraph lines, the elk will soon give up the wire when he sheds his antlers in a routine annual event.

RAM'S PERCH — Standing majestically against the background of a cloudy sky, this Rocky Mountain ram was photographed by a Tamalpais High School student on a recent field trip to the Canadian Rockies. The animal's sturdy legs and sure feet enable it to climb the steep, rocky faces of the mountain range in search of food and shelter.

SEEKING COVER — In an attempt to gain partial concealment, Tamalpais High School student Doug Foris covered himself to the waist with snow before taking movies of nearby animals. Foris and 12 other students learned many wilderness tricks on a recent field trip to the Canadian Rockies, tricks which enabled them to photograph the wildlife of the high mountains from close distances.

INTENT EATERS — With heads to the ground, this pair of rams shows the familiar winter feeding pattern of Rocky Mountain animals as they nibble exposed grass in one of the few rocky areas not covered with snow. The sure-footed animals have little trouble traversing the rocky areas in search of food.

Threat Of 'Acid Rain' Renewed

The Christian Science Monitor News Service

LOS ANGELES — "Acid rain" is again becoming an environmental threat as communities scramble for fuel.

"Throughout the country, many municipalities have returned to using high-sulfur-content fuel oil due to diminished supplies of the 'safer' low-sulfur fuel," according to Wendell Schooling, chairman of the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control Board.

It is a highly dangerous change because the sulfur dioxide coming from exhaust stacks forms corrosive sulfuric acid in the air. If this acid is not neutralized by alkaline substances also present in the environment, the sulfuric acid falls to the land and waters as acid rain.

Acid rain saturates the soil and mixed with the underground water supply. It causes crop damage and decreased crop production through leaching of soil nutrients. It can ruin forests as well as exposed surfaces such as those of buildings. Outdoor art works already have been damaged and eroded by the acidity in Paris, London, Florence, and New York.

The danger of sulfuric acid is known. But communities and public utilities using the high-sulfur fuel say they are doing so out of desperation. And due to the lack of funds, most are not taking recommended safeguards to avoid the acidity threat.

The City of Glendale, subject to the rulings of the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control Board, is a case in point.

Three groups — the Los Angeles County Mechanical Department, the County University of Southern California Medical Center, and the City of Glendale — asked for and received variances from the strict Los Angeles control plan. (Two other communities, Burbank and Pasadena, have variance appeals pending before the board). So far, only Glendale has actually used its variance.

Schooling explains the variance by saying, "What would we do without street lights, sewer pumps, and the other energy-supplied goods and services that make a city work?" In hopes of minimizing the effect of it, though, his board ordered that residents in the immediate area of smokestacks be warned that cities granted variances accept any and all legal responsibility for lawsuits, and that 24-hour smokestack and ground monitoring be required.

'FOR SALE'

New Bidder Eyeing A's

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics moved within a half game of first place in the American League West, and maybe closer to new ownership.

Led by Sal Bando, who drove in five runs, the A's beat the Cleveland Indians 9-2 yesterday.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported today that negotiations are underway for sale of the baseball club to Marge Everett, operator of Hollywood Park race track. Charles Finley, who now owns the A's, has been advised by his doctors to sell his sports holdings because of two heart attacks.

"We have talked with Charlie Finley on many occasions," said Neil Papiano, a lawyer representing the Everett group.

Mrs. Everett said she is "very much interested in baseball. If Mr. Papiano can close a deal, we're ready."

Finley was not immediately available for comment.

Papiano called Mrs. Everett "a brilliant sportswoman and business person," adding that her "innovations at Hollywood Park are the talk of the racing industry."

"If her group bought the Oakland club, I'm sure she'd make it go in every way, including the box office," he said.

In yesterday's game, Bando supplied Oakland's hitting power by driving in five runs on a two-run homer off Cleveland starter Dick Tidrow, a bases-loaded double and a sacrifice.

Oakland starter Ken Holtzman scattered nine hits in eight innings for his first victory of the season against two defeats.

Cleveland manager Ken Aspromonte said his Indians showed poor base running, poor fielding and couldn't come up with "the clutch hit when we needed it."

What's more, he added, "everything that could go wrong, did. Every time there seemed to be a close call at first base or behind the plate, it seemed to go the other way."

SPRING TIME IN CHICAGO

Some Practice For Celtics

NBA East Champs Vs. Milwaukee

BOSTON (UPI) — The sign on the blackboard said: "Practice tomorrow at 11 a.m."

That seemed to sum things up for the Boston Celtics, who last night eliminated the defending champion New York Knickerbockers from contention in the National Basketball Association playoffs in a 105-94 decision that waxed from brutal to poetic.

It was the first time the Celtics had won the Eastern Division playoffs since 1969 but there was no time to savor the victory because the Milwaukee Bucks, with 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul Jabbar, loomed over the locker room like a spectre.

The two teams meet Sunday afternoon in Milwaukee to open the best-of-seven championship series.

"This will be a mess-around practice. We get one messaround practice for winning," said Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn. "Then we get down to business."

Boston led 52-45 at the end of the first half, with neither team able to control play for any length of time. The officials called 31 fouls in the first half, most of them under the boards, where elbows and hips were turned into nearly lethal weapons.

The defense on both sips was frantic and aggressive, especially in the first quarter when the two teams managed only 41 points between them.

"The game was won in the first half," said Boston's Don Chaney, who took control of the game in the second half, scoring 12 of his 19 points. "It was a real tough half and the Knicks were tired when they came out for the last half."

What are the Celtics going to do to contain the Bucks, a team which compiled the best record in the league?

"Don't ask. Give me a day to think about it," pleaded Heinsohn.

If Boston's volatile coach wasn't talking about it, most of his players were.

"This is just one step along the way," said captain John Havlicek, who turned in yet another outstanding performance, scoring 33 points, most of them in a second-half surge which broke the Knicks' back. "We really don't have time to enjoy this because we have another big obstacle staring us in the face."

Dave Cowens, who took time to visit the Knicks' dressing room before facing reporters, admitted he was already thinking about the Milwaukee series.

"I think it's going to be a matter of the turtle trying to catch the hare," he said. "The Bucks have never played a series against a running team. I'm going to try to get the big man (Abdul-Jabbar) outside, that's for sure."

"We're gonna let Dave (Cowens) go one on one with Jabbar and let him do his best. The rest of us are going to work on shutting the other guys off," said Paul Silas, who had 14 points.

A STARTING JOB

49ers' Spurrier Gets Good News

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Steve Spurrier has to be a happy young man today

Yesterday, he came to San Francisco and when the day was over, he had three pieces of good news—his knee is fine after post-season surgery, he signed a multi-year contract with the San Francisco 49ers and he will be the National Football League club's No. 1 quarterback in 1974.

In signing a new pact, terms of which were not released, Spurrier revealed he had been contacted by the Florida Sharks of the new World Football League but that at no time did he seriously consider jumping the 49ers.

He called his contract with the 49ers a good one and said that he looked forward to playing in 1974.

"I received a very fair offer from the 49ers," he said, "and I'm extremely happy with it."

San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan, who sat in on the signing, said Spurrier will be the man to lead the 49ers next season.

"Steve will be the No. 1 guy," said Nolan. "He's had success and experience and we got a good report on his progress after his knee surgery. I have confidence he will do well.

STEVE SPURRIER
Happy quarterback

"Steve and Joe (Reed) will each play in every pre-season game, but Steve will start all of them and probably play most of the last two in order to be ready to start the regular season."

Spurrier and Reed, who signed his 49er contract last week, split most of the 1973 season when the club fell apart. John Brodie, for most of his career San Francisco's No. 1 quarterback, retired after the final game last December.

$16 Million For NFL Franchise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Expansion and inflation, two concepts that typify modern America, will take another staggering step outward and upward as part of the National Football League's tribute to the country's bicentennial.

The NFL, which already has bloated from 12 teams to 26 since 1960, will expand further in 1976 with the definite addition of Tampa, Fla. At least one other city, and possibly more, will be selected later this year to join the burgeoning fraternity.

Those cities under consideration are Seattle, Phoenix, Honolulu and Memphis, all of whose bids were discussed at this week's NFL meeting.

The price of admission is a cool $16 million, almost double what the National League charged for its last group of expansion franchises just a few years ago and the largest in sport history.

But no one concerned with the Tampa bid so much as blinked an eye at the initiation fee. The only emotion they showed yesterday was relief at gaining the privilege to pay the price.

"I'm sure that the people who are bidding for the franchise have certainly evaluated the situation and know there will be a return on it," said Leonard Levy, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Task Force that has worked for six years to bring the NFL to Tampa.

"This is inflation now, we're paying more for everything we do."

Levy said that some 13 groups have expressed an interest in taking over the Tampa franchise. One of the strongest groups is headed by Harry T. Mangurian, whom Levy said "has been the most viable and active" force in bringing a team to tampa.

Bill Marcum, a member of the Mangurian group, said that money wouldn't be a factor if they won the bid.

"I don't think it's a stumbling block with our particular ownership group, but it might be a stumbling block to some others," said Marcum, who successfully promoted 12 NFL exhibition games in Tampa since 1968.

Marcum also pointed out that several NFL teams, such as the Philadelphia Eagles, recently were sold for more than $16 million.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said the league merely was rolling along with the times in regard to the record entrance price.

"Everything in sports is a lot of money," Rozelle said. "Franchises in the NFL have sold in excess of $16 million in recent years, and that would have to be a factor. And a number of other things have changed since the last franchises were available for $8.5 million.

"It becomes a question of value received."

Baseball, Golf Are Rained Out

Both Marin County Athletic League baseball games scheduled yesterday were rained out. San Rafael High School's contest at Drake has been postponed to next Wednesday at 3:30, while San Marin's encounter with Terra Linda at Albert's Field has not been rescheduled.

San Marin's MCAL golf match with Novato at Indian Valley, also rained out, has not been rescheduled.

Racing Correction On 16 Auto Racers

In a Sears Point International Raceway story appearing Tuesday, 16 Marin County race car drivers were erroneously reported as motorcyclists scheduled to race Sunday on the Sonoma County track. The drivers listed Tuesday participated in last Sunday's Northern Pacific Division national road racing event.

The 16 were: Stuart Fisher, Ron Southern, Bob Earl, Terry Visger, Carl Von Doymi, Dick Zibert, David France, Gerry Bruihl, Harold Kirberg, Harry Hersh, Jerry Slick, Dr. John Korn, Dick Raymond, Phil Krueger, Pat Casey, and Mario Gurdin.

Mended Bryant Opposes Seaver

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ron Bryant is scheduled to make his first start tomorrow night when the San Francisco Giants host the New York Mets.

Today, the Giants were to make up yesterday's rainout with visiting Montreal.

The Giants meet the Mets again Saturday. The series ends with a doubleheader Sunday.

Bryant, who suffered an injury to his right side in a swimming pool accident at Palm Springs during spring training, will be opposed by Tom Seaver, the man who beat him out for 1973 Cy Young Award honors.

While Bryant has been mending, Seaver has been taking his lumps on the playing field. Seaver, 19-10 last year, is 0-2 this year with an unbelievable 6.12 earned run average.

Seaver is 10-4 lifetime against the Giants and 4-3 against them in Candlestick Park. Bryant is 5-0 lifetime against the Mets with three of the victories coming in 1973 when he won 24 games.

Willie Mays, now a coach with the Mets, will be in uniform for his first local appearance as an inactive player during the weekend. Mays, who was a Giant for all but two seasons of his big league career, worked with the Mets during spring training and will be suiting up for the first time in the regular season.

Regazzoni Leads Race Car Drivers

MADRID (UPI) — Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland was favored today to increase his lead in the Grand Prix driver standings when 25 Formula One cars roar away from the starting grid Sunday in the Spanish GP.

Regazzoni leads all drivers with 10 points, but the field is so bunched that only two points separates the first and sixth place wheelmen after three Grand Prix races this year.

SHARING A LIGHTER MOMENT

Agitate, winner of the California Derby Saturday at Golden Gate Fields in Albany, and co-owner Paula Kent Meehan shared a horse laugh yesterday in Inglewood. Trainer Jimmy Hernandez held Agitate's rein in Inglewood. The Albany win plus Agitate's overall performance, has placed the horse as an odds-on favorite for the Kentucky Derby May 4. The horse and party leave for Churchill Downs tomorrow.

AT NFL MEETING TODAY

Owners Approve Sudden Death Overtime

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Football League owners today approved sudden death overtime for all regular season games that end in ties and also approved several rules aimed at de-emphasizing the kicking game.

The owners, ending a three-day meeting, said that sudden death—which until now had been used only in playoff games—would be in effect for the 1974 season. However, it will be limited to a single 15-minute period in exhibition and regular season games, and if the score remains tied, that's the way it will end.

The changes in the kicking rules, brought about by frequent criticism that soccer-style field goal kickers had become too important, will move the goal posts from the goal line to the end line as is now the case in college games, and will require that missed field goals from beyond the 20-yard line are returned to the line of scrimmage.

In addition, the NFL said that kickoffs now would be from the 35-yard line instead of the 40.

Also, on punts and field goal attempts, no one on the kicking team will be permitted to cross the line of scrimmage until the ball actually is kicked, that rule is being instituted in an effort to promote kick returns.

In addition, other new rules passed for 1974 will limit the bump-and-run pass defense, and reduce the penalty for offensive holding within three yards of the line of scrimmage to only 10 yards instead of 15.

Pirates Show Some Spark

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The Pittsburgh Pirates may be on the way toward solving their problems, but it looks as if the New York Mets' troubles are just beginning.

The Pirates and the Mets, the co-favorites to fight it out for the National League East pennant, have been looking more like Little Leaguers during the first weeks of the season as they've struggled to remain competitive in their division.

But the Pirates, at least, are beginning to show signs that they are on the rise. The Pirates, losers of 10 of their first 12 games, made it two victories in a row last night when they used their favorite weapon—the home run —to defeat the Atlanta Braves 5-3.

The Pirates unloaded three homers in downing the Braves with Manny Sanguillen and Willie Stargell each contributing a two-run shot and Richie Hebner adding a solo blast.

Pittsburgh also got some good pitching from right-hander Dock Ellis, who allowed five hits in six innings to record his first win. The Pirates have not been getting much pitching thus far but Ellis' performance was encouraging.

The Mets, on the other hand, continued to plunge deeper into the East Division cellar as they lost to the San Diego Padres 4-3. The defeat was the Mets' 10th in their last 11 games— their second in a row to the Padres—and they now have won only three times in 14 games.

What's more, the most difficult part of their Western road trip is yet to come. After a game tonight with San Diego, they go to San Francisco for four games, then to Los Angeles for three.

Once again it was a combination of lack of hitting and poor relief pitching that deserted the Mets Wednesday night. The team, batting only .244, managed only five hits and reliever Bob Apodaca fell apart in the ninth inning as the Padres pushed across the winning run.

Derrell Thomas started the rally with a one-out double and, after a pair of walks, the Padres pushed across the winning run on Nate Colbert's check swing grounder to second base.

Colbert and Dave Winfield also helped the Padres' cause with early homers while Wayne Garrett had a two-run shot for the Mets.

In other National League games, Houston whipped St. Louis 9-4, Cincinnati edged Chicago 1-0 and Los Angeles topped Philadelphia 6-1. Montreal at San Francisco was postponed by rain.

Dodgers 6, Phillies 1

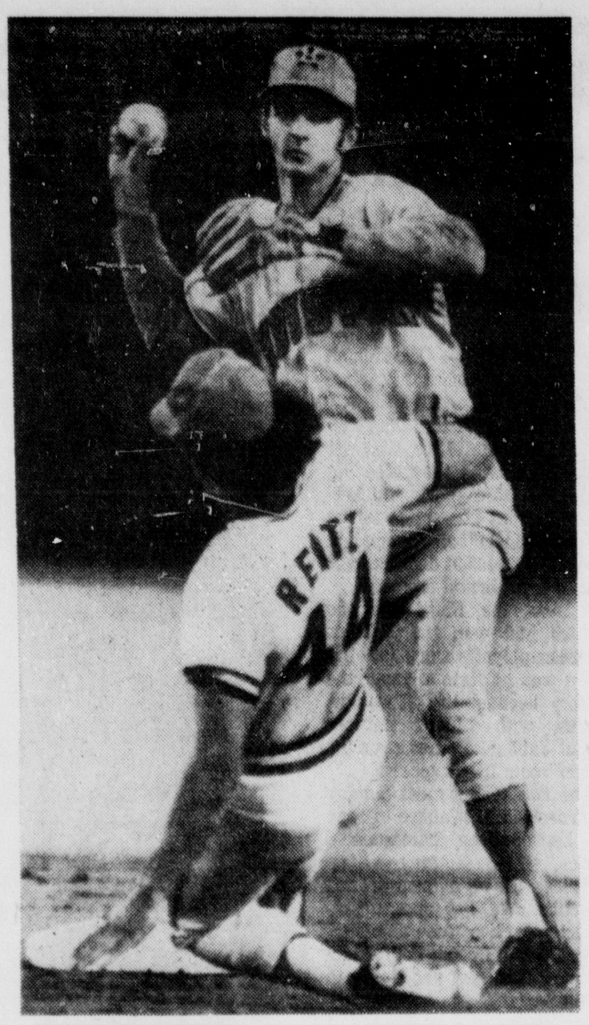
Jim Wynn drove in two runs with a single and his seventh homer and Don Sutton tossed a seven-hitter to lead the Dodgers past the Phillies. Willie Crawford also chipped in with a tworun triple as Los Angeles bested Jim Lonborg.

Astros 9, Cardinals 4

Tommy Helms collected four hits and drove in four runs to spark the Astros' triumph. Winning pitcher Dave Roberts also chipped in with a two-run homer as Houston collected 11 hits off five pitchers. Reggie Smith drove in three runs for the Cardinals, one coming on his third homer of the year.

Reds 1, Cubs 0

George Foster walked with the bases loaded and two out in the last of the ninth to force home the winning run in the Reds' victory. Bill Bonham, who struck out nine in a route-going performance, issued the decisive walk and took his third loss in four decisions. Jack Billingham allowed five hits in going the route for his third win in four decisions.



CRASH AT SECOND — St. Louis Cardinal runner Ken Reitz slid hard into second base and shortstop Roger Metzger last night in St. Louis. Metzger had tagged the bag and was attempting a doubleplay relay throw to first. However, the Houston shortstop was upended by Reitz before he could make the second-inning throw. (UPI Telephoto)

LITTLE LEAGUE

A Weekend Of Openers

By RON LENT

It's the end of the beginning.

Marin County Little Leagues open throughout April. It is an exciting period laden with parades, speeches and team introductions. The anxious players and proud parents will be enjoying this over the weekend.

Marinwood-Lucas Valley debuted April 6 and was followed by San Geronimo Valley April 13. Ten other Little Leagues opened last weekend.

The five remaining Marin leagues start Saturday and Sunday. Tiburon Peninsula, Twin Cities, Strawberry and Gallinas Valley begin Saturday. Sausalito starts Sunday.

Twin Cities trots out 311 boys from 24 teams (10 majors, 10 minors, four farm.) They will participate in a parade starting at 9 a.m. in the Corte Madera shopping center. They will march to Joe Wagner Field in Larkspur for opening ceremonies. The team introductions begin around 9:30 a.m. followed by the Little League pledge and sponsors' awards presentations.

League president Don Fillpot announced that four games will be played starting at 10 a.m., 1, 3:30 and 6 p.m.

Gallinas Valley's 130 players will march from Civic Center to Castro Field starting at 10:30 a.m. At approximately 11:30, the five major and six minor teams will be introduced. Pistol Pete Is Perturbed

Combined AP & UPI

PITTSBURGH — Pistol Pete Maravich is a straight shooter, his attorney said, and that's why the Atlanta Hawks star is perturbed because he was not informed of a deal to send him to New Orleans, an expansion team in the National Basketball Association.

"Pete is very distressed — and so are we — that he was not told beforehand about the switch," attorney Lester Zittrain said. "We thought a meeting we had with Hawks officials April 15 about Pete's case was successful and would clear the air."

The attorney said when the Hawks began losing last fall, Maravich was made the "scapegoat" by the Hawks' front office. Maravich and coach Cotton Fitzsimmons had words in Houston and the player was fined $1,000 and suspended for two days. "Pete kept quiet during that time," he said. Zittrain said he read in an article last Friday that Maravich was going to New Orleans after his contractual issues had been settled with the Hawks.

ANAHEIM — Wide receiver Dave Williams, a seven-year National Football League veteran from the University of Washington, yesterday signed a contract with the Southern California Sun of the new World Football Leauge.

NEW YORK — The World Football League's New York stars dipped into the National Football League for three more players today, announcing the signing of defensive linemen Carter Campbell, Gerry Philbin and Lloyd Voss.

CINCINNATI — The Cincinnati Bengals went into U.S. District Court again today — this time seeking to postpone an upcoming hearing and to extend a temporary restraining order that forbids the new World Football League from signing any Bengal player under contract.

U.S. district judge David Porter did not act on either motion and said he would be ready for the hearing Monday afternoon as previously scheduled.

Gordon Selected By North Stars

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Jack Gordon, who coached the Minnesota North Stars through their best three seasons before resigning last November, was appointed general manager of the club today.

The 45-year-old veteran hockey player and coach was named to replace Wren Blair, 48, who was fired Friday after a season in which the North Stars finished seventh in the eight-team expansion division.

Blair had been general manager since the club was organized in 1967.

When Gordon resigned, he gave poor health and "pressures of the job" as the reasons, but it was believed this was a diplomatic way of bowing out after disagreements with Blair over how to run the club. Gordon remained with the club as a scout after resigning.

Blair had two years remaining on a three-year contract when he was fired and the club said it would pay him for the balance of his contract.

Parker MacDonald succeeded Gordon as coach last November.

Walter Bush Jr., North Stars president, said last Friday "any decision on coaching (in the future) will be made by me and the new general manager."

WHA Saints Furor Goes Up In Smoke

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Minnesota Fighting Saints, it turns out, are not the only force hampering the Houston Aeros' battle for a World Hockey Association championship.

Smoking in the poorly ventilated Sam Houston Coliseum has the local team gasping for a new city ordinance.

"Smoke builds up until by the end of the game it is a serious problem," Aeros' president Jim Smith told the City Council yesterday.

By a vote of 5-2, the council decided to aid the hockey players. But a final decision will have to be made in a special council session Monday, just hours before the Aeros and Saints face off for the fifth game of their Western Division playoff.

The Saints lead 2-1.

Councilman and Aeros' fan James McConn vigorously opposed the ordinance.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ralph Goldston, a veteran of 13 pro football seasons in the National Football League and Canada, yesterday was appointed coach of offensive backs and special teams by the Chicago Bears.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Nettles Comes Out Of Nowhere

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

We all knew —even before the season began—that Hank Aaron would quickly establish 1974 as "the year of the home run." What we didn't know was that Graig Nettles would come from out of nowhere to push the American League into the home run-hitting sweepstakes.

But there he is: Graig Nettles, steady, if not spectacular New York Yankee third baseman, boasting a league record-tying 10 home runs for the month of April—23 full games ahead of Roger Maris' season's record pace of 61 in 1961 and 16 ahead of Babe Ruth's 60 in 1927.

"I'm not losing any hair," laughed Nettles after tying Frank Robinson's American League homer record of 10 for the month of April in the Yankees' 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals yesterday "I don't feel any pressure at all. I'm the same modest hero I ever was."

Nettles, who leads both leagues in homers, slammed out No. 10 on a towering solo shot in the sixth inning that gave the Yankees a short-lived 3-2 lead. It was also his 21st run batted in. The Royals tied the score in their half of the inning only to see the Yanks come back to win it in the seventh on Roy White's wrong field double that scored Jim Mason.

Elsewhere in AL action, Texas downed Boston 3-1, Baltimore nipped California 4-3, Detroit mauled Minnesota 8-4, the Chicago White Sox drubbed Milwaukee 7-2 and Oakland pounded Cleveland 9-2.

Rangers 3, Red Sox 1

With two out in the seventh, the score tied at 1-1 and the Rangers' Jim Spencer at second with a double, Red Sox' Manager Darrell Johnson ordered Joe Lovitto, batting .160, walked intentionally to pitch to Lennie Randle, a .570 hitter. Randle blooped a high fly to shallow center which fell between Carl Yastrzemski and Juan Beniquez for a double as both runners scored.

Ferguson Jenkins picked up his fourth win in five decisions for the Rangers, now 9-6 atop the AL West.

Orioles 4 Angels 3

Al Bumbry doubled and scored in the third inning, then singled home another run in the fifth and Dave McNally went 8 1-3 innings to gain credit for his second win in three decisions for the Orioles this season.

Tigers 8 Twins 4

Two run triples by reserve catcher Jerry Moses and Aurelio Rodriguez sparked three-run rallies in the sixth and seventh innings to stake Tigers' ace Joe Coleman to his third victory.

White Sox 7 Brewers 2

Wilbur Wood tantalized the Brewers for six innings with his knuckleball and Terry Forster intimidated them with his fastball over the last three to boost the Chisox out of the AL West basement for the first time this season. For the usually durable Wood, it was only the second win in six outings thus far.

MANAGER TANNER SPEAKS OUT

To The Defense Of White Sox Star Allen

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dick Allen's three-year contract with the Chicago White Sox is the best in baseball. Good as it is, it doesn't match Larry Csonka's new one though. Csonka gets more money. Allen gets more knocks.

It's always a source of discomfort to Chuck Tanner, the White Sox manager, when anybody knocks Dick Allen, his $675,000 first baseman. They take pot shots at Allen for many different reasons—for not being there every day in spring training, for not always showing up at the ball park three hours before the game, and for not always being willing to sit down and make small talk.

Generally speaking, those who knock Dick Allen the most know him least.

Chuck Tanner probably knows Dick Allen as well as anyone in baseball. He knows him since he was a kid shooting baskets in junior high school and his affection for Dick Allen, as a human being as well as a ballplayer, is genuine.

Some people already are tying the White Sox' slow start in the American League West to a similar start by Dick Allen.

Chuck Tanner hears something like that and immediately wishes to point out some pertinent little details about both the White Sox and Dick Allen.

"Let's see," he said, studying the team's stats' sheet before last night's ball game with Milwaukee, "Allen is hitting .214, and leads our ball club in rbi's and bases on balls. They never give him anything good to him. I mean NEVER. Everytime he walks up there, they pitch to him like it's the seventh game of the World Series.

"He has hit six shots, just punished the baseball, but each one of these line drives was right at some infielder or outfielder. If those balls would've fallen in, he'd be hitting .270 or .280."

Chuck Tanner didn't have his ready calculator with him, otherwise he would've discovered that had those six shots of Allen's found some holes, he'd be hitting .321, not .270 or .280.

"Why should Dick Allen be singled out?" asked the White Sox manager. "Look at Amos Otis. He put in a full spring training; he's having trouble getting out of the gate; he's hitting .135, but you know he'll get straightened out and have a good year. Johnny Bench is another one. He has four rbi's as of today and he's hitting .217, but he's going to be in the All-Star Game. Look, Dick Allen could hit .190 all year and play for me.

"That business of him not being there for all of spring training is nonsense also. Frank Robinson had only seven official at bats in spring training for the California Angels, so what? He's still one of the greatest players in baseball. Mike Marshall said he had his own way of getting ready and wasn't going to do any running in spring training. The Dodgers told him 'you have a good track record, go ahead and do it your own way.'

"Listen, people simply don't know Dick Allen. He's like everybody else. He has two arms, two legs and he has a heart. He has feelings just like you and, me. He's a dedicated individual who stays in shape 12 months a year. People think he keeps to himself and is a loner. Maybe that's the way he is on the outside, but you ought to see him inside the clubhouse. He helps the young ballplayers. He has been instrumental in the improvement of Jorge Orta, our second baseman.

"Nobody's ever going to hurt Dick Allen as long as I'm manager," Chuck Tanner went on.

Swimmer Morrill's Good Times

Art Morrill of San Marin High School, returning to his team after a month-long absence, closed out the season in a splash of glory with three of the Marin County Athletic League's best swimming times of 1974.

Morrill recorded MCAL bests in the 200-yard individual medley (1:59.6), 100 butterfly (54.5) and 100 breaststroke (1:02.1) in his final two meets.

He is not entered in the league meet tomorrow and is not eligible for subsequent postseason meets, because he returned to the team after the entry deadline.

Dan Stewart of Terra Linda and San Rafael's Ken DeMont and Scott Hislop each swam one individual best and one relay best for the year. Stewart's 5:01.7 in the 500 freestyle and DeMont's 50.9 in the 100 free came in the year's final meet Tuesday.

Dual meet bests for 1974:

200 medley relay — Terra Linda (Steve Crow, Dan Stewart, Tom Olund, Mitch Young), 1:45.5; 200 free — Scott Hislop (San Rafael), 1:53.4; 200 IM — Art Morrill (San Marin), 1:59.6; 50 free — Bob Patocchi (Novato), 23.0; Diving — Kirk Schreil (San Marin), 226.02; 100 fly — Morrill, 54.5; 100 free — Ken DeMont (San Rafael), 50.9; 500 free — Stewart, 5:01.7; 100 back — Dick Atwood (Tamalpais), 57.9; 100 breast — Morrill, 1:02.1; 400 free relay — San Rafael (Hislop, Dan Peterson, Mike Keck, DeMont), 3:29.7.

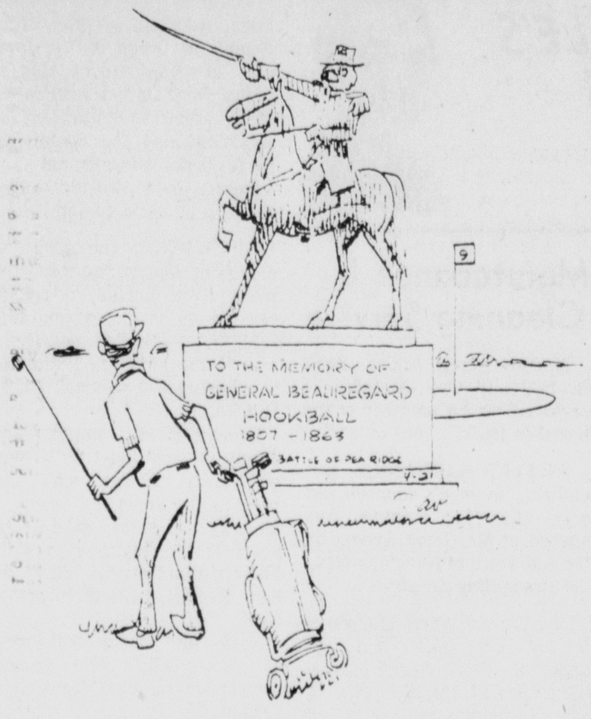
TREVINO TALKS GOLF



The Happy Hook

By LEE TREVINO

Golf is described as a game where, no matter where your ball is, something's always in the way. It may be a clump of trees, a hotdog stand or a statue of Old Tom Morris.

To get around 'em, the idea is to hit a happy hook — a shot that goes out there and turns left because you made it so. A hook can get you into more trouble and save you more misery than any shot I know. It all depends on whether you hit it accidentally or on purpose.

The best place to learn how to hit a hook, or draw, is on the practice tee. The ball has to spin counter-clockwise like a loco second-hand before it'll curve left.

A simple way to hook a ball is from a closed stance. That's with the right foot pulled three or four inches back of the left on the target line.

With the ball positioned inside the left heel, the clubhead will travel from inside the flight line to outside, and back in again. Keep the right elbow tucked in and stay behind the ball.

The draw also is valuable when you want to hold the ball straight against a left-to-right wind.

Redwood's Baseballers Rank High In Statistics

The first Marin County Athletic League baseball statistics for 1974 find Redwood High School ranking high in many categories, which is not surprising, since the Giants are leading the league.

Though Tamalpais' Dan Frazier is the top batter with an average of .500, Redwood has four of the top 10. The top doubles hitter, the top three home run hitters, the top three run-scorers and five of the top nine men in runs batted in also are Giants.

San Marin's John Bulleri and Novato's Mike Moroski lead the pitchers with perfect 0.00 earned run averages, but Redwood ace Eddie Andersen leads in victories (4-0), innings pitched (22), strikeouts (24) and complete games (two, tied) and has an 0.64 ERA.

Statistics from games scheduled yesterday are not included.

Wings Sign Watson

DETROIT (UPI) — Defenseman Bryan Watson, considered one of the most aggressive players in the National Hockey League, was signed to a multi-year contract yesterday by the Detroit Red Wings. The 31-year-old Watson was obtained from St. Louis in February in a six-man trade.

Mastin Has Top Track Clocking

Larry Mastin of Drake High School, a steadily improving distance runner, has strode into the forefront.

Mastin ran the fastest two-mile to date in Marin County Athletic League dual-meet competition, a 9:44.2 clocking last Thursday.

Mastin's was one of four bests recorded last week. San Marin's Jeff Metteer ran 1:59.3 in the 880-yard run, 51.1 in the 440 and 3:36.0 on the mile relay with Rob Clarke, John Guth and Brad Kenville.

The best performances:

120 HH — Terry Kom (San Marin), 15.3; 440 relay — San Marin (Dave Azevedo, Rob Clarke, John Guth, Jeff Keville), 45.7; 880 — Jeff Metteer (San Marin), 1:59.3; 100 — Steve Johnson (Terra Linda), 10.2; Mile — Ray Green (San Rafael), 4:33.8; 440 — Metteer, 51.1; 330 LH — Kom, 41.4; 200 — Johnson, 23.2; Two-mile — Larry Mastin (Drake), 9:44.2; Mile relay — San Marin (Clarke, Guth, Metteer, Brad Kenville), 3:36.0; Shot put — Darrell Elder (Redwood), 55-7; Discus — Elder, 179-8½; Long jump — David Harder (San Marin), 21-1; Pole vault — Stuart Shepherd (Redwood), 12-0; Triple jump — Harder 43-5; High jump — Steve Trobbe and Jack Hagler (both Redwood), tie, 6-1½.

Marin's Special Olympics: It's A Chance To Compete

For those questioning the significance of sports, note the sixth annual Marin County Special Olympics Saturday at Novato High School.

It has been argued that overly-commercialized athletics offer little redeeming social importance. Such is not the case with the Marin Special Olympics for retarded children and adults.

Their times and finishes are secondary to the Olympics' purposes, namely: physical fitness and a sense of accomplishment for the mentally retarded and handicapped.

More than 250 athletes, ages six and older, will compete in the 50, 220 and 440-yard dashes, 440 relay, standing long jump, softball throw, tumbling and swimming. Top finishers will enter the state meet June 28-30 at UCLA.

Fans can participate in a different sense — dollars. Those wishing to sponsor an athlete may do so by mailing $1 to the sponsoring Marin Aid To Retarded Children. Address is P.O. Box 55, San Rafael, 94902. Games' admission is free.

The day's activities begin at 9 a.m. with a colorful parade, opening ceremonies and a traditional lighting of the Olympic torch. Parade participants include the San Jose Junior High School band from Novato, the Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band, Marin Sheriff's Posse Color Guard, U.S. Marine Corps Color Guard from San Rafael, Novato Boy Scouts, and Shriners Clowns.

As part of the pageantry, one athlete will be selected to carry the Olympic torch and, after circling the field, light the Olympic flame of hope. The Olympic flag will be raised, and the athletes will recite the Olympic oath.

The first event starts at 10 a.m. The track and field portion will be held in the morning at Novato's football stadium. After a lunch recess about 12:30 p.m., action will shift to the school pool. Swimming starts at approximately 1 p.m. The 25-yard freestyle, 50 free, 25-yard backstroke and 100-yard relay are featured.

Additionally, gymnastics and free tumbling exercises will be held.

PREP NOTES

Tam Gals Can Cinch Title

By LEW CODDINGTON

Tamalpais High School's girls badminton team went to San Rafael this afternoon looking for the victory which would give it its first league championship in history.

Coach Betty Simontacchi's team carried an 8-1 Marin County Athletic League record into the season-ending match, and was assured of at least a tie for the title.

San Rafael is the chief challenger, with a 7-2 mark. Tam edged San Rafael in the first meeting, 3-2, and would have been home free were it not for an untimely loss at Drake last week.

Best news of all for Tam is that only one of the top seven players will graduate.

Anne Haxton, the undefeated first singles player, is a junior. So are the unbeaten first doubles players, Sue Stark and Lisa Forrest.

Second singles Nadine Nakahiro is the only senior. Third singles Jean Cady is a junior, as is second doubles Melinda Thompson, and second doubles partner Valery Uhl is only a sophomore.

HOBBLE — Steve Johnson, star sprinter for Terra Linda's championship-contending track and field team, was expected to be running late this week after recovering from a broken toe. He missed two meets.

CREW NOTES — Redwood High's crew will compete against Berkeley and St. Joseph's (Alameda) in an eight-oared race Saturday at 10 a.m. on the Oakland Estuary, with the finish at the Fruitvale Bridge.

If you wish, you can stick around for the following race, too. It will match California and Washington, two of the nation's most powerful college teams, in a big confrontation.

HOSPITALITY — Ray Green, the miler from San Rafael High, has been invited to run in the National Invitational Mile at San Jose State May 4.

HITTING — Marin baseball coaches predicted a decline in pitching prowess last week due to the rigors of playing three games because of rainouts. Bad pitchers would be making appearances and good pitchers would be rusty, they said, and they were right.

Redwood won games 5-2, 10-2 and 14-1. Marin Catholic won 12-2. San Marin won 11-1 and 10-2. Five Redwood batters — Jeff Vogel, Rob Long, Gary LaTorre, Phil Bacigalupi and Doug Hartman —went a combined 26-for-53 with 22 runs batted in for three games.

NIGHT OWL — Novato and Terra Linda have switched their baseball game from tomorrow afternoon to Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Albert Field, making it the first night MCAL game of the season.

NUMBER ONE — With the tennis season more or less at its halfway point, we find Terra Linda's Doug Carlisle with the best record of any regular No. 1 singles player, 5-1, not including today's matches.

Drake's Gene Lachelt is 4-1, Redwood's Mark Strasser 3-1, San Rafael's Mark Sabella 4-3, Marin Catholic's Frank Casella 3-2 and Tamalpais' Steve Livingston 3-3. Carlisle handed Lachelt his only loss, and suffered his own lone defeat to Redwood's Henry Jacobsen in Jacobsen's only match this season.

NUMBER FORE — Rick Anderson of Novato may claim to be the best of the league's golfers at the season's midpoint, having turned in sub-40 rounds for nine holes five times so far in six matches.

Bill Corbett, precocious freshman for San Rafael's league leaders, has broken the 40 barrier four times. Novato's Tom Lemore, Redwood's Mark Ohrenschall, Marin Catholic's Mark Bartolini and San Rafael's Greg Bryson have done it three times each.

Texas League's MVP

Hector Cruz of the St. Louis Cardinals was chosen most valuable player in the Texas League in 1973. Playing for Arkansas he led the league with 30 homers and 105 runs batted in. He hit .328, second best figure in the circuit.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Reading List For Investors

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. As a practicing attorney one year out of law school, I would like to increase my hazy knowledge of financial planning and investing techniques. If you would suggest some good reference material in this area I would appreciate it. — S.M.

A. My first suggestion is that you should start reading The Wall Street Journal and Barron's, if you do not already do so. The former is a daily; the latter a weekly publication.

Regular reading of these newspapers should increase your awareness of current trends in the world of finance, keep you up to date on various corporate and industry developments and give you a general sense of economic conditions. As a result of this input you should be better able to select and time your investments.

I am also enclosing a list of recommended books and periodicals which should be helpful in broadening your knowledge in this important field. Other interested column readers may receive this list by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and their request to the Successful Investing Column, care of this paper.

Q. I recently bought shares of Orange & Rockland Utilities (NYSE) because I needed security and income and I didn't have to pay brokerage commission. Would you favor additional purchases? — J.H.

A. O&R's recent 1.5 million share common stock offering will dilute per share earnings by 15 per cent this year. This, in effect, would narrow the margin of dividend coverage to a thin edge. Thus, the current $1.20 dividend rate, which hasn't been raised since 1969, will probably remain unchanged. However, a $10.4 million increase in electric rates recommended by the New York Public Service Commission in March should alleviate some of the pressure.

Hearings were opened in April on an additional $3.6 million rate rise. Interest expenses will be higher this year, reflecting a $30 million 9⅛ per cent bond offering in March. While these shares may be held for their generous 8.6 per cent yield, new money might be better utilized in an alternative investment.

Bank Guide For Students

SAN FRANCISCO — Bank of America has prepared a fact sheet on international money transfers to help California's 23,000 foreign students get money to and from home.

The sheet, "The Foreign Students Guide to International Money Transfers," outlines methods of sending and receiving foreign currency through U.S. and foreign banking systems.

The guide details, in chart form, five methods of foreign money transfer — cable remittance order, mail remittance order, foreign draft, international money order and travelers cheques, describing each type and explaining the delivery times and costs involved.

The guide is available at Bank of America offices.

Market Feels Punch Of Discount Rates

NEW YORK (UPI) — Inflation, climbing interest rates, and a boost in the Federal Reserve's discount rate battered stock prices on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was active.

This concern was heightened this week by the government's apparent determination to take a strong anti-inflationary stand. That posture almost certainly spells further rises in various interest rates and could forestall the hoped-for economic recovery in the second half of 1974.

Yesterday, the Federal Reserve underlined its tight money posture by raising the discount rate for seven member banks to a record 8 per cent. The discount rate is the interest member banks are charged to borrow money from the FED.

Despite higher bullion prices overseas, profit taking sent gold mining stocks sharply lower. ASA Ltd. fell 4 ⅛, Dome Mines 4, Campbell Red Lake 3 ⅝, Homestake Mining 3 ½.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange fell broadly in slow trading. Syntex, the volume leader, added ⅛ to 46 ¼ on 37,900 shares.

An 'Early' Opening For New Bank

A bank open for business at 6 a.m.?

Sounds impossible, but it will happen tomorrow for the grand opening of Bank of Marin's new Washington Square office in Petaluma, at McDowell Boulevard and East Washington Street. The unusual hour was selected in order to present a live broadcast by Ron Walters of Petaluma radio station KTOB.

Refreshments will be served throughout the day and daily during grand opening week through May 3. Manager is Eugene A. Grenache of Rohnert Park.

This is the ninth office for Bank of Marin and the second to open in Petaluma.

The first Petaluma office, located in downtown Petaluma at Washington and Kentucky Streets, celebrated its 10th anniversary last November.

FBI Ordered To Destroy Records

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI cannot store records of persons who were picked up but not actually arrested by police, an appeals court has ruled, ordering the criminal record of a California man destroyed.

A three judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals on Tuesday ordered the FBI to expunge its criminal files of all records of a man who was picked up by police but not charged nine years ago.

It ordered the criminal record destroyed but said his fingerprints could be retained in a non criminal file without any reference to how they were obtained.

The judges ruled that the FBI has "an obligation" to screen all information it receives from others before it is filed in the agency's massive records system.

It ordered the agency to destroy the records of Dale B. Menard who was detained for two days in Los Angeles in 1965 on suspicion of burglary but not charged.

He was routinely fingerprinted and the records were sent on the FBI.

Menard and his mother filed suit in Washington asking that the records be destroyed. A federal judge ruled only that the FBI could not desseminate his records. They appealed that decision.

"The FBI cannot take the position that it is a mere passive recipient of records received from others," the three judge appeals court ruled "when it in fact energizes those records by maintaining a system of criminal files and dessesminating the criminal records widely, acting in effect as a step-up transformer that puts into the system a capacity for both good and harm.

"It would be monstrous to suppose that all persons questioned by the police, many of them law-abiding citizens, could property be enshrined, for reasons of bureaucratic practice, in the FBI's criminal records."

The government has not said if it will appeal the decision to the Supreme Court.

Scout Will Receive His Eagle Rank

Charles E. Chiapellone, 18-year-old San Rafael High School senior, will receive the eagle rank in a court of honor to be held at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at Santa Venetia School.

Chiapellone, a member of Bay Scout Troop 39, has been a scout for seven years.

He has served as a patrol leader, assistant senior patrol leader and is now junior assistant scoutmaster. He is a member of the Order of the Arrow and has earned 22 merit badges.

For his eagle project, he led his troop in a tree planting program at Lake Nicasio.

Chiapellone participated in a troop trip to Washington, D.C. in 1972 and attended the jamboree in Idaho last summer.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Chiapellone of 2 Farm Road.

Albert Fears For Republicans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unless the Republican party "straightens itself up," the Democratic party will become dominant in the nation, and "I believe in a two-party sytem," House Speaker Carl Albert said Tuesday.

Discussing with reporters the latest Democratic victory in a special congressional election in a nominally Republican area — Michigan's 8th District — before swearing in J. Bob Traxler as a House member, Albert said:

"There is only one way to realistically appraise the win by Mr. Traxler. The Republican party is in bad shape, real bad shape. Unless it straightens itself up there will be only one party and I believe in a two party system in this country."

With Traxler seated, Democrats now hold 247 House seats to 187 for Republicans. There is one vacancy.

Crafty Use Of A Stepladder

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — Two men borrowed a stepladder at the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store Tuesday and used it to steal money from the store's safe, police said.

Store employees told police two men, posing as telephone repairmen, entered the Hanover shopping center store and borrowed the stepladder from the paint department, saying they needed it for repair work on the other side of the building.

Plan Told For Education Of Handicapped Children

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State schools chief Wilson Riles and Assemblyman Frank Lanterman today unveiled a $10 million program aimed at upgrading education for more than 500,000 handicapped children.

Riles' Master Plan for Special Education is contained in legislation to be introduced today by Lanterman. It would make special education programs for physically or mentally handicapped children mandatory in California school districts.

The bill appropriates $300,000 in fiscal 1974-75 to begin pilot programs and would escalate the state support to $10 million by the 1975-76 budget year.

Brown Charges Reagan 'Cuts' Never Happened

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. says Gov. Ronald Reagan's efforts to cut government spending have backfired. Brown, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said at UC Santa Barbara yesterday that Reagan "has spent seven years talking about his 'cut, squeeze and trim' approach to government spending. But the governor's methods have backfired, and had just the opposite results."

As an example, Brown said Reagan in 1967 imposed a freeze on construction of state office buildings "which is forcing the state to pay more than $21 million a year in rent to private landlords."

Speaking also to a Democratic group, Brown said Reagan's proposed budget reduces aid to education while oil companies make higher profits with no extra taxes.

Billboard Removal Is Lagging

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Spiraling inflation has slowed the state's effort to remove billboards from along California highways as dictated under the federal Highway Beautification Act, a state official said yesterday.

"We're a little behind," said Joe Barr, chief of outdoor advertising enforcement for the Department of Transportation. "We have had some problems working out compensation schedules."

Under the 1965 act, the state planned the removal of 160 billboards during fiscal year 1972-73 and approximately 1,000 boards each year until the 3,225 are dismantled. So far less than 600 billboards have been removed.

The $16 million program — of which three-quarters of the funds come from the federal government — allows the state to pay advertising for the cost of the billboards which are removed voluntarily or through condemnation.

Barr and Robert E. Petersen, supervising right-of-way agent for the Transportation Department, said because of increased prices of billboards the department had to revise compensation schedules for signs. This, according to officials, has put the state behind schedule.

To date 537 signs have been removed from along interstate highways and federal aid primary highways. Signs are being removed on lands not specifically zoned for industrial or commercial use, visible from the roadway and not within 1,000 feet of any commercial or industrial business.

Barr and Petersen said all of the signs in the state which are in violation of the act will be removed by 1976 or 1977.

Priorities for removal include hardship situations involving displays which are offered for removal by the owners; nonconforming outdoor advertising displays located adjacent to highways included in the state scenic highway system; and displays which are generally used for product advertising and located in unincorporated areas.

Petersen said officials are presently working on new compensation schedules, but he added even with the higher costs the program should not exceed the $16 million mark.

Astronauts Want More Good News

NEW YORK (UPI) — The press could motivate Americans by reporting more of the good side of the news, Skylab IV Astronauts told newspaper publishers attending a convention yesterday.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) convention ends today with an address by Treasury Secretary-designate William E. Simon and the election of new officers.

"All of us who communicate have a responsibility to tell what is going right as well as what is going wrong —to motivate the people in this country," said Lt. Col. Gerald P. Carr.

Civilian astronaut Edward G. Gibson added, "A lot of negative things are happening in this country, and we were glad to be part of the positive things."

Carr, Gibson and the other Skylab IV astronaut, Col. William R. Pogue, gave a film presentation of their 84 days in space and afterward answered delegates' questions.

All three said their sensitivity to people had been greatly increased by their experiences in space. Pogue said he was more aware of himself as a human with emotional needs.

"I came to the decision that man is a spiritual being with a soul," he said.

The astronauts agreed that the United States is "very definitely" leading Russia in space because Russian crews have very limited control of their spacecraft. The gap narrows, they said, when it comes to unmanned space flights.

"The joint space project with the Russians in 1975 will open the door for cooperation between the two countries in a technical sense as well as a political sense," Gibson said.

"It's a chink in the armor," Carr said. "Maybe we will learn to understand each other."

TELEVISION REVIEW

Broadcasters And Cable TV Companies Clashing

NEW YORK (AP) — The sound of clashing claims is rising these days because of pay TV, the system by which cable-TV subscribers pay extra to see movies and programs commercial TV doesn't offer.

The combatants are the National Cable Television Association and the National Association of Broadcasters. The battleground is what the NAB calls the threat of "siphoning" by the struggling TV industry.

The NAB, representing 531 TV stations and the three networks, describes siphoning as "the removal of popular programming, principally movies and sports, from free commercial TV to pay cable television."

It claims if steps aren't taken, pay TV may someday be able to outbid commercial TV for major attractions and viewers either will have to pay for those shows or do without. "Free" TV, of course, only applies when you don't buy the sponsor's product.

The NCTA, representing half the nation's 3,000 cable-TV operators, calls the siphoning charge hogwash. It says it only wants federal rules eased enough to let pay TV try to prove itself in the marketplace.

The battle basically centers on two Federal Communications Commission rules that cable-TV interests would like liberalized in varying degrees. The NAB says it wants those left alone.

One rule bars pay TV from showing movies that have been in theatrical release less than two years, and only allows once-a-month showings of movies 10 years old or older.

The other prohibits pay cable from showing sports that have been on commercial TV the previous three years.

Ralph M. Baruch, head of NCTA's pay cable committee, says what his group specifically asks of the FCC is a three-year test suspension of its pay-TV rules, but with one important caveat.

That, he said, would be "the assurance that nothing which is now presented on conventional television could be diverted to pay cable."

Baruch, president of Viacom, Inc., a TV syndication firm that says it operates 110 cable-TV systems, said under the proposal the FCC would "monitor what happens to various attractions.

"Wherever it found these procedures weren't fulfilling the public interest, it could step in at any time and change them."

"We don't buy the test period idea," says Robert Resor, the NAB's chief "free television" campaigner. Even with the restrictions Baruch proposes, he says, "we feel that the process, once started, would be irreversible."

How many pay TV systems are there now? The FCC says it has no figures, but the NCTA estimates there are approximately 45 which serve a total of 55,000 subscribers.

What's the potential for pay TV? A recent study paints a rosy picture. It says there could be pay TV in 30 per cent of a projected 83.3 million U.S. homes just 11 years from now.

How the NCTA and NAB feel about that study is the only thing they agree on.

Work On Two Tahoe Casinos Is Blocked

CARSON CITY (AP) — The Nevada Supreme Court has blocked initial work on two multi-million dollar casinos planned for the south shore of Lake Tahoe, a spokesman said today.

Justice John Mowbray said the court issued an order restraining developers from grading for the proposed Tahoe Palace and Hotel Oliver in the Stateline, Nev., area.

Douglas County, whose borders encompass the area, had issued permits effective May 1 for grading work despite denial of plans for the clubs by the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency.

The supreme court's one-page order also restrains Douglas County from issuing any further construction permits that might violate TRPA ordinances. The order is expected to remain in force until at least mid-June.

The high court's action marks the latest development in a legal hassle between Douglas County and the TRPA over proposed developments along the icy, clear mountain lake.

The TRPA has rejected plans for the purposed $40 million Tahoe Palace and $48 million Hotal Oliver, partly on grounds no adequate road system existed to handle increased traffic in the popular resort area.

Douglas County has proposed a loop road system in efforts to ease traffic problems in the already congested area but no timetable or construction cost has been outlined.

TRPA members have also questioned whether South Lake Tahoe authorities, whose community borders Stateline, were in full agreement with the bypass plans. The loop road requires connections with California-side roads to become operational.

The supreme court order stemmed from Atty. Gen. Robert List's request for a writ of prohibition to block both casino and road construction until the TRPA gives its approval.

List's petition also asked the high court to require Douglas County to pay its share of support funds to the TRPA. Douglas County commissioners have voted to refuse funds to the TRPA until it's determined in court whether the TRPA is constitutional.

The supreme court ordered List, Douglas County commissioners and developers Ted Jennings and Oliver Kahle to submit written arguments by May 24. Formal arguments will be aired before the panel on June 11.

Old Uranium Mill Sites Are Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administrator Russell E. Train of the Environmental Protection Agency says legislation will probably be needed to make abandoned uranium mill sites in seven western states safe for public use.

Train made the statement yesterday in a letter advising Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., that EPA and the Atomic Energy Commission will begin a study of the sites next month.

"Our preliminary view is that legislation will eventually be required to return the abandoned sites to conditions which will allow unrestricted use by the public," Train told the New Mexico Republican.

Concern has been expressed about the spread of radioactive wastes from the abandoned sites in Utah, Arizona, Wyoming, Colorado, Oregon, Texas and New Mexico.

The greatest fears have been voiced in Utah, where one abandoned site lies in the suburbs of Salt Lake City and from which radioactive dusts are picked up by the wind.

Two of the largest sites are near Grants, N.M., where almost four million tons of uranium waste are exposed to the wind.

Train said the first phase of the study to determine the potential hazards of the wastes is expected to be completed in the summer.

He said the second phase would be to determine what steps could be taken and how much it will cost to remove or stablize the sites.

St. Bernard's Attack Is Fatal

ISLIP, N.Y. (UPI) — A 150-pound St. Bernard attacked and killed a 6-year-old Long Island boy yesterday as the child was playing in the backyard of a neighbor.

The neighbor screamed in horror when she saw the animal biting the boy, Lawrence Calemmo, on the face, neck and chest and ran into the house for a shotgun. She killed the dog with two blasts.

The child was taken to a hospital, but died en route. Police said they did not know why the animal suddenly attacked the child.

Maritime Academy Sets Exam Date

Applications for admission to the California Maritime Academy in Vallejo are still being accepted for the class entering in August, officials said.

A two-part entrance examination is scheduled for May 4 for those applicants who wish to take the academy examination instead of the Scholastic Aptitude Test, according to the registrar, Maureen Browning. Further information is available at the academy.

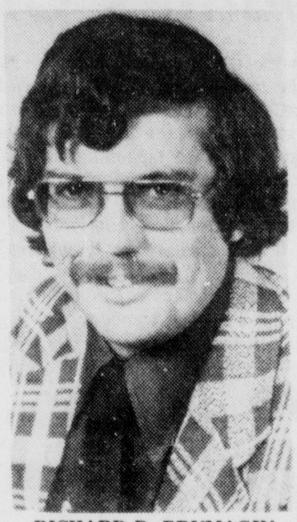
New 'Y' Director Views Future

By PAUL CANE

Richard D. Brumagin has a vision.

The new executive director of the Marin County Young Mens' Christian Association sees a new facility for the YMCA within five years — a building with a swimming pool, handball courts, gym facilities, locker rooms and meeting area. A recreational center to serve families all over Marin.

Brumagin, 26, takes over his new position May 15, succeeding James K. Looney, who resigned in January to take a southern California YMCA directorship. The new Marin chief was chosen from about 60 applicants for the job.



RICHARD D. BRUMAGIN
New YMCA director

Brumagin is a young man whose life thus far has been constantly involved with YMCA work — first as a youth participant in "Y" programs in his home town of McCook, Neb., and later as a part-time recreational aide in St. Louis. After graduation from George Williams College in Chicago, he took a YMCA job as senior program director in Culver City, Los Angeles County, the job he left to come to Marin County.

After so many years of contact with YMCA programs, Brumagin is convinced that they work wonders for a community's youth, and that the San Rafael program has the makings of being the best he's ever seen.

"The 'Y' here has a lot of potential for the future — it's just fantastic. The whole Marin County area has unlimited possibilities for youth, and directors of the 'Y' are receptive to progressive, action-oriented ideas to help young people," he said.

One of these progressive ideas is the proposed full-facility gymnasium, an idea initiated by Brumagin's predecessor. The new gym would be a great improvement over the YMCAs current layout, a 3.5-acre plot at 241 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael, with outdoor tennis, basketball and volleyball courts. "You can't really call our current setup a facility," lamented Cheryl Montez, the acting executive director. Constructing a brand-new full-facility gym, however, could cost as much as $3 million, Brumagin said.

Raising money to support the new construction, expected to begin in 1978, will be a big challenge, Brumagin said, but he believes that his most important task is "to bring the 'y' into the community."

To do that, he said he plans to undertake a public relations campaign to correct the stereotype of the YMCA as a place for childrens' recreation only. While it's true that many programs are directed at young people, he said, "the YMCA can be a great organization to bring families together" in recreational activities. "YMCA programs should expand to include all aspects of family programming," he said, "from family swimming to an expanded family camping trip.

"The day we feel that one of our programs doesn't bolster family structure," Brumagin said, "that's the day that the program will no longer be a part of the Marin YMCA."

Although not married himself, Brumagin does have a 15-year-old foster son, Ricky. The two will live in an apartment in San Anselmo beginning May 12.
